Washington, June 5.—At the opening of today's session of the senate at 10 t. in., the chaplain in his invocation referred to the bereavement of former Senator John Sherman in the death of his wife. He spoke of her as "keeping her home-bred virtues and showing to fall the type of a divinely noble, Christian character."

During the transaction of routine business Mr. Turner (Wash.) presented a bill upon which he said he desired a submit some remarks. The bill was to submit some remarks. The bill was to establish a court of pension appeals, which Mr. Turner said he had introdused several months ago at the request of the G. A. R. He presented several letters from prominent members and officials of the G. A. R. In support of the measure.

Mr Turner made an attack upon the administration of the pension depart-ment, because, he said, by its peculiar ment, because, he said, by its peculiar construction of laws passed by a grate-ful congress, it was denying just and proper pensions to the old soldiers of the republic, their widows and orphans. In the course of his speech Mr. Turser discussed briefly almost every his question before congress upon which action had not been taken, and urged that congress ought not to adjourn to-marrow while so many important measures were lying unacted upon, including this bill for the relief of sedders.

In the course of a speech on the subject, Mr. Bacon (Ga.) said he was protounally surprised that the statement made a few days ago by Mr. Fettlerew that the Cramps, shipbuilders of Philadelphia, had contributed $400,000 to the Republican national campaign fund of 1892 with the promise had not been denied. He regarded it as a most remarkable statement, and directed attention to the fact that Mr. Hanna and Mr. Carter, intimately connected with that campaign, were in the cumber and heard the statement. Instantiv Mr. Hanna, was on his feet. "If," said he sharply, "I should undertake to reply to all such statements made on this floor. Mr. Carter in a most vigorous manner denied the statement of Mr. Pettigrew. He said that he did not believe the conversation alleged to have taken place between Pettigrew and Cramp ever occurred. He denied absolutely that any conversation between himself and Pettigrew had occurred.

Mr. Foraker then referred to the Ohlo case and quoted James A. Garfield in defense of Mr. Hanna. Saying that the reports show that there was no case against Mr. Hanna. He said that the charges of Mr. Pettigrew would be answered in November as the people of Oregou had yesterday answered similar charges.

Mr. Hanna continued in a demanciation of Mr. Pettigrew's course, saying that he sometimes doubted the sandy of the man in putting such rot as a did in the record and expecting people of the convention of the proceedings. To this end there had been prepared a resolution providing "that all resolutions offered by any delegate to the convention shall be referred to the convention to the convention met in the Academy of Music today. that any conversation between himself and Pettigrew had occurred.

Mr. Carter warned the Democrats that as they were to associate with Mr. Pettigrew they must have a care. He said the old adage was applicable. "that they who he down with dogs must expect to get up with fleas."

Mr. Pettigrew replied briefly, saying the conversation had occurred.

Mr. Foraker then referred to the Ohio case and quoted James A. Garñeld in defense of Mr. Hanna. Saying that the hinged on the Tammany vote, and it was alleged that the latest attitude of that branch of the party was for the ratification of the 1896 platform. The first delegations to arrive brought news that the majority of the leaders, including Hill, Murphy and Croker's representatives, had decided that an enforsement of William J. Norman E. Mack of the Eric county delegation said that if the platform did not reaffirm the principles enunciated at Chicago, his delegation would make a fight in the committee on platform, and if defeated there, would present a minority report and fight for it on the floor of the convention. Mr. Mack said that at least forty counties were for the endorsement of the Chicago platform, and that the alliance of ex-Senators Hill and Murphy with Tammany and Kings would, be the only thing that equid beat them. NEELY'S METHODS.

Bristow Finds That He Divided Equally With the Government.

Havana, June 5 .- Acting Director of Posts Bristow today inquired as to the amount of postal funds taken by C. F. W. Neely in May, 1899, and ascertained that it was $31,312.95. Neely's monthly average was about $17,000. His system of bookkeeping was simplicity itself. Apparently he merely divided the amounts received, taking one-half for himself and accounting for the other. This morning the examination of Estes G. Rathbone, former director of posts, was continued. It lasted more than four was continued, it lasted more than four hours. The most startling fact developed was that on May 25 of last year Mr. Rathbone ordered Special Agents Leatherer and Sullivan to examine the accounts. They found a shortage, but it was not thought that anything had gone wrong. They reported, however, that there was no check upon the bureau of finance, and they recommended that certain blank forms be made, which would answer the purpose, such which would answer the purpose, such as all postmasters use when making their reports to the department monthly. Mr. Maynard, then chief agent, inly. Mr. Maynard, then chief agent, indorsed the recommendation and forwarded it to Mr. Rathbone. The latter approved it and sent it to Auditor Reeves, who initialed and forwarded it to Neely. After he had initialed it, instead of putting the scheme into operation he quietly pigeon holed it and it did not see the light until May 15 of this year when the plan was put into effect.

As many have been traced, it is known positively that all were not destroyed, but if Neely sold, say, fifty or a hundred thousand dollars, it would not be surprising, Mr. Bristow thinks, to find them scattered all over the world.

New York, June 5.—Some curiously negative discussions could grow out of yesterday's stock market, if auch speculative controversies were profitable. The failing off in business at the New York Stock Exchange could hardly have been due to the suspension of business abroad. With the short interest muterially reduced, it was not surprising that prices yesterday and on Saturday should have reacted. The American money markets continue to be about the cheapest in the world for the time being, and therefore it is idle to suppose that we can import gold before next autumn. The C. M. & St. P. for the fourth week of May reports an increase of not far from 10 per cent over the harge returns of corresponding week a year ago. The increase in the month's carniaus is over 3 per cent. New York, June 5.—COTTON—Spot cotton closed quiet, %c lower; middling uplands, 8%c; middling gulf, 9%c. Sales, none. Grain Letter. WHEAT-Usual duliness prevailed during entire session today, but there seemed to exist a strong undertone which would carry prices higher had there been a good volume of business. Receipts are liberal at all market centers and fine crop prospects in the western part of the winter wheat belt is the cause of a lot of old wheat being unearthed and shipped to market. Bradstreet's world's visible sup-ply decreased three and a half million bushels. Clearances were fair at nearly a half a million bushels wheat and flour
