THE DAILY CRESCENT

Has a circulation which renders it a desirable medium for advertisers. AS A FAMILY PAPER it circulates largely, reaching many hundreds of homes at an early hour, and being read before the approach of business hours, consequently articles we kindly see may be advantageously published in its columns.

THE WEEKLY CRESCENT

Is published every Monday morning at $3 per annum, invariably in advance. Having an extensive circulation throughout Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, Texas, and other States, it presents a favorable medium to advertisers of making their wares and commodities known. Advertisements inserted for $1 per square, each insertion.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1857.

☞ Mr. Wm. Dunn, clerk of the steamer Pennsylvania, has our thanks for late papers from Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis.

☞ We are under obligations to the gentlemen of Jones & Co.'s Express for Galveston papers.

☞ Under our financial head will be found the late law of the State of New York regarding bills of exchange and sight drafts, which goes into operation on the first proximo.

FIRE CHRISTIAN TIMES.—We had the pleasure of seeing, yesterday morning, Mr. R. S. Geiler, editor of the Fire Christian Times. He will remain in town a day or two on business connected with his journal, which circulates largely throughout Southern Mississippi.

THE CRESCENT CITY BANK.—In our advertising columns will be found the customary notice to the subscribers of the Crescent City Bank, with a copy of the articles of association or charter of the Bank. Subscribers are particularly reminded that in order to assume an early organization they must come forward at once and sign the charter. There is much to do before the doors of the Bank can be opened for regular business—such as the purchase of bonds, engraving of notes, and the countersign of the Auditor of the State. All these preliminaries will require time to arrange, which renders it highly important and imperative on those who have described to call forthwith at the notarial office of Messrs. Cuvillier & Peters, over the banking house of James Robb, and sign the charter. The commissioners are also prepared to receive additional subscriptions to make up the amount of $2,000,000.

There is no question whatever but what an increase of banking capital will be productive of the highest results to our city and State, and no better investment offers at the present moment than bank stocks, which is confirmed by the fact that the stocks of the Banks, now organized under the general banking law, are paying 10 per cent. per annum, and selling from 7½ to 12½ per cent. advance. Is any further proof necessary of the profitableness of bank stocks? We think not, other than the fact that stock of the old chartered banks ranges from 22 to 80 per cent. premium. We think this is conclusive, and commends the new bank to the attention of the community.

A FEW WORDS FROM THE CELESTIALS.—An astronomical friend of ours, who has for his bosom friend a telescope which magnifies one hundred and forty-five times, and who is thereby in familiar intercourse with the different denizens of the starry world, has called upon us, in behalf of Madame Venus and Sir Jupiter, to remonstrate with us about our article of yesterday, in which we paid our devoirs to the former as the comet, and to the latter as an ordinary second-rate star.

Both being members of our solar family, and close kin to Mother Earth, expressed their mortification at being so spoken of in the Crescent, of all other papers, and their surprise at the general ignorance of mankind in regard to astronomy. Dame Venus took it particularly hard that we should attribute all her beauty and brilliancy to a wandering vagrant of a comet, and that we should look around her for a tail, a thing she never had, and would scorn to have. She intimated her belief that if our stargazers would go to bed with less brandy-smash in their stomachs, and get up with less fog in their eyes, they might easily discover that her peculiar shape, her elongated brilliancy, is owing to her being only partly visible, and her visible part being a crescent, like the new moon. And that the New Orleans Crescent, which ought to feel flattered with her condescension in thus appearing as its namesake, should for a moment listen to the supposition of her being a comet, she thought was the unkindest cut of all.

Sir Jupiter said he did not care about attracting any particular earthly attention, though it was his due as the biggest member of our family; but it was his wish that when spoken of, it should be correctly and with the respect due to his proper title and status. He said he knew he was too far off to be recognized by unpracticed eyes, but he wished that if he must be looked for, it should be with a glass; by which his identity would be unmistakable from the family of little Jupiters playing around him.

Both planets furthermore said, that if Mother Earth has seen a comet this year, or the particular comet expected, it is more than either of them have seen. They also stated that the large star in the constellation of the Great Bear, to which the comet-hunters have been trying to hang a tail, is only Arcturus; a plain, old-fashioned body, who would be highly indignant if he knew how perseveringly the endeavor has been in progress to make a comet of him.

We can only tender our respectful apologies to Madame Venus and Sir Jupiter for our seeming disrespect to them yesterday; and we promise to be armed with both telescope and almanac when we squint at them hereafter.

ORGANIZATION OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The two Boards composing the Common Council, as will be seen by our reports elsewhere, met and organized last evening. Mr. H. M. Summers was re-elected President of the Board of Aldermen; Mr. P. S. Wills, President pro tem.; Mr. A. Dupre, Chairman of the Finance Committee—a most excellent selection; Mr. Charles Claiborne, Secretary; and Mr. J. J. E. Planchard Sergeant-at-Arms.

In the Board of Assistants Mr. N. E. Bailey was elected President; Mr. J. A. Hopkins, Secretary; and Mr. D. W. C. Campbell, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Both Boards will hold regular sessions this evening.

THE RIGHT. J. WARD.—We learn, by a telegraphic dispatch from Memphis, received yesterday, that this popular and far-famed steamer will arrive in port on Thursday, and leave on the following Saturday afternoon. Passengers and shippers should govern themselves accordingly.

THE NICARAGUA TRANSIT.—The President, it is said, has declared that the voice of Costa Rica cannot be heard nor her authority recognized in anything pertaining to the Nicaragua transit route. If this be so it is better than we expected.

A SPLENDID CHANCE.—The building at the corner of Royal and Orleans streets, occupied by Messrs. Bellanger & Co., the confectioners, is offered for rent, with a lease of eight years or more, from the first of August next when Mr. B.'s lease expires. Its proximity to the Orleans theater and the Courts has always made it a famous and money-making house, and a fortune awaits the man who will take it next, and conduct the confectionery and refreshment business up to the requirements of the locality. Mr. L. Maurot, No. 80 Toulouse street, is the man to apply to. A better chance for an enterprising confectioner is never offered.

LOUISIANA AND FACTORS' COTTON PRESSES.—Mr. John Haskins gives notice that Messrs. Geo. W. Parker and Sawyer Hayward continue associated with him in the business of the above presses.

STORE FOR RENT.—The store at the corner of Magazine and Gravier streets, occupied by Messrs. Murray, Miller & Co., clothiers, is offered for rent from the 1st July. See advertisement.

SITUATION WANTED.—An excellent girl wants a situation. See her advertisement.

DWELLING WANTED.—See the advertisement, in another column.

THE SHARP TOOTH OF INGRATITUDE.

There is a sharpness about the tooth of ingratitude that surpasses all other descriptions of sharpness. An immortal poet declared, in undying verse, that thankfulness was far keener than a serpent's fang. We agree with the poet, up hold his proposition, and shall now proceed to cite a case in point by way of illustration.

Twelve months have not elapsed since Col. John C. Fremont was the candidate for the Presidency of the Black Republicans of the North. Every freesoil sheet, without exception, united in chanting forth his praises. The language was exhausted in eulogizing him. The most extravagant panegyrics were lavished upon him. His military exploits were hepuffed and expanded by ready writers, until the glories of General Jackson and Scott began to pale before the new orb that had just risen above the horizon of Black Republicanism. His merits as an explorer surpassed the merits of all other explorers combined, whether of ancient or modern times. His privations and sufferings as an explorer of the Rocky Mountains exceeded the privations and sufferings endured by the whole tribe of explorers in all ages and countries under the sun. His literary acquirements, as exemplified by the manner in which he had written out an account of his explorations, excelled in ability the loftiest productions known to the realm of letters. His statesmanship was maintained to be of a more exalted texture than that of Clay or Calhoun, notwithstanding he vouchsafed no evidence of it during his brief Senatorial career. His citizenship was declared an ornament to the United States, to humanity and to the world. In short, there were no limits allowed the sphere of his surpassing excellence and superiority as a man, citizen, statesman, soldier and explorer of distant and comparatively unknown regions.

And this strain of unbounded eulogy was kept up until after the result of the late presidential election was made known to the world. Although defeated, Col. Fremont ran far ahead of the most sanguine expectations of his most sanguine supporters. He worked hard, spent his money freely, performed whatever tasks his friends called upon him to perform, and did not shrink at the employment of any subterfuge likely to advance the wretched cause in which he was engaged. In fine, he earned the lasting gratitude of his co-workers and became entitled to their aid and co-operation in whatever schemes of elevation or aggrandizement he might embark in for the future; and, if they had been possessed of the meagerest particle of thankfulness they would have clung to him all the closer on account of his first and only reverse, which was in itself, all things considered, a victory.

Well, shortly after the presidential election, some grateful Fremont editors in New York suggested that he was just the man for the Black Republican Legislature of that State to elect to the United States Senate—that he deserved, to say the least, that mark of appreciative confidence. What was the consequence? Why, the New York Tribune, Times and other prominent freesoil organs at once threw a wet blanket upon the proposition and smothered it. They said he was ineligible, being a citizen of California; although he had not resided in that State for years! The true secret of their opposition laid in a different direction. Fremont had served the purpose for which he was nominated—that is, had acted as a gauge by which Senator Seward was enabled to measure the influence of the Northern Freesoil element—and had exhibited a strength which astounded even the arch-fiend of Abolitionism himself. It would not do to place him in the Federal Senate, for then he would be armed with a formidable power to contest for the succession in 1860—that being reserved for William H. Seward. Hence, Fremont was incontinently thrown overboard.

A short time since quite a movement was made in the North, having in view a re-nomination of Col. Fremont for the Presidency. In regard to this movement the New York Tribune—one year ago the most ardent friend Fremont had in the world—spoke as follows:

The chance of climbing the dizzy ladder whereby the White House is scaled seldom comes to any man but once; once missed it is missed forever. "Out of sight, out of mind," is more emphatically the rule in politics than elsewhere; the Presidents are rarely or never chosen from among shelved politicians. Neither the slave power nor any other, or any party—chooses a candidate on account of past services; it asks not "what has he done?" but "what can he do for us?"

This drove the last nail into the political coffin of Fremont, and was the climax of freesoil ingratitude. Well, he deserved it. A traitor to the section of country that gave him birth—a wretched tool in the hands of the enemies of his own born brethren—he deserved no better fate. May such ever be the lot of those who steel their hearts against the ties of nature, and prefer their birthright and their brethren for that mess of pottage—political preferment!

This last movement of the leading organ of freesoilism foreshadows what we have all along predicted, viz: the nomination of Senator Seward for the next Presidency. That he will be the nominee of the Black Republicans we regard as beyond all question, and that he will be elected and inaugurated, if this confederacy continues to hold together, we look upon almost as certain as that our right hand is tracing these lines.

TRAGEDY IN KENTUCKY.—On the 6th inst. Colonel James Price and his son, a young man, were found dangerously wounded on the line of the railroad near Winchester, Ky. It appears that the wife of Colonel Price contributed to the Ohio Farmer, under the name of "Molly Broom," and had published a sketch which gave offence to a neighbor named Gay, who demanded of Col. Price if held himself responsible for his wife's writings. He replied in the negative, and this appeared to end the matter, but a day or two afterwards, Gay, armed with a double-barreled shotgun, met the father and son and shot them both. There was a possibility that the old gentleman might recover, but the son was mortally wounded.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENT.—The iron horse now pursues his way without stop or important deviation from a direct line, from Bangor, Maine, to Jefferson City, Missouri, a distance of a little over seventeen hundred miles—half as far as to London—in three days!

THE LEGAL MAINSPRING.—A good comment on Spanish justice was by a Spaniard, when speaking of a person who had been arrested, charged with a serious offence. "The case is no clear against him," was the artless remark, "that unless he has plenty of money he will certainly be condemned."

A MURDERER DEALING IN MAGIC.—Francis McCann, the condemned murderer at Albany, whilst strongly manacled with cuffs, and irons on both ankles, chained to the floor of his cell, by some unaccountable means, during the night, took off his pantaloons and put on another pair, without unloosing his manacles or tearing the garments. No one has been able to account for the manner in which he performed this feat, and he refuses to divulge the secret. So says a New York paper.

CURIOUS ATMOSPHERIC PHENOMENON.—A correspondent of the Congregationalist, writing from Ashtabula county, Ohio, after giving an account of a shock of an earthquake in that vicinity, says:

The most singular phenomenon connected with it, was the falling of large balls of snow. It was snowing heavily at the time, although the snow was slightly moist. The next morning several gentlemen in different parts of the town noticed large balls of snow lying scattered around, not only in the vicinity of their dwellings, but in the open fields; those who examined them describe them as being nearly as large as a child's head, and resembling thin layers of snow, rolled together very lightly and dropped down. Where they fell upon the hill-side, they had rolled, in some instances, two or three feet. I mention these facts as scraps for the curious.

THREE MUNICIPAL OFFICERS SENTENCED TO HARD LABOR.—We perceive by the Chicago Journal that justices Prendergast and O'Malley and constable Ford, have been sentenced to hard labor in the city prison for six months. Constables Nolan and Quinn were also ordered to confinement in the city jail for five days each. The crime was extortion, receiving money unlawfully and making false charges. The Journal, in regard to the verdict, says:

The result of this trial, which has engrossed so much of public attention for some time past, is a cause of general congratulation. The verdict of the jury and sentence of the court met with almost unanimous approval on the part of all classes of our citizens, the only regret being that the "extremity of the law" was not adequate to the offences committed.

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE.—The steward of the bark Coral Isle, of Scarborough, while on her way from St. Domingo to Liverpool, killed a pea hen which he had purchased in the West Indies, and on taking out the contents of its crop the steward found two valuable diamonds, which, since the vessel's arrival at Liverpool, he has disposed for a considerable sum of money.

Talk on 'Change.

The "little" movements in cotton and coffee at the close of last week were the chief topics of comment yesterday. They were thought by some to be like an "oasis in the desert," coming at this late period in the season. It is the general belief there is more business to be done this summer than in any previous summer. The navigation of the Western rivers still continue favorable, and all the intended produce intended for market will be shipped. It is reasonable to depend on a good bootable stage of the Mississippi river for some weeks. The unrivalled facilities for the sale and shipment of produce hither at this time leads to the belief in the face of the favorableness of the growing crops that every bushel of grain, every pound of bacon, barrel of pork and keg of lard will be hurried to market in order to realize the present ruling prices. Of course, it is hardly necessary that our resident merchants (those connected with the Western trade particularly) will be on the spot all through the summer. If the seniors are not, the juniors will be, or perhaps vice versa, and those who regard the general good and prosperity, if not every day in the city, will be within a few hour's call—say at the sea shore suburbs—so the patrons of our city, far and near, need be under no apprehension but what their interests will be just as well guarded during the summer or dull season as at any other season of the year. Of this, there is not a doubt.

The telegraph last evening brought advices of the arrival of the steamer Vanderbilt, from Southampton, of the 3d inst. This steamer has not made so short a passage homeward as we expected. We must, however, wait for the mail or wagon for full details.

The Canadian steamer North America is fully due at Quebec. The next steamer from Liverpool will be one of the Cunard line, (the Europa) due at Halifax to-day. We shall expect to receive advices of an advance in the cotton market; if they are not of that character, we shall be disappointed—that's all.

In the meantime, those interested are desired to regard our marine list as indicating very short receipts, with no prospect of any increase for the present.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES IN NORTHERN WOODS.—Northern papers state that, for many days recently, destructive fires have been raging in the woods and outskirts of settlements in Franklin, St. Lawrence and Clinton counties, New York. Barns, out-houses, fences, forests, etc., have all been consumed, and two or three lives lost. The Malone Palladium says:

The Brasher iron works are in utter ruins. The foundry, furnace, machine shop, coal houses, sawmill, store, boarding house, barns, sheds, taverns, school-house, post-office and several dwellings, with their contents, were all consumed. The bridge over the river was also burned. But about five or six houses were left. Several hogs and some calves were also burned.

QUITE A MISTAKE.—The Baltimore Republican tells a story of a young man who fell in love with a young lady residing in one of the residences in Upper Tendom. The lover, fearing a repulse from the head of the family, conducted his courtship in a clandestine manner. The upshot of the matter was, that an elopement occurred and the parties were married. After the marriage the bridegroom proposed that they should return home and procure the father's pardon. Judge, then, of his dismay when, with a trembling voice, she informed him that, although she possessed the name of the gentleman in question, she was not related to him in the slightest degree, and was employed in his dwelling in the capacity of a seamstress. Thus all his visions of a sweeping fortune were scattered to the winds; and the scene of recrimination which ensued was terribly out of character for a newly married couple.

☞ Pronounced Incurable by Physicians—Yet Cured by Hoofland's German Bitters:

Central Bridge, Schoharie Co., N. Y., Feb. 12, 1855.

Dr. C. M. Jackson: Dear Sir—A gentleman by the name of Larkin, living in this place, who has been under the doctor's charge, and confined to the house for two years past with Liver Complaint, which last fall turned into Dropsy, and was pronounced by said care by the principal physicians of the place, and his friends expected him to die daily, is now, after taking five bottles of the German Bitters, out doing errands and attending to his daily business. The Bitters are, consequently, in great demand. Respectfully, JOHN G. CARRYL.

☞ Candor compels us, when considering the wants of the afflicted, to recommend that which is best known and tried, and to recommend Dr J. Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters would only be adding to what has already been heralded far and wide, not only by a few isolated certificates, but by the people of the land, endorsed by the physicians and the press, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have no equal in restoring and imparting health to enfeebled men. Ladies and children find this medicine invaluable in many of their ills of debility, to which they are subject, especially during the summer season; in such cases it should be taken in small quantities before meals. What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath, when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentrifice, would not only render it sweet, but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Beware of counterfeits. Be sure each bottle is signed "Petridge & Co., N. Y." Bladon Water.

This Water, from the Alkaline Sulphur Springs, at Bladon, Ala., owned by Messrs. Connor & Wooten, is recommended for a great variety of complaints peculiar to the Southern climate. It acts mildly, yet efficiently, on the different secreting organs, as the liver, skin, kidneys, mucus membrane, etc., restoring these organs to their natural healthy condition, and is found especially suited for the whole class of dyspeptic diseases and liver complaints; also for gout and rheumatism, general derangements of the system from long residence in a tropical climate; many nephritic and skin diseases have yielded to the continued use of the SULPHUR BLADON WATER. The testimony of the most eminent of the medical faculty of the South can be adduced in favor of the BLADON WATER, as a remedy for the above mentioned and many other diseases.

The proprietors would respectfully inform the public that they are now prepared to receive visitors at the Springs, and have established the following agency, where the Water can be had at all times, FRESH, by the barrel or demijohn, on the same terms as at the Springs, by addressing,
