Berlin telegrams dwell on the immense German interest in southeastern Siberia. They say that many German merchants, the numerous German employes and the immense stores of merchandise belonging to Germans in that territory will compel Germany to co-operate with Russia in resisting the Chinese.

Li Hung Chang Proceeds North.

HONG-KONG, Wednesday, July 18 .- Li Hung Chang and his suite arrived here yesterday evening and landed this morning. The Viceroy was received with a salute of seventeen guns and, with a guard of honor from the Weish Fusiliers and a band, proceeded to the government house where he was received by the Governor, Sir Henry A. Blake, Generals Gazelee, Badrow and | aloft the prestige of the Italian army and other officials. Li Hung Chang was extremely reticent. He stated that he had received definite news that the ministers and foreigners at Peking, with the exception of Baron Von Ketteler, the German minister, were safe July 8. The Imperial edict recalling him to Peking, the Viceroy said, was due to the Empress and Emperor and not to Prince Tuan.

Governor Blake exerted all possible power to induce Li Hung Chang to remain in Canton, but the Chinese Viceroy proceeded, ostensibly for Shanghai. The Governor of Canton is regarded as an exceptionally weak official, and the natives fear he will never succeed in maintaining order. Transports with a portion of the Bengal Lancers, a native field hospital and Generals Gazelce and Barrow, have proceeded to Taku. The deck protected cruiser Dido has gone to Woo-Sung.

German Press Indorses His Attitude-Anxiety About the Troops.

BERLIN, July 19.-The Berliner Post this evening contains an article, evidently inspired, giving the views of the German Office regarding the withdrawal Chinese minister in Berlin of to use the telegraph for secret messages. The article admits that the step is unprecedented, but declares that it was rendered necessary by "abnormal relations between Germany and China." "The regular Chinese troops," the article says, "are in the field against the German troops. It also remains unknown whether the government from which the Chinese minister was accredited still exists. Since the status in China is not absolutely clear, and since the news given out by the Chinese minister has not always been confirmed by the facts, it is impossible to permit him to communicate freely with his government under the fiction that there is

The Foreign Office does not believe the statement telegraphed to an American paper that the foreign legationers are safe in bombproofs.

Humbert's Words to His Troops.

NAPLES, July 19 .- King Humbert reviewed the Chinese expedition army corps to-day, and afterward addressed the officers and men. His Majesty said: "I bring you my salute and that of your country in wishing good fortune to your arms. You go to a distant region, where our flag has been outraged. You go there not for the purpose of conquest, but only for the defense of the sacred rights of man and violated humanity. In your mission you will have for companions soldiers of the most powerful nations of the world. Be good comrades with them. Try to hold the honor of the country. Depart, therefore, full of confidence. I accompany you in spirit. May God bless your mission.

OF GREATER MENACE.

Situation Rising Out of the Mutual Jealousies of the Powers.

LONDON, July 19.-Burn Murdoch, the agent of Pritchard Morgan, M. P., in Corea, who has just reached London after a sixty days' journey by way of Vladivostock over the Transsiberian Railroad to Moscow, says Russia, even before he left, was actively mobilizing troops in central Russia, east and west Siberia. The Transsiberian Railway is conveying close to 300,000 men to Manchuria or its borders. In diplomatic circles in London to-night the fate of the legations is no longer considered of first importance-the perilous international situation is looming on the

The Chinese invasion of the Amur province is equivalent to a declaration of war against Russia, which construing it as to leave the country, along with the members of his mission. The importance of this Chinese declaration of war against Russia and of this bold invasion of Russian territory lies in the fact that as the matter now stands it virtually releases the Czar from his obligations to the foreign powers to act in concert with them in China. He is placed thereby in a position to act independently, and not only with reference to the defense of his dominions against the Chinese invasion, but also as regards the carrying of war into the enemy's country and an eventful march on Peking. Should a Russian army, proceeding from Siberia, reach Peking and capture it before the allies could get to it from the Pacific coast, the Czar would be able to dictate terms to China independently of the other powers, and without any regard to their wishes, virtually establishing himself as master of the country. The British and German governments, alarmed at the idea of this eventuality, have decided to abandon the policy which they have pursued until now and to declare war upon the Chinese government, thus placing themselves in a line with Russia, and France and the United States are expected to follow suit immediately. France has, indeed, already issued a decree forbidding the sale of arms or of war material of any kind to the Chinese, while Germany, which has already prohibited the Chinese envoy at Berlin from communicating with his government, except through the German Foreign Office, is preparing to give him his passports. Here in London the Chinese minister has already packed all belongings, removed his oys from the schools and canceled all his engagements, so as to be ready for immediate departure.

Altogether the Peking government is esimated to have under arms at the present moment no less than 1,000,000 men, splendidly equipped with Mauser rifles, smokeless powder and quick-firing ordnance, and carefully trained under the direction of Danish and German officers. This huge army, in which are not comprised the irregulars, such as the Boxers, the Black Flags, the Yellow Flags, etc., is under the orders of Prince Tuan.

In addition to this there is the Chinese leet, reconstructed and reorganized since the war with Japan, and comprising fifteen first-class cruisers of the very latest type. These are cruising about the Yellow ea, with their decks cleared for action. Inasmuch as five vessels of the allied leet, including the British battleship Terrible, are cruising about in the same waters, reconnoitering various seacoast owns and forts and virtually inviting the latter to open fire upon them, news may be expected at any moment of a naval battle. Nine other foreign men-of-war are at anchor off Shanghal, with the object of as-

Liu Kan Yih has always been friendly toward foreigners, and

The Express's correspondent at Tokio cables: "The Japanese government is now seriously discussing whether, in view of the attitude of some of the powers, it would be advisable to dispatch the division of troops which has been already mobilized. It is feared that Russia and Germany may not accept the command of the Japanese senior officers, who would necessarily take charge of the army corps. Japan desires assurances on this point before giving orders for the embarkation of the troops. This may mean a further delay of several weeks." The most important move on the Chinese

FOR NEELY

PRELIMINARY REQUEST FOR HIS EXTRADITION IS DENIED.

Further Evidence in the Case Will Be Taken, However, July 23-The Opinion of Judge LaCombe.

NEW YORK, July 19.-Judge La Combe, of the United States Circuit Court, to-day rendered a decision in the case of Charles F. W. Neely, charged with having defrauded the postal department in Cuba which he declared that the mere presentation of an indictment cannot be held sufficient for Neely's extradition, and that further testimony will be heard when the case comes up on July 23.

After complaining of delay of counsel in presenting briefs and stating that the action is brought under a recent amendment of Section 5270 of the United State Revised Statutes, known as the act of June 6, 1900, he gives the provisions added as to extradition, and says:

"The joint resolution of April 18, 1898, de clared that the people of the island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent, and this finding as to their status may be accepted by the courts. Nevertheless, it is an historical fact, of which the courts will take judicial notice, that on that same day the territory of that island was occupied by Spain. Against that power we declared war. In the entire sequence of events down to the date of the ratification of the treaty of Paris counsel for the prisoner finds nothing to criticise as obnoxious to the federal Constitution. On the day that treaty was signed we were indisputably in military occupation of the island; why under the Constitution that occupation legitimately entered upon may not continue to secure the lives and property of American citizens within that territory until the political branch of the government shall be satisfled that its further continuance is unnecessary it is difficult to conceive, and no authority cited in the brief sustains any such proposition.

"The mere fact that the individual who has committed a crime in a foreign country is himself a citizen of the United States does not prevent the United States from returning him to the country against whose laws he has offended "It will be noted that the act of June 1900, is most careful to safeguard the party accused against unsubstantial charges of crime. It provides that before the accused is returned there shall be an inquiry before a judge of a federal court who shall hold such person on evidence establishing probable cause that he is guilty of the offense charged; if the evidence fails to establish probable cause the accused shall be returned. This means probcause tested by the our courts and supported evidence which we would hold competent. No mere statement of an official that he has caused an examination into the facts to be made, with such and such a result, is of any probable weight, nor is hearsay competent, nor unverified copies of documents. TERRE HAUTE POLICE STIRRED UI OVER A CASE.

Almost a Fight-Jury in the Casto Case-Fraudulent Mediums Denounced at Anderson.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 19 .- Mayor Steeg had just notified Chief of Police Hyland that he would break down the stable doors the chief's men had nailed tight, at the city stables, this afternoon, when an injunction secured by City Attorney Foley from Judge Stimson was read to the Police Commissioners, restraining them from in any way interfering with the city stables.

One of the city engineer's horses was reported to have the pinkeye and the police were afraid the patrol wagon horses would be afflicted. The chief with several patrolmen put the engineer's horses and the street commissioner's equipment or horses and wagons in the alley, and nailed up the entrance to the part of the stable which had been used by them. The police commissioners are appointed by Governor Mount and there has been more or less bad feeling between them and the city officials. The city veterinarian had said there was no danger, and on that advice the Board of Public Works told the city officials to keep their horses in the city stables.

Why Hines and Treep Are in Jail. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MARION, Ind., July 19 .- "Them's the two! That is the one that is supposed to be my husband. That is the one that performed the ceremony-that's 'Squire Holman." Those were the words used by Mrs. Mary Wise in the Mayor's Court this morning when she was called to identify Edward S. Hines and Volney Treep, who officiated as bridegroom and justice of the peace, respectively, in a mock marriage which Mrs. Wise was led into on a public highway in this city a few nights ago. Hines had been calling on Mrs. Wise for several months and told her his name was Edward Smith. He appeared at her place of occupation on the night in question, claiming he had a marriage license and that he had engaged a justice to marry them. They met the alleged justice and the ceremony was performed. The supposed bridegroom insisted that Mrs. Wise should accompany him to his apartments that night, but she refused because of the absence of her employer, and contended that she must return to her work. The next day she, having become suspicious, made an investigation, learned that no marriage icense had been issued and that the man alleging to be a justice of the peace was an impostor. Hines and Treep confessed to their guilt in the case, but pleaded not guilty in the Mayor's Court. Their preliminary trial will be held on Monday, and in the meantime they are in jail.

He has been president of the national association for nine years, and for the past four the editor of the association's paper, The Banner of Light. Moses Hull said to-day that forty-nine out of fifty mediums connected with spiritualism are frauds, but President Barrett went even further and said that ninety-nine out of every one hundred are frauds. This is the reason that the Indiana State Association has, appointed an examining board, and every medium permitted on the grounds and indorsed by the association will first be subjected to a rigid examination. President Barrett conducted a crusade against the "fake mediums" through his paper a few years ago. He stated that one offered him a reward of $3,000 if he would let up on the warfare against mediums. The officers of the Indiana Association are fully determined to protect their members and the public against false claims of pretenders, if possible, and have taken every precaution to rid their camp of all but hose regarded genuine by the State asso-

United we will face duty and destiny. When the stormcloud of battle hung like a heavy pall over our land little did we dream that we would live to clasp hands and rejoice in the bonds of union once more. Brave Ensign Bagley, who fell on the deck of the Winslow before Cardenas, was from the South, and the first to seal his fidelity to the Union with his heart's blood.
