

MICRONESIA.

JOURNAL LETTER FROM REV. R. W. LOGAN, OCTOBER 2, 1885, TO MARCH 8, 1886, EX MOUNTAIN STAR.

Titus' ulcers have not improved under treatment, and he has become discouraged. The medicines were painful, and at his desire I have discontinued them, except the use of the iodine of potassium internally. He had talked of going back to Ponape. I proposed to him the other day, instead of going back to Ponape where he could be of no service, that he take a field here, and do what he could. His wife could teach school, and he could do much by his presence and advice, and could also do some preaching. He says if we can find a people who will accept such a forlorn object as he, he will be willing to do what he can.

Mr. Worth and I went to Utet, hoping they would want him there. We feel anxious to get a light burning there, as it is very favorably situated for spreading the light among a large population in the west part of the lagoon. But the people bluntly refused; they want only a white missionary. We came away with heavy hearts. The northeast trade winds were blowing in their strength, so we had a fine run before them to Utet, but coming back it was nearly a dead beat, and we were six hours in getting home, and I was so sea sick that I did not get over it for some days. There are doubtless other places where the people would be glad to get Titus, but he is not able to see to the work of building a house to live in, or a place of worship.

Solomon, of Losap, is here with his sick wife Susan. She has a kind of paralysis. She was one of our best, very efficient, and very lady like. Her mind seems shattered, and her case is I suppose hopeless. She has something like fits. Both Solomon and Susan enjoyed their work, and we hope he will not be permanently lost to it.

The food question still perplexes us as the breadfruit crop comes in very slowly. We have some most every day but not enough for all.

The morning temperature at this season is often delicious; in fact, I think there are more hours of comfortable temperature here than in any part of America. The captain of the trading schooner has trouble in dealing with the natives. They have very little idea of values, and get angry when they do not get so much for their produce as they want. A plan was laid to kill him the other night, but we heard of it and put him on his guard. I have a daily lesson with the teachers who are here, in which Mr. and Mrs. Worth join in the exercises. They have never had them in Ponape, so I want to help them to understand them. We have also a reading lesson daily with those who can read in the Testament. The interest in meetings is good. Mr. Worth is repairing Moses' boat, a job which will require several weeks' hard work.

February 8th.—We went the other day to Tunk on the north side of this island. There is a church there, which has a "name to live." They have been two years without a teacher, and no one there can read. The church building is sadly dilapidated, and the teachers house uninhabitable. I broached the subject of bringing them Titus for their teacher, with fear and trembling, but they said they would like to have him come. The next Sunday Solomon went and preached for them, and they renewed their request for Titus. Last week we took them over. They live for the present in a small vacant house, with the promise that the "parsonage" shall be speedily repaired. On the north side of Tolos they have begun to have Christian services by themselves. We went there the other day, and had an encouraging visit. The next Sunday the chief man came to Anapau to attend our services. We hope the work will progress there. They have set apart a piece of land on which to build a church, and say they will go on and build. I asked why they wanted to be Christians, and they answered that they were tired of war.

We begin to fear that the Morning Star may not come back at all until the regular trip next fall or winter. It will be a sore trial to us. But now comes the schooner Franziska from Jaluit and Ponape with news that the Morning Star was in the Marshall Islands in December so we may look for her very soon. We learn also that she is not to go on to Yap this year, so our time for letter writing will be curtailed. We had planned to do our writing while the Star was gone to Yap. It seems there is a dispute between Spain and Germany as to the sovereignty of the group. It would seem to us disastrous to have Spain get possession. They would likely send Catholic missionaries, and perhaps forbid our work altogether.

We send a small mail by the Franziska to Hongkong. We have had four very nice clusters from the Brazilian bananas we brought from Honolulu. They averaged about 110 bananas to the cluster. The straitness in the food supply is not yet over, but there is progress. We hear that at the low islands the people are suffering severely. (To be continued.)

WILLIAM WALL, Manager.

Great Excitement in Wales

about a Marvellous Cure.

Living Six Years Without Going to Bed.

Mr. ERYN.—While spending a few days at the pleasant seaside town of Aberystwith, Carlliganshire, Wales, I heard related what seemed to me either a fabulous story or a marvellous cure. The story was that a poor sufferer who had not been able to lie down in bed for six long years, given up to die by all the Doctors, had been speedily cured by some Patent Medicine. It was related with the more implicit confidence from the circumstances, as was said, that the Vicar of Llanystryl was familiar with the facts, and could vouch for the truth of the report.

Having a little curiosity to know how such stories grow in travelling, I took the liberty with, at the vicar's house, I Llanystryl, to call upon the Vicar, the Rev. T. Evans, and to enquire about this wonderful cure. Though a total stranger to him, both he and his wife most graciously entertained me in a half hour's conversation, principally touching the case of Mr. Pugh, in which they seemed to take a deep and sympathetic interest, having been familiar with his sufferings, and now rejoiced in what seemed to them a most remarkable cure.

The Vicar remarked that he recalled his name had been connected with the report from his having mentioned the case to Mr. John Thomas, a chemist of Llanon. He said Mr. Pugh was formerly a resident of their parish, but was now living in the parish of Llandudno. He strongly vouched Mr. Wm. Pugh's character as a respectable farmer and worthy of credit. I left the venerable Vicar with a livelier sense of the happy relation of a pastor and people, feeling that he was one who truly sympathized with all who are afflicted in mind, body, or estate.

On my return to Aberystwith, I was impressed with a desire to see Mr. Pugh, whose reputation stood so high. His farm is called Panoem-Mawr, signifying "above the dingle," situated near the summit of a smooth round hill, overlooking a beautiful valley in which is situated the lovely, by-mountain Church of Llandudno. I found Mr. Pugh, apparently about 40 years old, of medium height, rather slight, with a pleasant and intelligent face. I told him I had heard of his great affliction and his remarkable and almost miraculous relief, and that I had come to learn from his own lips, what there was of truth in the reports.

Mr. Pugh remarked that his neighbors had taken a kindly and sympathetic interest in his case for many years, but of late their interest had been greatly awakened by a happy change in his condition. What you report as having heard about me, said he, is substantially true, with one exception. I never understood that my case was ever given up as hopeless by any Physician. I have been treated by several Doctors hereabouts, as good as any in Wales, but unfortunately no prescription of theirs ever brought the desired relief.

Fifteen years ago, he said, I first became conscious of a sour and deranged stomach and loss of appetite, which the Doctors told me was Dyspepsia. What food I could hold in my stomach seemed to do me no good and was often thrown up with painful retchings. This was followed after a time with a hoarseness and a raw soreness of the throat which the Doctors called bronchitis, and I was treated for that, but with little success. Then came shortness of breath and a sense of suffocation, especially nights, with clammy sweat, and I would have to get out of bed and sometimes open a door or window in winter weather to fill my lungs with the cold air.

About six years ago I became so bad that I could not sleep in bed, but had to take my uneasy rest and dreamy sleep sitting in an armchair. My affliction seemed to be working downward into my bowels as well as upwards into my lungs and throat. In the violent coughing spasms which grew more frequent, my abdomen would expand and escape, and at times it would seem that I should suffocate. All this time I was reduced in strength so that I could perform no hard labor and my spirits were consequently much depressed.

Early in this last spring I had a still more severe spasmodic attack, and my family and
