

Impure Blood

When the blood is pure and the bowels are regular, there need be but little fear of sickness. Keep two grand medicines in the house, and use them when you first begin to feel poorly. Recovery will be prompt, and serious sickness prevented.

Mr. Fred Pierce, who resides at South Terrace, Adelaide, S. Australia, sends this letter with his photograph: "For some years I have been a boundary rider on some of the far northern sheep and cattle stations. I had severe attacks of indigestion, and my blood would often get very impure. My skin would be covered with blotches, and my general health greatly affected. Whenever these attacks would come I would procure Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills. I always found that the Sarsaparilla would quickly purify my blood and strengthen my digestion; while the pills would correct my constipation and biliousness."

HILO PUBLIC LIBRARY FACES FINANCIAL DEFICIT.

Library and Reading Rooms May Close From Lack of Financial Support—Trustees in Dilemma—No Funds for Continuing Reading Tables, Which Have Proved a Popular Feature—Brief History of Library.

Owing to the depleted condition of its finances, it is a question whether the Hilo Library and Reading Room Association can exist much longer. The library is essentially a subscription library depending upon its patrons and the public for its maintenance. Fines and subscriptions for the use of books do not meet the running expenses of the library. The expenses annually amount to about $800 and the subscriptions for books averages not more than $300, leaving a deficit of $500 to be raised from other sources. From $200 to $300 is needed for the purchase of new books, and $100 for magazines and periodicals. Treasurer L. Severance finds he cannot meet these expenditures from the library funds, which have now run very low.

The free reading tables have proved a popular feature of the library. All the current magazines and periodicals, besides the files of the San Francisco, Chicago, New York and Island newspapers are to be found here. It is surprising to learn the number of visitors who avail themselves of the Reading Room. A record kept for several years gives the attendance for one year at 12,536. The largest daily attendance was 70 and the daily average is 25 to 30. Every afternoon and evening witnesses a crowd of studious men and boys and often a number of ladies pouring over newspaper files, reading the latest fiction and travel, or books of reference. Unless the library funds be increased by liberal subscription this feature of the Reading Room will have to be abandoned.

Mrs. E. L. Myers, who was the librarian from March, 1898, to August, 1904, catalogued the books in the library, which now number 2,132 volumes, besides many government reports, pamphlets, etc., not classified. The Hilo Public Library had its origin in a very modest way as a circulating book club twenty-four years ago. On March 19, 1880, a number of the prominent families residing in Hilo and vicinity met in the parlors of Rev. Titus Coan and organized a club known as the Hilo Book Association. The membership of the club was limited to thirty, the wives being admitted as ex-officio members of the society. The charter list included Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Lyman, Rev. and Mrs. T. Coan, Rev. and Mrs. A. O. Forbes, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Kittredge, Judge and Mrs. F. S. Lyman, Rev. and Mrs. Wm. B. Oleson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Severance, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Coan, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sisson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maby, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Austin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodward, Henry Deacon, E. Barry, John Jones, J. S. Mills, L. E. Swain, Chas. Richardson, Fred Wilhelm, John Porter, Miss L. F. Ingraham, Miss E. A. Arms and Miss Emma Clark.

The club started with twenty-two books and later increased to forty volumes, consisting mostly of history, travel and fiction, which under the rules of the society were circulated in rotation among the several members of the club for a period of two weeks. Rev. Wm. B. Oleson was made secretary and treasurer and Miss Emma Clark, now Mrs. J. A. Scott, librarian. Dr. C. S. Kittredge placed at the disposal of the club a room in the rear of his office, from which books were regularly drawn once a week.

As the little library continued to grow, a bookcase was purchased by popular subscription among the club members. Later the books were moved into the Court House, where it remained for many years with various librarians. Upon Miss Clark's resignation in 1881, Luther Severance was chosen librarian and served from 1881 to 1885. Judge F. S. Lyman acted as librarian between 1885 and 1884. John A. Beckwith, as secretary, treasurer and librarian, had charge of the books until 1887, by which time the library had grown to nearly 500 volumes. During this period the books were moved into the telephone building, where now stands the Baldwin block, and in November, 1899 across the street, when the telephone exchange was moved to the present quarters.

Here for many years, from April 12, 1887 to 1895, E. E. Richards, telephone manager, looked after the loaning of the books among the club members and others who subscribed to the support of the library. There was an interval for two years when the book club seemed to cease to exist, although the library was carefully preserved and became much depleted.

On April 20, 1895, a general mass meeting of citizens was called at the Court House to consider the question of a town hall, a public library, and to make some disposition of a piano belonging to the book club, which had long been a source of annoyance and a bone of contention for many years. Fireman's Hall was then being constructed and it was expected to utilize the upper floor of this building for a town hall and library.

Out of this public meeting, evolved the Hilo Library and Reading Room Association, which organized on October 25, 1895, adopting a constitution and by-laws. The object of the association as stated in its constitution, was: "First, to establish a public library and reading room, and second, to provide such other means for mental and artistic culture as may from time to time be found to be desirable and expedient." A room in Spreckels' building was temporarily occupied until some arrangements could be perfected for a permanent library room. The services of Mrs. O. A. Stevens was secured as librarian.

Steps were immediately taken to incorporate, and in April, 1896, a charter was obtained for the "Hilo Library and Reading Room Association." The officers of the association were H. C. Austin, president; J. A. Scott, Vice-president; J. B. Daniels, Secretary, L. Severance, Treasurer, and a board of Trustees consisting of Mrs. W. A. Hardy, Mrs. F. S. Lyman, W. W. Goodale, C. C. Kennedy and F. M. Wakefield.

The Legislature by Act 17, Session Laws of 1896, granted to the association "for library purposes" a government lot on Waiannuene street, where the library now stands. The public now had a library and a site for a library building, but no building. Here it was that through the generosity of one of Hilo's public spirited citizens the town secured a comfortable library and reading room. Dr. Chas. Wetmore on December 2, 1886, purchased and presented to the Library Association the frame building formerly occupied by the First Foreign Church on the corner of Church and Pitman streets. In making the gift of the building with his "Aloha" Dr. Wetmore "hoped it would prove very useful to our Hilo community for many years to come." The cost of moving the structure to the library site on Waiannuene street was $500, and together with other expenses incident to a sidewalk and improvements involved the association in considerable debt. It was found necessary to secure a loan of $300, which was obtained from C. C. Kennedy on easy terms. Two years later the obligation not having been paid, Mr. Kennedy graciously presented to the association its own note, and the library was once more free of debt.

The history of the growth of the library is full of such benevolent acts upon the part of business houses and private individuals. The library from its inception has been a subscription library, dependent upon popular liberality for support. For many years W. W. Goodale donated annually the sum of $100 for periodicals, which supplied the reading tables with all the current magazines and papers. B. F. Dillingham was the donor of $150 annually for a few years.

Through the courtesy of the Volcano Stables and Transportation Co. subscribers in the country have books delivered to them free of charge. Among those who have been prominently identified with lending financial support to the institution are C. C. Kennedy, J. A. Scott, D. H. Hitchcock, E. G. Hitchcock, B. F. Dillingham, W. W. Goodale, Mrs. S. B. Dole, G. N. Wilcox, Jas. Gibb, Mrs. F. S. Lyman, Mrs. W. H. Rice, Dr. C. H. Wetmore, E. N. Holmes, and also Honomu Sugar Co., Hilo Sugar Co., H. Hackfeld & Co., T. H. Davies & Co., Hoffschlager & Co., W. C. Peacock & Co., Hilo Mercantile Co., and the Honolulu Library Association.
