THE BANK OF FRANCE.

Next to the Bank of England, the Bank of France is the largest and most important of all the other banks in Europe. Occupying very nearly the same position in France as the Bank of England does in this country, it is in many respects similar, and performs for the country the same kind of duties. The public moneys are deposited with the Bank of France; it alone has the sole right of issuing notes in that country. (This is what Sir Robert Peel would have attached to the privileges of the Bank of England, if he had been able; but usage and vested interests were too powerful.) Its capital is possessed by a proprietary whose liabilities are of a similar nature to those of any other banking institution. It opens accounts with properly introduced persons and keeps in its coffers the metallic reserves.

Having mentioned these analogies between these two great banks, there are points where their conduct diverges. The transactions of the Bank of England are on a larger scale, owing to the larger mercantile operations in this country. The commercial habits of the French are plainly indicated in the class of bill business which their chief bank undertakes. During the whole of last year, it discounted no fewer than 1,590,839 bills under £4, most of them payable at private addresses. It is an unusual thing for an English banker to take a bill under £10, and he will require satisfactory reasons for discounting bills payable at private addresses. It is presumed here that in such a case the acceptor cannot be a substantial man or he would have a banker.

Another point of divergence, again is in the government of the bank, wherein the French have shown their belief in the efficiency and effectiveness of Government control. Our own Government cannot in any way interfere with the operations of the Bank of England, except in respect of its note issue. The French Bank is presided over by a Governor, appointed by the Government, who also appoints the two Deputy Governors. The three highest offices are thus held by Government men; and the office of the Governor is held for life. It is his duty to see that the obligations imposed on the bank by the Government are in all respects carried out, and to act as the connecting link between it and the Government. In addition to Governor and two Deputy Governors, the General Assembly, consisting of two hundred of the largest shareholders, elect the General Council, which is made up of fifteen Regents and three Censors. The manufacturing and trading interests are supposed to be duly represented in the Council, for five of the Regents must be chosen from each of these bodies. There is yet another committee of twelve persons, who must be shareholders carrying on business in Paris, appointed by the Censors. This committee has the responsibility of examining and passing all the bills taken for discount.

The bank was established in 1803 by the Emperor Napoleon Bonaparte. Its constitution has been slightly modified from time to time, as circumstances have required. It has been successfully and prudently managed, though there have been times when its existence has been threatened. In 1848, during the revolution, it made large advances to the Government and to the city of Paris, which, combined with a severe drain on its gold, strained its resources to so great an extent that it was compelled to suspend specie payments. To lessen the evil of this measure and limit the inconvenience arising therefrom its notes were made and have continued to be legal tender.—[Chambers' Journal.]

THE "BULLETIN" SUMMARY.

No. 10.

Is now issued and will be found to be an interesting and comprehensive number, containing 40 columns of reading matter on local topics, and a complete resume of Honolulu and island news. There is no better paper published in the Kingdom to send to friends abroad. Subscription $2.50 per annum, including postage to foreign countries. To be had from J. H. Soper, Merchant street, A. M. Hewett, Merchant street, and BULLETIN Office.

It seems that Lord Tennyson's last volume has not exhausted all his unpublished pieces. One of the manuscripts still in his portfolio is a rhymed epitaph on his former neighbor at the Isle of Wight, the late Dr. Ward, a man famous at Oxford some forty years ago as a Tractarian leader, and later as the very Ultramontane editor of the Dublin Review. The epitaph, as well as reminiscences and correspondence furnished by Lord Selborne, Prof. Jewett, Dean Church, Cardinal Newman and John Stuart Mill, will appear in the biography of Dr. Ward, which is in preparation by his son.

Music, it is thought, is likely soon to be introduced systematically in the public schools of Massachusetts.

Great Excitement in Wales about a Marvellous Cure.

Living Six Years Without Going to Bed.

Mr. EDDON.—While spending a few days at the pleasant seaside town of Aberystwyth, Cardiganshire, Wales, I heard related what seemed to me either a fabulous story or a marvellous cure.
The story was that a poor sufferer who had not been able to lie down in bed for six long years, given up to die by all the Doctors, had been speedily cured by some Patent Medicine. It was related with the more implicit confidence from the circumstance, as was said, that the Vicar of Llanrystyd was familiar with the facts, and could vouch for the truth of the report.

Having a little curiosity to know how such stories grow in travelling, I took the liberty while at the village of Llanrystyd to call upon the Vicar, the Rev.
T. Evans, and to enquire about this wonderful cure. Though a total stranger to him, both he and his wife most graciously entertained me in a half hour's conversation, principally touching the case of Mr. Pugh, which they seemed to take a deep and sympathetic interest, having been familiar with his sufferings, and now rejoiced in what seemed to them a most remarkable cure.
He strongly vouched Mr. Wm. Pugh's character as a respectable farmer and worthy of credit. I left the venerable Vicar with a livelier sense of the happy relation of a pastor and people, feeling that he was one who truly sympathized with all who are afflicted in mind, body, or estate.

On my return to Aberystwyth, I was impressed with a desire to see Mr. Pugh, whose reputation stood so high. His farm is called Fancome-Mawr, signifying "above the single," situated near the summit of a smooth round hill, overlooking a beautiful valley in which is situated the lovely ivy-mantled Church of Llanddeiniol. I found Mr. Pugh, apparently about 40 years old, of medium height, rather slight, with a pleasant and intelligent face. I told him I had heard of his great affliction and of his remarkable and almost miraculous relief, and that I had come to learn from his own lips, what there was of truth in the report.

Mr. Pugh remarked that his neighbors had taken a kindly and sympathetic interest in his case for many years, but of late their interest had been greatly awakened by a happy change in his condition. "What you report as having heard abroad, said he, is substantially true, with one exception. I never understood that my case was ever given up as hopeless by any Physician. I have been treated by several Doctors hereabouts, as good as any in Wales, but unfortunately no prescription of theirs ever brought the desired relief.

Fifteen years ago, he said, I first became conscious of a distressing disorder, a constant and increasing weight upon my stomach and loss of appetite, which the Doctors told me was Dyspepsia. What food I could hold in my stomach seemed to do me no good and was often thrown up with painful retchings. This was followed after a time with a constancy and a raw soreness of the throat which the Doctors called bronchitis, and I was treated for that, but with little success. Then came shortness of breath and a sense of suffocation, especially at night, with a clammy sweat, would have to get out of bed and sometimes open a door or window in winter weather to fill my lungs with the cold air.

The Vicar remarked that he presumed his name had been connected with the report from his having mentioned the case to Mr. John Thomas, a chemist of Llanon. He said Mr. Pugh was formerly a resident of his parish, but was now living in the parish of Llanddeiniol.
This medicine they administered to me according to the directions, when to their surprise and delight no less than my own, the spasm ceased. I became at ease, and my stomach was calmed. My bowels were moved by a happy event, and I felt that my stomach and bowels have been and are being thoroughly renovated and renewed by the medicine. In fact I feel like a new man.

Early in this last spring I had a still more severe spasmodic attack, and my family and neighbors became alarmed, believing that certainly I would not survive, when a neighbor, who had some knowledge, or had heard of the medicine, sent to Aberystwyth by the driver of the Omnibus Post, some seven miles distant, and fetched a bottle of Mother Selgel's Curative Syrup.

I have been much congratulated by my neighbors, especially by the good Vicar of Llanrystyd, with his sympathetic wife, have come three miles to shed tears of joy on my recovery.

I bade Mr. Pugh good-bye, happy that even one at least among thousands had found a remedy for an aggravating disease.

About six years ago I became so bad that I could not sleep in bed, but had to take my unquiet rest and dreamy sleep sitting in an armchair. My affliction seemed to be working downward into my bowels as well as upwards into my lungs and throat. In the violent coughing spasms which grew more frequent, my abdomen would expand and collapse and at times it would seem that I should suffocate. All this time I was reduced in strength so that I could perform no hard labor and my spirits were consequently much depressed.

Believing this remarkable case of Dyspeptic Asthma should be known to the public, I beg to submit the above facts as they are related to me.

Let me have a mild

CIGAR

THE ABOVE REQUEST IS HEARD daily in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undisputed fact that most smokers prefer a mild cigar and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported from Manilla, will, after having thoroughly injured the stomach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, if they could find the right kind.

How many thousands of smokers who suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervous irritability, asthma, etc., and who have tried all possible remedies without success, might be cured if they knew that their sufferings were caused by the impure use of strong cigars, and that they should only smoke mild and properly prepared ones.

It is a fact that all mild cigars agree with the system, for in most cases there is a lack of care in the selection of the tobacco, and often the necessary experience for it is wanting, yet there is one brand which suits the most fastidious smoker, and that is

ENGELBRECHT'S

"Sampler" Health Cigar

Which is made from mild, aromatic and particularly selected and prepared tobacco, and combines all the qualities which may be expected from a health cigar. It causes no bad effect of any kind, is agreeable to the taste, burns evenly to the end and possesses a fine aroma. No smoker should fail to give
