Wednesday evening the Santa Fe sent Prince Yoder to Grants as telegraph operator. This speaks well for Prince, as he mastered the art of telegraphy in about a year, and he has learned something that he can never forget; and it is a necessity to know it, as it is a boost in all branches of railroading.

Ray Huey, line repairer for the Postal Telegraph company, while working at Ash Fork on Friday of last week, fell from a pole, a distance of 25 feet, receiving an injury to his right hip. In addition to this he is confined to his bed with a case of pleurisy. This is the second time a similar misfortune has befallen Huey. Six years ago in Washington, while working with a construction gang, his spurs slipped and he fell from the top of a 25 foot pole, injuring the same hip.

Justice Court Matters

Mae Utter and Fannie Porter, two denizens of the bad lands, endeavored to convince Judge Rounselle Monday that they were supported, and not following their vocation. Mae claimed that her husband, who looked every inch a workingman and proved to be, supported her. She testified that she prepared his meals every day and served them on time. Marshal Patterson, however, introduced testimony to the effect that she plied her business whenever possible and that she occupied a house of Mrs. Tabor's, located a little distance from the regular path, and was using this, along with her alleged husband, as a blind to cheat the city out of its regular income. The same evidence applied to Fannie, and each was fined $20. The latter appealed. Mae dug up.

R. D. Stuart, porter for various saloons, was in Judge Rounselle's court Wednesday afternoon to answer to the charge of assault and battery. As all the witnesses spoke highly of Stuart, Judge Rounselle imposed the small fine of $15 for his offense. Stuart on Feb 9 gave Mae Nelson a terrific beating and as a consequence she attempted to commit suicide the next day and is still in a critical condition.

Day Ricketts was before Judge Rounselle last Saturday on a misdemeanor charge and was fined $25, which he paid. He was charged with landing a solar plexus on the rear founts of the queen of the row.

The La Crosse (Kan.) LaCrosse has the following account of the marriage of a young couple who are now making their home in Williams: Roy Wolfe and Miss Mabel Redman were married at the home of the bride's grandparents Feb. 1, in this city, Elder O. H. Truman officiating. The groom lives at Williams, Ariz., and is extensively engaged in the cattle business there. The bride is a La Crosse girl born and bred, and lived with her grandparents here. She is a graduate of our high school and has been very successful as a teacher in the schools of the county. She has been very popular with a large circle of friends and has been for years the organist of the Christian church. The newly-married couple have the best wishes of all their friends.

I HAVE JUST RECEIVED FROM CHICAGO AND New York the swellest selection of beautiful Spring Patterns you have ever feasted your eyes upon—a full One Thousand of weaves and colorings representing the greatest cloth looms in the world.

It will pay you well to come in and look at these cloth samples, even if you decide not to get a suit right away.

It will tell you more about the styles and colorings that swag-gers dressers will wear this season than you could learn in any other way.

The One Thousand Cloth Samples you see represent the one line of samples that STANDS FOR ALL PURE WOOL—ALL PURE WOOL, AND NOTHING ELSE.

I will pay a dollar a thread for any cotton you will find in my Spring Samples

Needles suffered a bad fire Tuesday morning, in which two Chinamen were burned to death and a property loss of about $20,000 was sustained. The buildings destroyed included the Needles hotel, Postal Telegraph Co., Barney's pawn shop, Japanese pool room and a Chinese laundry. The fire is said to have originated in a Chinese opium den. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Dora Day, one of the colored girls down the line, is something of a bunko artist herself, but she got a taste of some of the medicine she has been administering to others, Sunday night. A tall, cadaverous looking individual, slightly lame, asked Dora to change a $20 bill. When she produced the change the man grabbed $15 of it and skiddooed. He wasn't captured.

Notwithstanding the attempts of enemies to connect Dr. E. B. Perrin with fraudulent land deals, he has completely proved his innocence of the charges made, as his friends in Williams expected, and the doctor now has his persecutors on the run, and promises to land Charles P. Snell in the penitentiary for perjury.

The weather for the past week in Williams has been spring-like.
