COMPLIMENTS A TOPEKA FIRM.

Chicago Apparel Gazette Has a Good Word for Local Clothiers.

The Chicago Apparel Gazette, the organ of the retail clothiers, prints the following concerning a Topeka firm: "A striking example of a trading-up principle. The only store in the world that claims always to sell goods above cost." Such is the astonishing statement made by Robinson, Marshall & Co. of Topeka, Kan. It is a surprising admission for these days, and especially for this time of year, when the rites of sacrifice are being commonly practiced. To cut prices to the very heart, to slash and slaughter, has been a prerogative which the average merchant has been very tenacious in holding to. Is it not, then, most strange to find one store that has the courage, in the face of all competitive selling 'below cost,' to maintain stanchly that it is in business to make money, and therefore will not be so inconsistent as to do what is at variance with its own aims and with sound business policy? It is more than strange, it is almost unbelievable. How much of dignity and weight does that small claim add to the advertising of Robinson, Marshall & Co. The papers are full of bargains. Those who offer them are all in a class. Robinson, Marshall & Co. stand alone. Is it hard to divine where that thrifty, commonsensical purchaser will go who has read his kind, the one distinguished by adherence to a principle, the many squabbling like brokers in a pot to unload? If it is a question of quality and not of price the only store in the world that claims it always sells goods above cost, will get the business."

Society

An autumn wedding of much interest to many friends of the bride in Topeka will be that of Miss Bessie Elder, daughter of Mrs. A. C. Mr. Rodgers formerly lived in Chicago but is now with the Los Angeles Investment company. Miss Elder and her mother, Mrs. A. C. Elder, will sail in June from New York on the Arabic of the White Star Line for Europe to spend two months. They will visit London, Paris, Brussels, The Hague, Rome, Venice, Naples and Florence, returning to Topeka late in the summer where the wedding will take place in the early fall.

At a boarding house table the other day the discussion turned on mercenary marriages, somebody having told of a girl who married an old man for two millions. Most of the women doubted that there was that much money in the world but assuming that there was and any man could be so rich they argued all during dinner whether a girl would be justified in marrying him if she didn't love him. The married women, with one exception, virtuously declared that they wouldn't marry a man if they didn't love for all the money in the world but the innocent young Guyhls were all agreed that it would not be wise to hear his remarks.

AMONG THE CLERGY

Coffee Being Replaced by Postum Food Coffee.

"I am the wife of a minister. About three years ago a warm friend, an exepriental mother and the conscientious wife of a minister, asked me if I had ever tried giving up coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. I had been telling her of my excessive nervousness and ill health. She said: 'We drink nothing else for breakfast but Postum, and it is a delight and comfort to have something that we do not have to feed the children when they ask for it.'"

"I was surprised that she would permit the children to drink even the best coffee, but she explained that it was a most healthful beverage and that the children thrived on it. A very little thought convinced me that for brain work one should have food and the very best of food."

"My first trial of Postum was a failure. The maid of all work brought it to the table, lukewarm, weak, and altogether lacking in character. We were in despair, but decided on one more trial. At the second trial we found Postum to be just what we needed. It is a most healthful beverage and the children thrived on it. A very little thought convinced me that for brain work one should have food and the very best of food."

"I have since sung the praises of Postum Food Coffee on many, many occasions and have induced numbers of friends to abandon coffee and use Postum, with remarkable results. The wife of a college professor said to me that she had never known a man who ever produced so marked a change in her husband's health as the leaving off of coffee and the use of Postum in its place.
