A TWIRLING TORNADO

ACCOMPANIED BY A TERRIFIC CLOUD BURST.

Struck the Town of Akron, Ohio, and Almost Devastated the Place—Many Persons Were Injured, and Great Damage to Property is Reported.

CLEVELAND, May 10.—A Leader special from Akron, Ohio says: At 5:30 this evening, in the midst of a most terrific cloudburst, this city was struck by the worst tornado, beyond comparison, which has ever been known hereabouts, and excepting perhaps the Sharon cyclone of just a month ago. The storm struck the southern part of the city and tore through the Fifth, Fourth, and Second wards, doing damage which cannot be estimated at this writing, but fully one hundred buildings are completely demolished. Hundreds more are badly damaged. The house of Dominick G. Reads, at Cross and Washington streets, was unroofed, and Mrs. Reads was slightly injured. Along Brown, Kline and Wheeler streets, a dozen or more houses were more or less damaged, some being moved bodily from their foundations and others completely unroofed. The wind struck Gebhardt Herman's house. The family of nine persons had just sat down to supper in the kitchen. The tornado struck the house and hurled the dining-room like a flying top, landing it fifty feet away.

All the occupants were more or less bruised. Mr. Herman was pinned down in the debris, and only the energy of despair when he smelt the odor of the fire near him enabled him to extricate himself. Recovering, he found his little girl burning by the overturned stove, and before the flames could be extinguished she was frightfully burned about the back and limbs. C. C. Baker's grocery was torn to pieces. His wife and daughters were in the building, but they escaped to the cellar and were saved. Baker is missing, and it is feared that he is dead in the ruins. E. S. Harrington's house was crushed in upon his four children, but luckily all escaped.

Mrs. Irish and her two children managed to reach the cellar of their house before the crash, but Mr. Irish was caught by a heavy timber and his spine was seriously injured. Mrs. Irish was probably fatally injured. All descriptions of the storm show that it was rotary in its motion, and this is shown by the skewing of the buildings it struck and the twisting of the big trees in its path. The track was between 50 and 150 feet wide.

CLouDBURST IN PENNSYLVANIA.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 10.—A terrible cloudburst passed over this evening, this evening, in a few minutes East Main street was flooded two feet deep with water for the first time in its history. Considerable damage was done to the roads. The New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio and the Erie and Pittsburgh railroads are impassable below town.

PEOPLE KILLED IN KANSAS.
FREDONIA, KAN., May 10.—Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock a heavy wind passed through this country in a northeasterly direction, destroying J. Anderson's barn, two miles from here. The storm again struck the ground ten miles further on, destroying much property and killing Mrs. Frank Glidden and dangerously injuring Mr. Glidden and child, and killing Harvey Wiltz, aged fifteen.

DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO IN MISSOURI.
BLYTHEDALE, MO., May 10.—A tornado passed north of this city last night, completely wrecking many houses, barns, and outbuildings. The family of Henry Young were all injured, Mrs. Young fatally.

PENSION BILLS PUT THROUGH.

The Senate Passes Them at the Rate of Two a Minute.

The Senate yesterday afternoon took up the individual pension bills on the calendar, and passed all of them (185) in an hour and a half. Among them were bills increasing the pensions of the widows of Rear Admirals Davis and Nicholson to $100 a month; of the widow of Capt. Thornton, of the Navy, to $50; of the widows of Gen. I. Ward and Gen. Alex. Schimmelpenninck to $50; giving pensions to two stepmothers and two foster mothers; to three widows of soldiers of the war of 1812; and to several army nurses ($12); and one granting a pension of $20 a month to John Swearer, a Mason, who had volunteered to assist in the defense of Fort Sumter, and who was the first man wounded there, and the first wounded in the War of the Rebellion.

HOLDING ON TO SILVER.

None Exported Last Week in Anticipation of Action by Congress.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The exports of specie from the port of New York last week amounted to $12,600, all gold, of which $1,200 went to Europe and $11,400 to South America. The imports of specie amounted to $607,540, of which $17,964 was in gold and $589,576 in silver. This is the first week in many years that no silver was exported from this port, and this exception is undoubtedly due to the anticipated silver legislation. All the silver imported came from Europe, an abnormal movement also resulting from the anticipated silver legislation. Money on call has been easy with no loans, and closing offered at 5 Bar silver, 104.

19TH ISSUE OF STOCK.

The assets are $1,119,062.17, and last year the receipts were over $1,012,000.

The Equitable is the largest Building Association in the United States, and its great success practically demonstrates the benefits that can be secured by a cooperative saving and loan association.

Additional information can be obtained from the secretary, John Joy Edson, Equitable Building, 1063 F street.

HEARD HUNDREDS OF MILES.

Lillian Russell Sings in New York to an Audience in Washington.

The Chesapeake Telephone Company gave an interesting exhibition of long-distance telephoning at their office, Fourteenth and G streets. A large number of invitations had been issued to newspaper men and other citizens. A large table was spread in the center of the room, and opposite each chair was placed an ordinary receiving instrument, connecting by wire with the main telephone of the office, while at the end of the room were three large funnel-shaped cones, which, at different periods of the evening, played important parts in the programme. President Bryan briefly outlined the various events, which consisted of songs, speeches, banjo and guitar solos from Philadelphia, New York, and Boston. Lillian Russell sang an aria from "The Brigands," while in the office of the Casino in New York, and she was rapturously applauded by the listeners at this end of the line. Herr Van Vechten at the telephone office, 134 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, sang also, while a banjo solo from Courland street, New York; a cornet solo from Boston, and a lecture from Philadelphia were also well received. Among the devices exhibited was a cabinet of plate glass in which senders enter to send messages, and no matter what noise is going on outside it cannot disturb the sending or receiving inside the cabinet. After an address by President Bryan, in which he traced the telephone from its origin down to the present time, a fine supper was served to the guests.

Express Messenger Crawford Skipped to Honduras, But Couldn't Avoid American Detectives—He Confessed, and Was Brought Home—$32,000 Recovered.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 10.—Edmund Sturges Crawford, charged with having on May 4, 1888, while a messenger of the American Exchange Bank, of New York, stolen $41,000 which was given him to be conveyed to the Adams Express Company's office in that city, was arrested to-night on the arrival at this port of the steamship Signe, from Ruanan Island, Honduras. The package which Crawford carried to the express was sealed. It was addressed to the Treasury Department at Washington, and when it reached there the parcel was found to consist of slips of blank paper. The express company paid the loss after a few weeks' fruitless detective work. Crawford resigned his position as bank messenger and went to Central America. On March 22 of this year Crawford was arrested in Spanish Honduras by detectives who had shadowed him. He confessed that he stole the money, of which over $32,000 was found on him. Papers for Crawford's extradition were issued by Gov. Hill, of New York, and on these he was brought back. The Signe is a small fruit steamer plying between this port and Honduras. She left Ruanan Island last month, and Pinkerton detectives in this city have been watching for her arrival. She reached a point off the lower part of the city to-night, and Crawford was taken off on a tug, landed here and hurried to New York on a late train.

Randall, came into court to-day in answer to mandamus issued by Judge Thayer yesterday. After a brief argument of the points in dispute, Judge Thayer dismissed the case, saying the court had no jurisdiction, as the rules of the Democratic party provided a tribunal (the executive committee) for the settlement of such contests.

He had been in the bank for years, and occupied a high social position. Stock speculation was the cause.

THE KEMMLER HABEAS CORPUS.

Final Decision in the Case to be Reached Next Month.

ALBURN, N. Y., May 10.—The hearing in the return of a writ of habeas corpus in the case of William Kemmler, the murderer, was held before Judge Underwood this morning.

Bourke Cockran and C. S. Hatch appeared for Kemmler, Attorney General Tabor for the people.

By stipulation argument was waived, but a statement was made by Mr. Cockran of the particular point raised, that the Legislature has not the constitutional power to take from the sheriff, who is a constitutional officer, his power to inflict capital punishment, that having been one of his powers from time immemorial and to confer those powers upon an appointive officer.

"When the people confer upon an officer by popular suffrage certain duties to perform," said Lawyer Cockran, "the courts have always held that the power granted by constitutional enactment shall not be taken away. In other words it cannot be taken from a sheriff and given to the agent and warden of a prison, or to any other individual."

Mr. Cockran stated that it was stipulated that the production of the prisoner in court should be waived, but that in obedience to the writ issued by Judge Corbett the agent and warden had filed a return, stating that Kemmler was held by virtue of a warrant of the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County, and that to this return he, on behalf of the prisoner, entered a demurrer denying sufficiency of return.

With consent of the Attorney General a pro forma order was granted by Judge Underwood overruling the demurrer and remanding the prisoner to the custody of the agent and warden upon the understanding that an appeal should be taken at once to the General Term, where the order now made should be affirmed without argument in June, and an appeal from that decision taken immediately to the Court of Appeals, where the matter might be argued and finally decided some time in June. The Attorney General stated that he should interpose no objection to the step proposed tending to expedite matters.

A WARNING TO BISMARCK.

THE KAISER GIVES HIM A FRIENDLY TIP TO KEEP STILL.

The Ex-Chancellor Still Clings to the Belief That He will be Recalled to Get Germany Out of the Hole Young William is Dragging Her Into.

(Copyright by New York Associated Press.)
BERLIN, May 10.—Prince Bismarck during the week received several communications from the Emperor couched in friendly terms, but practically suggesting that his retirement from office should involve political inactivity.

Herren Bucher and Poschinger stayed two days at Friedrichsruhe, and left impressed with the conviction that the ex-Chancellor considered himself still the most potent influence in the Empire, believing that the Emperor ere long will be obliged to recall him to extricate the government from the difficulties into which he will have plunged it. He freely expressed his discontent because the Emperor in the speech from the throne omitted reference to his dismissal. The Emperor denies that "dismissal" is the right phrase. If the Prince had not several times offered to resign the Emperor would not have taken advantage of the last threat to part with him. The threat was first made verbally, and was not accepted; then a request for permission to resign was made in writing, and was granted.

The Freisinnige Zeitung is gaining a bad notoriety through its publication of scandals in regard to Prince Bismarck. It declares that a medical specialist knows that the ex-Chancellor is suffering from alcoholism and not the morphia habit. Bismarck's friends do not heed the attacks, and even his enemies are disgusted by them.

KEEPING UP THE BOOM.

The Bulls Have All They Can Do to Prevent Successful Bear Raids.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The stock market to-day maintained the large volume of business common of late, and 212,474 shares of listed stocks and 49,913 of unlisted stocks were traded in. The market, however, had a tired look, and prices sagged away during the greater portion of the session, although the general feeling is still very bullish and the undertone remains strong. The leaders are outspoken on the bull side. The reactionists at every opportunity, when the supporters of the different stocks relax their efforts, make a drive at that point with the result of making, as to-day, a feverish and irregular market for the time being.

The will forbids the trustees to invest in Irish real estate. It permits them to invest in American public funds.

Pensions for Sultana Survivors.

The bill recalls one of the most thrilling and pathetic incidents of the war and one of its most terrible disasters. Only about 300 of the 2,300 passengers are now alive, about 1,700 having been killed, burned, or drowned at the time.
