NEW FEMALE HEEL

Fashionable Shoes Are Distorting Milady's Toes.

Anterior Arches Overworked, Says Medical Expert.

Chicago, April 12.—Woman is developing a "new heel" situated where her toes ought to be, according to Dr. Max Strunsky of New York, writing in the current number of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Strunsky places the blame on high heeled shoes, and finds that women would rather continue to suffer than to wear shoes that make the feet look large.

"The anterior arches become prominent and bulge and are covered with callouses," he reports after several examinations. "Not only do the arches perform, under pressure of the additional burden, the function of heels, but they acquire all the characteristics and every semblance of heels. The heel is the strongest part of the foot and is constituted to carry the main bodily weight. The high heeled shoes which women wear, however, practically compel them to walk on the heads of their metatarsals. Thus every time they take a step they jam the metatarsal heads on the ground."

"High heeled shoes compel the anterior arches to assume the function of weight carrying structures or heels. Metatarsal walking increases the size and strength of the anterior arches and changes their flexibility and elasticity, essential to a normal gait, to rigidity."

The following district vice presidents were elected: J. L. Raines, Topeka; L. A. Lohel, Watheana.

The next meeting place will be chosen at a later date by the executive committee. Hutchinson and Kansas City are after the convention.

The association passed a resolution declaring that state funds should be deposited in state banks. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 15 to 1.

"We favor legislation that will make it mandatory on the part of the state officials to place the funds of the state in state banks only, and when funds are so placed such depositories should not be required to furnish additional security, as at present."

"We feel the necessity of currency reform, but strongly insist that any changes made in our financial system shall include state banks in its provisions, and on the same terms as our brother national banks."

In his speech on "The Banking Future of Kansas" J. N. Dolley, ex-bank commissioner of Kansas, predicted that the guarantee of bank deposits will become universal. He said: "I will venture to say that the guarantee of bank deposits

Burns Bank Robber Recognized by His Wife.

Knew Scissors in Pocket and Scars on Body.

Lawrence, Kan., April 12.—Claiming as one's husband a man who has been shot while attempting to escape after robbing a bank and killing the cashier, Mrs. Morton told the jury today that she had identified the man as her husband, Frank Morton, who was killed while attempting to escape with $600.

Sitting in the dingy parlor of a cheap hotel in Lawrence, Mrs. Morton told the story of how she had lived with Frank Morton for three years.

"I married Morton in Parsons, Kan., about five years ago. At that time he was a handsome young fellow, well liked by his neighbors and apparently trusted by men. We lived there for nearly a year, my husband doing work of various kinds. He was very kind, did not drink, and stayed much at home."

"I began to drink in Missouri. From Parsons we moved to Hannibal, Mo., where he began to drink. From that time on he was a different person. He became morose and cruel. He talked all the time of various robberies that he intended to 'pull off.'"

"From Hannibal we moved from town to town in the mining district. Morton doing work as an electrician, engineer and various other occupations. He was an expert mechanic. He could tell what was the matter with a door lock by turning the knob, and could fix one easily. He drank heavily all the time and was unable to hold a position for any length of time."

"We drifted to Keokuk, Iowa, where he secured a position on the dam building there at that time. Morton was well liked there and did some of the most expert work done on the big dam."

"John Hensley, a Carpenter from Hannibal, Mo., where he began to drink. From that time on he was a different person. He became morose and cruel. He talked all the time of various robberies that he intended to 'pull off.'"

"Drinking lost him this position, and then began the terrible part of his life. He would go away for several days at a time and would then return and attempt to kill me and steal the baby. I had to call the police in a great many times. Only members of the family and a few intimate friends were admitted to the library. The police today turned away the curious who braved the rain, and until the body's removal, strict guard will be maintained."

Of the many floral tributes, only those given by the family will be taken to Hartford for the interment.

KANSAS WIN DEBATE.

Defeated Team Representing Oklahoma University.

Lawrence, Kan., April 12.—In the annual intercollegiate debate here Friday evening the University of Kansas team defeated the team representing Oklahoma university by a vote of two to one.

The Kansas team, consisting of Asher, Hobson, John M. Johnson and Homer Hoyt, upheld the affirmative; Elton B. Hunt, Fred J. Hansen and Benjamin F. West argued the negative side of the question for Oklahoma. The Kansans contended that the Sherman anti-trust law was a failure; that it attempted to stifle combination and encourage competition; now generally accepted as being uneconomic and wasteful. They suggested a commission similar to the interstate commerce commission to regulate the trusts.

Atchison, Kan., April 12.—The unusual situation of a Kansas railroad delayed by snow in mid-April was reported by the Missouri Pacific last night.

Traffic on the Prosser branch, a Central Branch "feeder," was tied up for two and a half hours by snowdrifts. No snow fell here, but clouds saved fruit from frost. The minimum temperature was 35.

Will Succeed G. D. Noel at State Experiment Station.

Dodge City, Kan., April 12.—F. J. Turner will succeed G. D. Noel as head of the Dodge City state experiment station, according to information received here. Mr. Noel recently sent in his resignation that he might take charge of a big wheat ranch in Cloud county. Mr. Turner is now head of the Ogallala state experiment station which was abolished by the last legislature. The change will take effect April 15.

ONE OF THE BEST

Remodeled Potwin School Building Modern Structure.

Improvements Cost Board of Education Nearly $25,000.

IT WAS OPENED THIS WEEK

It Embraces Latest Ideas in School House Construction.

Fair Weather Would Create Activity in Building Circles.

Potwin is now in a position to boast of having one of the most modern and best equipped school buildings in Topeka. The remodeled structure which is attractive in appearance, and conveniently arranged for school purposes, was opened for use this week.

It will be remembered that the city fire marshal condemned the west wing of the building at the corner of Park street and Elmwood avenue last spring. The board of education has had the structure remodeled at a cost of nearly $25,000.

Until this week the first grade pupils of the Potwin school have been sent to class at the Auburndale tabernacle. The third, fourth and eighth grade pupils have been provided with street car service to carry them to and from the Van Buren school building each day. The fifth grade youngsters for the teachers. The building is equipped with electric lights, ample fire escapes and may be supplied with vacuum cleaners.

Credit for the result should be given John F. Stanton, the architect, who has planned five of the school buildings in Topeka. C. C. Starr, superintendent of city schools, and the building committee of the board of education.

The Realty Market.

A solid week of fair weather would stimulate business in realty and building circles to a great degree. A number of sales of property have been made this week, but the market has not been as active as would have been the case had the weather been fine. A slight slump is also shown in building permits.

Following is a list of permits issued this week:

John L. Crawford, two-story dwelling, 177-179 Kendall avenue, $3,200

J. P. Johnson, remodel dwelling, 813 Tyler street, 1,000

The Mutual Real Estate Co., one-story building, 1311 Kansas avenue, 1,000

George Jackson, one-story dwelling, Roosevelt street, 1,200

SAFETY LETS.

I, as a laborer, will hold fast to all rules promulgated for my safety.

I will never take a chance when a safe way will prevent an accident.

I pledge myself in so far as accidents are concerned, to be a protectionist.

I will always do all I can to stop the loss of life and to prevent accidents.

I, in the interest of myself and fellows, will cultivate safety habits.

I will never work about machinery until I advise myself it is safe.

I will never imperil my family or reduce my earning capacity by being careless.

I will not take a chance at the risk of my life or injury to my body.

I will always protect myself where places of mine are liable to fly and strike my eyes by wearing goggles.

I will always defend the principles of safety first.

I believe it is better to be careful than careless.

I will always assist a fellow laborer in advising him to be careful.

I will preach to my fellows care, then our ranks will not be filled by the careless.

I will care for my family by being more careful.

I will hold fast, safety thoughts paramount to all others.

I will never do a careless act which is liable to cause an injury.

I will be in the safety movement for the preservation of life, as much as for protecting my country or family.

I will be first in the safety army, fighting to drive the careless from its ranks.

Moral: Safety first, last and all the time.

WILSON MAY RUN

Washington Co. Man Might Enter Fifth District Fight.

His Congressional Candidacy Hinges on Harmony Results.

If the Republican harmony movement gets a good start this year, it is quite probable that Senator Walter E. Wilson may enter the fight for the Republican congressional nomination in the Fifth district and contest the claim of Congressman Guy T. Helvering to a second term. Wilson is non-committal as to his plans, but admits that he might make the race if conditions improve sufficiently to indicate a reunited party in the next campaign.

Up in the Fifth district it is generally believed that the Regulars and Progressives can be induced to unite in their support of Senator Wilson. The Washington county member of the upper house is secretary of the State Bankers' association and has for several years been active in the business and political affairs in his district. He is a staunch advocate of progressive principles and made a consistent record in the last session of the legislature. Yet Senator Wilson's attitude toward either faction has not been such as to arouse serious opposition from either the Progressives or the Regulars.

"It all depends on the result of the harmony meeting in June," said Senator Wilson this week, when asked concerning the possibility of his congressional candidacy. "The Fifth district is Republican and also progressive. Under any ordinary circumstances, a Republican will be elected. But we must get together. I think we can and will do it. If we do—well, then we can talk about this congressional proposition with a bit more certainty."

People who observe Kansas politics with a considerable degree of accuracy, believe that the Fifth district Progressives and Republicans can unite on Wilson and that the Washington county man may be the harmony candidate in 1914 if the Topeka meeting produces results.

SAN DIEGO

The Place Where Business Is Good

I was born and raised in good old Topeka and am proud of it. After living there for 23 years I, like many of you have, out-lived the climate and my usefulness, so turned my face westward.

And I Am Glad of It

For I have found that San Diego and San Diego county offer unequalled opportunities for safe and profitable investments and from personal experience can recite many instances where the investor has doubled and quadrupled his money in a very short period, and of all places it is

The One Place to Live and Enjoy Life

No more cold and blustery winters with several feet of snow to wade through. No more hot and sultry summers with the mercury trying to force its way through the top of the thermometer. Just

Delightful Weather the Year Round

And a places where you can live on five acres and be independent. With splendid boulevards, mountains and valleys on the east and the grand old Pacific on the west.

As for investments you need go no further than your own town to find out what profits have been made by some of the few that have paid a visit to

"All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, red blood and we do not get good stomach work. With poor thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Purify the body now with
