STRAY NOTES.

By Antishamus.

The booby act being played by the Minister of Interior—"rule or ruin" is too dignified a phrase to describe it—will tend to make all sensible citizens rejoice in the prospect of an early close of such nursery administration.

One of the lunas whose pay on the Volcano Road the Auditor wouldn't audit was that militant supporter of the present "order" who a few months ago tried to establish accord with the administration by brandishing a pistol in quiet people's faces about town.

This is a changeable world. Nothing connected with it changes more easily or rapidly than the sentiments and attitudes of its inhabitants.

It is not, as a correspondent of the Advertiser says, that the Auditor-General is given the power to direct that prison or other labor shall be employed here or there.

See-sawing on a plank is a favorite amusement of school boys, and, sad to say, too many carry a certain bad impression thereof into manhood and all through life.

It is rumored that a proposed appointment by the Marshal in his own office has had to be countermanded because such a row was raised about it on the part of supporters of the Government who had greater claims on whatever good was going.

Recently I met on the street a gentleman who is a staunch "reformer," and as he showed a disposition to talk I gave him audience. Finding that I was a good listener, he became quite voluble, and capped a splendid flight of oratory thus: "The last Legislature was the finest aggregation of intellectuality, respectability, and integrity I have ever seen in the legislative hall of this country."

Orators have a fashion of saying, "Here is the whole argument in a nutshell." That is just exactly where the labor question is, as far as a majority of the planters are concerned. I admit and believe that a few exceptional gentlemen with sugar interests, intending to live and die in the country, feel concerned to the extent of desiring the importation of such labor as is best calculated to make a desirable permanent population.

Yes, I, too, liked that speech of Judge Deady. What he said about missionaries was good. The judge likes missionaries, but he seems to think that it is possible for them to have too much of their own way. Says he: "In a civilized country there must be something besides the missionary. There must be commerce, there must be freedom, and there must be government, and the missionary must take his place, not be all in all in the Government, and this country is passing through that stage."

Since actions at law in a couple of cases of alleged libel, now pending, were commenced, the subject of libel has somewhat agitated the social repose of this quiet little town. The familiar quotation of modern times has issued from many mouths—"the greater the truth the greater the libel"—and the prevailing notion among those who "know everything" seems to be, that it is both lawful and complimentary to say or attribute anything to another, provided it is untrue; but if it happens to be a fact then the law provides a pecuniary plaster to cover up the foul ulcer, and make compensation for crime. Now, let us see what view Justinian, an old-time believer in justice, takes of the matter. Says he, "Damage done by word the law may condone, mitigate, or conditionally nullify, but it has no power to remove or palliate the stigma which justly remains impressed upon an evil deed. If the recitation of a proven wrong could be held punishable, the rewards of innocence and virtue would be exaggerated deduction be regarded with contempt, inasmuch as crime would be allowed to claim equal immunities with honesty, and being of greater power, would eventually claim precedence."

These Filters are easily cleaned, and NEVER become CRACKED or CRAZED by change of temperature of the water filtered. The Filtering Medium is a NATURAL STONE, mined from the earth. It is unlike any other stone. It Does Not Absorb and Become Foul!

IMPURITIES never PENETRATE it, but lie on the surface, and internally the stone remains as pure and white after years of use as when taken from the mine. The Gate City Stone Filter is a perfect success. It is the only real filter I have ever seen. I would not be without one for any consideration. It converts our lake water into the best drinking water in the world. HENRY M. LYMAN, M. D., HANS PETERSEN, 533 West Adams St., Chicago.
