PONAPE UNDER SPANISH RULE.

Letters from Ponape via Manilla and Hongkong bring the news that a Spanish man-of-war came to that island during the last week in July. The commander took formal possession of the island. The various Kings and chiefs, in answer to summons sent to them, came to the vessel and put their marks to a document acknowledging Donna Maria Christina of Spain, as their accepted sovereign. The story is that some two months later another vessel will come bringing a governor, 100 soldiers, 50 laborers, 6 priests, with cattle, lumber, etc. The captain of the man-of-war said that the harbor should be a free port of entry, that the natives would be allowed to retain their lands, and the chiefs their titles, and no passport system would prevent freedom of travel, religious tramping would be unrestricted, and everything would be mild and lovely under Spanish rule. A responsible government, having regard to rights and right, is what is needed there as well as elsewhere, not a so-called strong government of enforced obedience to some one man's will. Under the present tribal system of rule no protection is assured to life or to property, and there has been danger of the vilest elements of all nationalities settling down on that fertile and beautiful isle, and making it a den of evil beasts. If Spain will give needed stability to the social order, capital will not be slow to find its way there. The rich soil and genial skies will under suitable cultivation yield generous returns to add to the comfort and wealth of the world at large.

A MISAPPREHENSION RECTIFIED.

Our "comparatively youthful" morning contemporary seems to possess a degree of that "sensitivity" which he unjustly attributed to us a few days ago. He is "warming up" on the harbor question. As far as we are concerned, our position has not been, in our opinion, shaken in the slightest. Our only reason for reverting to the matter in response to our contemporary, in the first instance, was to correct what we believed to be misapprehensions on his part. A disposition to hypercriticism could have found flaws in the article that were passed unnoticed. And our only reason for again recurring to the subject is to rectify what we believe to be another misapprehension, in this morning's Herald, which says, "The reclaimed land was all formed of material obtained in deepening and extending the harbor." Many a "cubic foot of land" was added to that reef for which there was not a corresponding "cubic foot of water" added to "the space available for sea going vessels." The writer has seen many cubic feet of the land in question made up from landward, of material that did not come out of the harbor.

KAUAI NOTES.

The steamer Iwalani has been so punctual and so regular since running to Kauai, that even a delay of a few hours causes anxiety to the inhabitants here, and the people wondered why she did not come on Wednesday morning, and thought it must have rained so hard in Honolulu that it delayed the shipping of freight. Again on Thursday the steamer was looked for, and still she did not come. The Iwalani usually arrives at 4 A. M., but it was after 7 A. M. when the Makee's whistle was heard. It was very rough, and a pretty bad landing was made. Mr. Rice, who has been in Honolulu for the past three weeks, returned; as did also Mr. S. M. Wilcox. Mrs. Dr. Smith, of Koloa, who made a long visit to her daughter in Honolulu, also returned. Mrs. Waterhouse and family accompanied her. Mrs. Smith has been missed very much, and every one is glad to have her back again. Mr. Sinclair, of Nihaun, and his friend Mr. Robinson, are making the tour around Kauai. Mr. Hahn, of San Francisco, the father of Mrs. Ahlborn, came to Lihue this week on a visit to his daughter, thereby giving her a happy surprise.

There has been considerable rain, making the country look green, and the planters prophesy a fine crop. Already the cane in Lihue is beginning to tassel, and the fields look very fine. A new maceration mill is being added to the machinery of Lihue Plantation, and under the superintendance of Mr. Koppe, the engineer, the work will soon be completed. It is said that this is the first plantation in which a complete maceration mill has been introduced.

A party of gentlemen from Koloa and vicinity has been out on a shooting expedition, and although it is rather early to shoot plover, still wild ducks and turkeys abound, and one rarely returns empty handed from the chase.

Mr. Lowell, a resident of Nawiliwili for more than half a century, breathed his last on Friday, the 22nd. He was over 80 years of age. He left two sons and one daughter, all of whom have been married and settled in Waialua for some years.

HAMAKUA.

Judge Lyman is in town hearing tax appeal cases of which there appear to be quite a number this year. Major Lumahiehi has been duly appointed road supervisor for this district in place of Mr. Charles Williams. It is to be hoped that in addition to getting his commission, he will also get some money to spend on the roads.

Preparations are being made for celebrating the 16th of November on a grand scale. Two enterprising native women made a tour through the district collecting money for a feast in Waipio. They succeeded in raising about $60, and when they started for home, tied up the silver in a shawl on the back of the saddle. When they reached Waipio and took off the shawl, they found to their dismay that it had all leaked out, and, needless to say, was lost forever.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. NOTT.

At 7:30 o'clock last evening, the committee—C. E. Williams, Geo. Lucas, and M. D. Monserat—appointed by the Board of Representatives of the Honolulu Fire Department, at their last meeting, and the foreman of each company, with the Engineers, assembled at the residence of ex-Chief Mr. John Nott, for the purpose of presenting him with the testimonial described in this paper some days ago. The presentation was made by Mr. C. E. Williams, with appropriate remarks. Mr. Nott returned thanks, and the occasion being the thirty-first anniversary of his marriage, he invited the firemen into the dining room to partake of refreshments. During the repast several toasts were drunk, after which the party adjourned to the parlor, where the balance of the evening was spent in music, &c. During the evening Mr. Nott presented to the foreman or each company a photograph of himself, neatly framed. The firemen took their departure at about 10:30 o'clock, wishing Mr. Nott a hearty adieu.

NEW HYDRANT.

A sample hydrant, claimed to be the most improved of any now made, can be seen at E. O. Hall & Son's. This hydrant will stand, when placed in position, about three feet above ground. It has one brass finished nozzle 4 1/2 inches wide, for the fire engines to connect with, and two small brass finished nozzles three inches wide, for hose without steam. The arrangements are such that water can be thrown through three different lines of hose. This hydrant will be placed at the head of Emma street next Saturday, and on that afternoon it will be tested. It will be taken up afterwards, placed in another street, and again tested. If it proves satisfactory, as it probably will, Mr. C. B. Wilson, Chief Engineer of the Honolulu Fire Department, will do his utmost to have the city furnished with hydrants of the same description.

HIS MAJESTY'S BIRTHDAY.

Commodore Philip Caduc, of the Pacific Yacht Club, forwarded by the Alameda the following reply to the recent invitation of His Majesty the King:

To His Most Gracious Majesty Kamehameha, King of Hawaii—Sir: I have had the honor to receive by the hand of Colonel John D. Spreckels, Your Majesty's most gracious invitation to the Pacific Yacht Club to participate in the festivities which will celebrate at the Royal Palace, at Honolulu, the fiftieth anniversary of Your Majesty's birthday.

This most special mark of favor you have further enhanced by offering three most liberal prizes for a competitive ocean race by the yachts to the scene of your festivities.

The Pacific Yacht Club desire me most respectfully and cordially to thank Your Majesty for this distinguished honor you have done them, by your most kind and generous invitation, but at the same time express their sincere regret that owing to the lateness of the season, and that several of the yachts are already laid up and out of commission, it will be impossible to accept Your Majesty's so kindly proffered hospitality, and to personally unite with your court and people in expressing their heartfelt wishes for a long continuance of your prosperous reign; but although so far distant they join me in wishing your continued health, a long life and very many happy returns of the day. In this hope permit me, sir, to subscribe myself Your Majesty's most obedient servant.

PHILIP CADUC,
 Commodore of the Pacific Yacht Club.

COLUMBUS CELEBRATION.

The following letter has been received by Signor Celso Caesar Moreno from Senator George F. Hoar in regard to the Monument to Christopher Columbus, to be unveiled in Washington on the 12th of October, 1892, the fourth centennial discovery of America:

Worcester, Mass., September 23, 1886.—My dear sir: I received and read with great pleasure your interesting communications in regard to the statue of Columbus. I addressed to you a letter in acknowledgment, which I hope was duly received. The debt of America to Italy is immeasurable. Not only her discovery by Christopher Columbus, which more than doubled the area of civilization on the globe, is due to Italian genius, but Italy has been her instructor and guide in government, laws, eloquence, sciences, poetry and art. I hope the noble work in which you take so deep an interest will be accomplished. I am respectfully and faithfully yours,
 GEORGE F. HOAR.

To Celso Caesar Moreno, Esq.,
 Washington, D. C.

The following letter has been received by Signor Celso Caesar Moreno from Senator John Sherman in regard to the monument to Christopher Columbus:

Mansfield, Ohio, Sept. 18, 1886.—Dear Sir: Your note of the 16th is received. I have been absent off and on, but the National Republican sent me were duly received, and the articles marked were read and were quite interesting. The subject-matter of the commemoration of Christopher Columbus by a monument to be erected at Washington will be fully considered upon our return there, and no doubt the committee will be pleased to hear you upon the subject. Very truly yours,
 JOHN SHERMAN.
 Mr. Celso Caesar Moreno, Washington, D. C.—[National Publican.]
