Judge William Foster presided in the Police Court this morning, after an absence of several weeks from illness.

The How Do You Like It team defeated the Iwilei nine by a score of twenty to ten on the League ground Saturday.

The Beretania street Armory was crowded on Saturday night. A large number took a spin round the hall on skates, while not a few rode the wheel. The cycling school is a grand success.

The Hook & Ladder Co. had a little feast Saturday evening in celebration of its 35th anniversary. Foreman Geo. K. Norton presided and the members with many guests had a jolly time.

Senhor A. de Souza Canavarro, Portuguese Commissioner, and Mons. Vizzavona, acting French Commissioner, visited the U. S. cruiser Boston this morning, receiving the usual salute on leaving.

There is a terrible stench emanating from the Japanese hotel on Merchant street, which should be attended to immediately by the health authorities. It comes from "soi" casks and is enough to breed malaria.

Cries of "haul in" were heard in the vicinity of Alapai street last night about 10 o'clock, and on investigation it was found to be a woman who in trying to detain the old man from going out with the "boys" had been maltreated.

Nothing further has transpired with regard to the proposed race between the Healani and Myrtle Boat Clubs. The Healani want to race and the Myrles want to race, but they neither have the heart to meet the other. Go play che fa.

In the Police Court this morning a Portuguese named Rosa da Costa charged his wife, also a Portuguese, with desertion. Da Costa is a laborer at the Waimanalo plantation. Mrs. Da Costa stated that she was scared to go back, fearing ill-treatment. Judge Foster reserved his decision until October 12.

The Liberal party held a caucus this morning and voted to move a resolution of want of confidence in the new Ministry on Wednesday. It was not a full meeting. There is a caucus of the Reform party this afternoon, whose proceedings have not transpired as this paper goes to press.

Geo. C. Ross, a California attorney, has brought a suit against Dr. S. S. Stambaugh in San Francisco for the recovery of $9335, counsel fees incurred in his defense of L. A. Powell, accused of the murder of editor Ralph S. Smith in San Mateo County, on Nov. 29, 1887. George C. Ross claimed $10,000 as his fee, but he has only received $875.

Shortly after last midnight a Bell telephone message from Waikane, on the Koolau side of the island, stated that a Chinese store there took fire at 12:15 a. m. and was burned to the ground, also that it was rumored some of the inmates had perished in the flames. Enquiry later in the day elicited the information that the Loo Ting Kee store was the one burned, but that there were no lives lost.

TRAGEDY ON KAUAI.

A Portuguese Shoots His Wife and Then Shoots Himself.

Under date of September 10th Sheriff Wilcox of Kauai writes: "Last Wednesday night a Portuguese named Fernandes, in a fit of jealousy, shot his wife, a Portuguese woman, the ball entering her back between the shoulders. After the shooting he ran into a canefield and very soon the report of his pistol was heard. As soon as it was light the next morning search was made for him, but up to the present time he has not been found, although a pool of blood was found in the cane where he had been evidently lying down. The canefield has been searched by myself and police and others. I offered a reward of $25 for the man or his body. The woman is alive still. Dr. Wolters says the ball is in her right lung. He hopes she will live, but says she may die any time. I got the Police Judge to make a visit to her and take down her evidence. The canefield that the fellow ran into is heavy plant cane, and if he succeeded in killing himself it will be almost impossible to find his body till the cane is cut."

THE LEGISLATURE.

EIGHTY-SEVENTH DAY.

MONDAY, SEPT. 12, 1892. Morning Session.

Assembly convened at 10 o'clock from adjournment of Friday morning the 9th inst. Prayer by Chaplain Waiamau. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Clerk McCarthy and Interpreter Wilcox and, as usual, were approved.

At 10:02, President Walker announced that he had received a communication from Her Majesty, which, on being read by Clerk McCarthy, proved to be an announcement that she had pleased Her Majesty to commission the following gentlemen as members of the Cabinet: Hon. E. C. Macfarlane, Minister of Finance; Hon. Samuel Parker, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Charles T. Gulick, Esq., Minister of Interior; and Hon. Paul Neumann, Attorney-General. (There was some slight applause on the announcement being made.)

The gentlemen named now entered and occupied their chairs, and in answer to a question by President Walker if they had taken the oath of office, Minister Macfarlane replied in the affirmative.

Minister Macfarlane said: Her Majesty has been pleased to place the conduct of the administration in the hands of himself and colleagues. It would be their endeavor to gain and keep the confidence of the members of the Legislature and the people which they represented. The Cabinet recognized the fact that many of the members were working here in the interests of the country at a personal sacrifice of both time and money. In order to expedite the business of the Assembly it was proposed to take a little time before the Cabinet moved in any of the matters before the House, and he would suggest that an adjournment be had to such time as may be satisfactory to the members.

Noble Thurston said that thirteen days ago the House exercised its prerogative and voted out the Cabinet. He had no opposition to make to that but the House had now again an opportunity to exercise its rights and he considered that no grant of time should be given. The Cabinet propose to gather up the threads dropped by the previous Cabinet. He moved adjournment until Wednesday to simply allow opportunity for the members to consider what course to adopt.

Rep. Kamaoha was in favor of an adjournment for one week. He believed that it was only just to give the new members of the Cabinet that much time.

Rep. Kauli favored the motion made by Noble Thurston that adjournment be held only till Wednesday next. Three-quarters of the Ministers now newly appointed were fully acquainted with the details of the business connected with their offices and the other quarter could easily obtain information from his colleagues, so that an adjournment for one week was not necessary.

Rep. Kanealii was in favor of adjournment for one week. He considered that it would be proper to have the House appoint a committee to draft a reply to the communication of Her Majesty and to state that the Assembly had confidence in the new Cabinet.

Rep. R. W. Wilcox moved an amendment to the motion of Noble Thurston to the effect that the House adjourn until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. A week's adjournment was not necessary. The Queen had done as requested, now it was the business of the House to show whether the new Ministers had their confidence or not. If he was the premier he would not ask for delay but would go right on with the work. He thought that the Cabinet already showed signs of weakness; they would have displayed more strength if they had not expressed a wish for any delay.

Rep. Kaunamano favored a week's adjournment. He believed that it was the due of the new Cabinet to be granted that time if not more. The Attorney-General (Neumann) had only been in office twenty-seven hours previously and he probably had been engaged during that time in thinking how he would remain in office than in becoming acquainted with the duties of his position. He agreed that it was only proper courtesy to give them one week to formulate a policy to present to the House.

Rep. Ashford said that it was not, as appearances seemed to indicate from the past, necessary for the Ministers to be acquainted with the duties of their offices. Heaven knows that they had not exhibited much ability in that line in the past. There were now two of the former Ministers back again and from the ability displayed by one of them, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, it was positive that experience was not necessary. The gentleman who has lately been appointed sponsor for the Cabinet requests a delay to allow their Cabinet to pick up the threads of their predecessors. He would suggest that no extra labor in brain or nerve force be used to get those threads together; it would be a waste of time as their labors will be unnecessary, after this 48 hours of adjournment is ended. The conduct of the new premier in his line of aerobatic politics might bring him a fortune some day in the future. He considered that one day was plenty of time in which to formulate expressions of the worth of this new Cabinet, that was time enough in which they would have the pleasure to relegate the gentlemen to the political oblivion which they deserved. What guarantee was there that these gentlemen would endeavor to learn the duties of their offices during a long adjournment? More probably they would be engaged in working roots to keep themselves in position. It would be only time lost if they should endeavor to pick up the threads of government, for their labors will be thrown aside and will have to be performed by others than the present Cabinet.

Rep. White favored an adjournment for one week; he had an axe to sharpen and he wished to see what the Ministers would do towards helping him. Other members also had axes to grind and they should wait also.

Rep. Ashford (interrupting)—I don't propose to have my axe sharpened at the Government grindstone.

Rep. White said that may be; the member from the third district knew whether the Ministers would help him or not; he did not yet know but wished to find out and wanted a week for that purpose. (Laughter.) He had the Lottery Bill to pull through, other members had other schemes, so he favored a week's adjournment.

Minister Neumann said that he had not intended to say anything, but, opportunity offering, he would now mention that the objection against the previous Cabinet was not against the personnel, but the lack of policy. He therefore considered it only fair if the House gave the Cabinet a proper time to formulate a policy to present to the Assembly. He did not think that Noble Thurston would have spoken as he did if he had given a little more thought to the matter. The member from the 3rd district (Ashford) was well known to be witty and was inclined to be sponetic, but he did not care for the benevolence in advice offered by him. If Rep. Ashford had such a regard for saving time he had had plenty of opportunity, during the previous meetings of the Assembly, to effectually have saved lots of time by being more silent. (Laughter.)

Noble Thurston said that there were certain principles involved in this matter which did away with the opportunity of the presentation of a policy, viz: the personality of the Cabinet, the manner of their appointment and their connection with the old Cabinet.

The questions were now put by President Walker (1) To adjourn for one week. Lost. (2) To adjourn until Wednesday-morning. Carried.

At 10:44 the Assembly dissolved until Wednesday.
