

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, But Established for the Benefit of All.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1893.

With all the advantages claimed by the P. G. from removal to the palace, it is to be hoped we shall soon hear of a reduction in the military expenditure.

Reports of the appearance of the new coffee plantations on Hawaii are encouraging. It is only a matter of a year or two now when coffee will loom up large in Hawaiian exports.

Rev. S. L. Desha of Hilo denies the report, previously published in this paper, that he had trouble with his congregation on the annexation question.

It is understood that since Mr. Spreckels' return from Kauai he has privately announced that he was out of Hawaiian politics. This fact was known before his return, and is quite likely to be emphasized, if either of these gentlemen (Spreckels and Irwin) attempt hereafter to manipulate Hawaiian politics for the purpose of carrying out the plans of the corporations they represent.

The above is an extract from the leading article of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of this morning. "Upon what meat doth this our Cæsar feed?" Where are we at? What form of government are we to have in which Messrs. Spreckels and Irwin are to cut no figure? And, presumably, to be consistent, any other men of brains and means? Can it be that Mr. John Emmeluth is arranging for the next deal? Auca!!!

There is not a gleam of intelligence in the last weekly statement of the Minister of Finance as to where or how the money was raised to pay Col. Spreckels his $95,000. It was reported that there had been no sale of bonds. The receipts of ordinary revenue for the week were small enough to preclude the theory that the money was obtained through any advances of taxes.

FOR FOREIGN CONSUMPTION.

As a steamer is due to leave for San Francisco to-day, it was only to be expected that the P. C. A. should have the usual trumpety article on "the situation," for foreign consumption only. Its contents impel one to wonder that the enterprise of the publishers does not lead them to save readers at home the pain of perusing this special article. It would not cost much to fill its place in the local edition with a judicial decision, or a sketch of some obscure actress or blue-stocking from the boiler-plate stock, and only let "the situation," as viewed through the frosted panes of the Advertiser sanctum, come to the eyes of people abroad who cannot decide whether it means a "situation wanted" or a "situation vacant." To-day's effort of our contemporary at portraying Hawaiian affairs from the front steps is a greater curiosity than the neglect of "Allan Dare" by the BULLETIN. It opens up with an assurance that "there is a growing feeling of personal safety and general security since the Provisional Government took possession of the old palace and converted it into a new executive building." From the tone and tenor of the Advertiser the past four months or so, one would never gather that there was any room for such a feeling to grow. There is nothing said to show how such a feeling has been fructified by the grand house-moving exploit, but its effect is said to have "been like that of a good endorsement on a doubtful note of hand." This comparison of the P. G. as it has stood hitherto with doubtful commercial paper hardly comports with provisions pictures of the situation in the same columns.

Next among the remarkable features of the situation noted is that the natives have been undecieved in their belief that "the backing of one royalist and his money meant defeat to the annexation cause." In enlarging on this point the chronicler of the day tacitly expresses great surprise that the P. G. was able to raise that $95,000, saying there is "no good reason why surprise should not be added to surprise during the next few months." So far as the "cause" is concerned, the surprises of the past few months have been rather unwelcome to its supporters. One great surprise to them was that out of a claimed registry of 6000 members of the Annexation Club, only 175 at the outside could be mustered at the heels of a brass band to make a farowell demonstration in honor of the retired United States Minister, whom they loved for his works' sake as a leading instrument in overturning the government of the country. One of the most surprising items in the situation the recorder does not mention. While he claims that there is a stampede of the natives to the annexation banner, he omits to state that enough of native supporters have not yet materialized, in the opinion of the P. G., to justify their being given one lone representative in the Councils of the Government. They have conceded the claim of the Portuguese to be represented but not that of the Hawaiian except in a thus far empty minute of proceedings. The Portuguese have guns, furnished to them at public expense. They are an element, it is no unkindness to say, which has no sentiment of patriotism toward Hawaii above whatever concerns their daily bread and a balance in stocking or bank. The Hawaiians love their country above everything, and delight in peace and quietness. They are without equipments of war and if otherwise would still be for peace to the last extreme. Therefore, the P. G. does not consider it necessary to conciliate them by measures of either justice or friendliness. They are even being bundled out of minor positions in the civil service as fast as the Councils can agree in secret session on the choice of candidates for their places. This is surprising to all who do not know to what elements the Provisional Government owes its vaunted security. It is further a matter of surprise, one noted by visiting military authorities, that the Government should have put itself wholly in the keeping of such elements, by dealing out to them for carrying about their persons, waking and sleeping, enough ammunition to make them masters of the situation.

Evidently the Advertiser regards the antagonism of Col. Spreckels to the Government as a matter for congratulation. Surely it does not at heart believe that the Government has benefited by losing the confidence of the largest individual taxpayer in the country. When the beginning of that gentleman's alienation is taken into consideration, the culmination of the difference becomes a matter for profound public regret. Col. Spreckels objected at first to what he deemed the unnecessarily large outlay for the military forces, which he with many others considered were more of a menace than a protection to the peace of the community. This is a view known to have been shared by some of the wisest heads in the Councils, but whose counsels in this regard were overruled by the more belligerent spirits. That Col. Spreckels should have observed at his first glance and then taken prompt cognizance of administrative follies is no reason for the insinuation of the Advertiser that he had undertaken to sway the destinies of the country. Our contemporary offers not a particle of evidence that Col. Spreckels assumed any more influence than ought to have been his proportionate share as not only a heavy taxpayer but a large creditor of the country. It is foolish, at all events, for the Advertiser to halloo in behalf of the Government before they are well out of the woods. And it is no proof of strength to crow over an antagonist before he has retired from the contest.

FOR THE P. G. NUT CRACKER.

Some Pertinent Questions Suggested by the Present Situation.

- EDITOR BULLETIN:— 1. Is there treason, sedition or rebellion in asking questions? 2. Was Kalakaua, vi et armis, compelled to assert that he was authorized and fully empowered to set aside the constitution substituted by Kamehameha V.? 3. Who compiled Kalakaua's constitution, or are its authors ashamed to own it? 4. Has the Supreme Court ever given deliverance to decisions in accordance with the wishes of its authors? 5. Did they lose their grip at the first election? 6. If Kalakaua had the power and right he was forced to claim and act upon, why do not his successors possess the same? 7. What sufficient proof is there that such claim has ever been made? 8. Was it ever intimated that a great advance was made when the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments were declared separate and distinct? 9. How are they now? 10. How much of the '87 Constitution remains? 11. By what can the constitutionality of late laws be tested? 12. Is the Chief Justice or the Chancellor the only officer holding over? 13. Is there to be a general election if the P. G. continues till the time for one arrives? 14. If the few Portuguese in Honolulu are entitled and allowed representation in the Council, is the right to the same privilege of whole islands, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, to be denied? 15. Are the Portuguese to select their man, and the Hawaiians theirs, or will they be selected after due scrutiny and a still hunt? 16. Is Honolulu the state? The answer to this last can easily be found in Fort and Merchant streets. It is, "if not why not," or as Meg Duds would say, "What for no?" Quiz. Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this Remedy before leaving home. For sale by all dealers. "August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I doctored after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a Water Brash of sick matter. Sometimes a deathly sickness at the Stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Irwin and Western Ave., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. I live with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. Saturday, June 3, 1893.

Next to the docking of the Oceanic the most important event in the maritime history of Honolulu was the arrival of the "Miowera" on Thursday. This adds to our already excellent service, a line of steamers on which the people of these islands may journey in comfort to the more northern cities on the American Continent. That the line will be a convenience to persons who wish to travel across the Continent via the great Canadian line no one will deny, but whether there will be sufficient demand for passage and freight to warrant the continuance of the service after the close of the World's Fair is a matter for conjecture. It is to be hoped that by that time affairs here will be settled and Honolulu will be the objective point of globe trotters of the Universe.

Frequent calls for a superior Anti Shaft Rattler prompted us to order from our Coast agent what in their judgment is the best contrivance of its kind in the United States. We received them by the steamer on Friday and can supply you with any number of sets desired. They are an indispensable article to people who ride and who want to get the comfort there is in the luxury. The cost is trifling.

Two days before the steamer arrived we were entirely cleaned out of our celebrated "Colorado" brands of oils and plenty of orders to fill. The steamer and the "Mary Winkelman" brought us a supply and we will be pleased to receive your orders. These brands of oils are now used on a majority of the plantations on the Islands and we confidently expect that in a twelvemonth the demand for it will be quite as great as for the Hendry Breaker which is now used on twenty-one different plantations. In both cases it is the superiority of the article that sells it. If you should try "Colorado Oils" once the effect would be a surprise to you. A postal card to address will bring to you a little book on Lubricating Oils that will be of interest to any person who handles machinery.

For weeks past there has not been a Mammoth Chimney in town; we supplied other dealers until our stock was exhausted and we were forced to sell the chimneys from our store lamps in order to supply our retail customers, even then we could not keep up with the demand. Now we have a large stock and can accommodate anyone who needs the articles. You know what we mean, those great big chimneys that are used on store lamps.

All of our lines have been filled up during the past week; the blacksmiths have the largest lot of Horse Shoes to draw from that it has ever been their good fortune to meet. The carpenter can have Nails galore and Tools without limit; and the man who wants a Wheelbarrow can be supplied here.

Last week we said something about Hose, good hose, 575 feet came on the "Australia" and remained with us just three days, the 1200 feet that came by the "Monowai" will probably last until the arrival of the next steamer, it's hard to say. Our sales of Hose are frequent because people want a good article and they know where to come for it. Hose Reels are an excellent accompaniment to hose because it adds to the life of the hose.
