The Daily Bulletin.

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, But Established for the Benefit of All.

MONDAY, JAN. 15, 1894.

P. G. dignitaries are as fond of adoration as ever was royalty.

There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip, or, as Councillor Young puts it, "Don't put your fish till you get them."

A vote of censure has been passed by the American League on the P. G. for sending two serviceable field guns away to the Midwinter Fair. How Thurston will laugh when he hears of the "bhoys' wrath."

An article from Pacific Town Talk, a society paper of San Francisco, appears in this issue. It fairly represents the intelligent and conscientious sentiment of the American nation the sentiment that is at the back of President Cleveland's policy.

Senator Emmelhuth will have had time for a big, long think over the Chinese immigration policy of the P. G. head center by the next meeting of the Councils. His first move should be to have rescinded the cowardly motion to have a matter of such great public interest considered in secret session.

Annexationists in the country districts are beginning to emit notes of disaffection at not having their views consulted in public matters. What in the world did they expect when they went in with effervescent enthusiasm for an absolute oligarchy? They are welcome now to a taste of the medicine they were quite willing to have forced down the throats of the majority of the people at large.

Professor Alexander's contribution to Commissioner Blount's report may be very interesting in its way, notwithstanding its omissions of all reference to the duplicity and the corruption that were only too prevalent in the author's own party. But what has all that history to do with Mr. Blount's quest for information as to whether the United States forces were unlawfully employed to assist in the revolution of last January?

Somebody suggested the other day in jest that the P. G. should contribute some of the sandbags from the Executive building defenses to the Midwinter Fair, to show the "character, wealth and brains" so much boasted of behind this Government. By the Star it appears that this is actually what has been done. Non-resident Minister Thurston will probably put the contents up in ounce vials at the close of the Fair, and sell them to curio-hunters for a cent an ounce as relics of the revolution, the proceeds to go to defraying his expenses when traveling without leave of absence. The bags may be reserved for the home museum.

It is a pity that the appointment to a high office by the P. G., of a man who was expelled from the Legislature of 1888 for receiving a bribe, came too late to be included in Professor Alexander's historical contribution to Commissioner Blount's report. Of course it would be included there, just like many other facts that tell against the author's own party—that is, it would be conspicuous by its absence. How the elections of 1887 were carried, who were implicated in the bribery scandals of the Reform Legislature, and how that body whooped up the Appropriation Bill to at least a million dollars above probable revenues—these are things that it is safe to say the Professor will pass over with discreet disdain.

More Chinese.

EDITOR BULLETIN:— If anything could illustrate the insincerity of the oligarchy, and show to the world that their cry for annexation has not an atom of honesty in the screech, it is seen in the resolve of the planters' oligarchy to use "the law of 1892." During that session petitions came in from all over the islands signed by thousands of voters praying the Legislature not to sanction any further immigration. The petitions were referred to the committee on labor, composed of planters, and of course the prayer of the petitioners was discarded. Early in November the Queen sent a message to the House calling attention to the numerous petitions of the people on the above subject, and also to the petitions on constitutional amendment, upon which were the names of fully eight thousand petitioners. The only response to the request of the people and Queen was to oust the cabinet, which it was reasonable to presume, had thus prompted the Queen to remind the Legislature of its duty to the people.

However, the saccharine caliber of the planters mustered for a fight, and in went the Wilcox, Jones, Brown, Robinson cabinet and then came the tug-of-war.

A bill was introduced to allow five thousand Chinese laborers to enter in two years. Representative Bush favored suspending action until a registration bill, on the Geary plan, promised by Thurston, but never forthcoming, was before the House. On the 29th of November a vote was taken with the result that the planters had a majority of two in favor of the bill. As it may help the present members of the P. G. who were in that majority, to receive due recognition from the Star, and the clubs which have assisted in placing those pro-coolie legislators on a solid senatorial pedestal, I subjoin the names.

An amendment to reduce the number of coolies from five to three thousand was lost, and the original motion for five thousand was endorsed by Ministers Wilcox, Brown, Jones, Robinson; Nobles, Ena, Kahane, J. M. Horner, Hind, Marsden, Young, Baldwin, W. Y. Horner, Kanoa, Walbridge, Anderson and Dreier; Representatives A. Horner, Wilder and W. O. Smith.

The anti-coolie members were Nobles, Berger, Hopkins, Maile, Hoopili, Thurston, Representatives Akins, Pua, Bush, Kaunamano, White, Kamaoaha, Waipulani, Nahiau, Edmonds, Josepa, Aki. Thus the Act of 1892 to flood Hawaii with 5000 more Chinese was carried by the small majority of two, among whom were six of the original members of the oligarchy, of which I will have more to say in my next. I notice in last night's Star that Maile and Hopkins were bad men in the Legislature, and by inference Brown and Robinson, whom they defeated, were good; which proves either that Stellar Smith is too green a historian here to grind out some of his own correspondence, or his Americanism favors the curled darlings who fatten on coolieism, and damns Maile and Hopkins who can't be bribed to vote for it. Which is it? MAKEE AUPUNI.

Mr. Davies on the Right Side.

EDITOR BULLETIN:— The Star man, who is dying for an office that he will never get, says: "That indefatigable writer, Mr. Davies, might have spared us the assurance that he agrees with President Cleveland rather than President Dole as to the merits of the Hawaiian controversy." Most certainly Mr. Davies agrees with President Cleveland, as does every other gentleman both here and in the United States—barring the Benedict Arnolds and the Stevenses, whom Mr. Davies can well afford to treat with silent contempt. It is God's honest truth, driven home with sledge-hammer blows by Mr. Davies, that cuts to the core of the guilty rascals, which they can never answer except with sneers, lies and vituperation—their only weapons used against all who differ from them. Every word in the last letter of Mr. Theo. H. Davies to S. E. Bishop, in the interest of truth and justice, weighs about two pounds and a half; but what good can Mr. Davies expect to get out of a man who is cruel to dumb animals, delights in vilifying the dead and tries to destroy the character of a defenseless woman—and that woman he favored upon up to the last hour of her reign—when she is stricken down, Mr. Bishop then thinks it safe to attack her. Birthday Celebration.

Last Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Macy gave a luau at their residence in Robello Lane, Palama, in honor of the thirteenth anniversary of the birth of their eldest son, Master Thomas Macy. About fifty invited guests sat down to a bountiful repast, which was done ample justice to and greatly enjoyed by the participants. The host and hostess were assiduous in looking after the comfort of their guests. The luau was succeeded by music, dancing and jollifications, the affair terminating pleasantly about 11:30 o'clock. Master Macy received the congratulations of his friends, and the popular host and hostess the hearty goodwill of their guests. The BROTHERS join in wishing the young man a bright and prosperous future.

Board of Education.

There was a meeting of the Board of Education this afternoon, for necessary business pending the appointment of a new Board as decided on by the Councils. Messrs. Damon, Hall and Hill, members; W. Jas. Smith, Secretary, and A. T. Atkinson, Inspector-General, were present. The resignation of Mr. and Mrs. N. Malcolm, teachers in the Ainaka school, Neth Kohala, was accepted to take effect March 1st, and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Bell, experienced teachers from the States, were appointed to fill the vacancies. The Board holds office until its successor is appointed at the request of President Dole.

A Newspaper Thief.

Saturday afternoon a BULLETIN carrier placed Wm. G. Irwin & Co.'s paper on the handle of the door, as is usual when the door is closed. A gentleman who witnessed the foregoing informs us that about five minutes after the carrier had left the paper, a fine red bird dog came along, and putting his paws up against the door took the paper in his mouth, and trotted up Fort Street, as if it was an every-day occurrence with him.

Saturday, Jan. 13, 1894.

By the ingenuity of man the bath room of to-day is made quite as presentable as the parlor. In the United States, where materials are close at hand, even the medium priced houses have the bath rooms fitted with floors and wainscoting of tile, as fitting accompaniments to the enamel baths. But tile floors are not absolutely necessary to the comfort of the person who uses the Standard Manufacturing Co.'s enamel tubs—"the tub's the thing." We have in stock, some very handsome patterns of enamel tubs and some quite plain. The one we show you in the store is a good one for comfort because it is broad, broad enough in fact for the 14 foot shark that died rather than go to the Midwinter Fair. This tub has a handsome relief panel on the side and an oak rim around the top, the faucets and all trimmings are nickel. Taken as a whole it is a very handsome and useful article for a gentleman's home.

We've seen all sorts of machines and contrivances for sharpening cutlery but nothing to equal Frank Walcott's emery file. A half minute will suffice to sharpen the dullest of knives or scissors without the slightest injury to the cutlery. For carvers it surpasses the ordinary steel because it requires less time and puts a better edge on the knife. The cook will find it indispensable for use in the kitchen in keeping his bread knife always ready for use. These sharpeners have been introduced by Mr. Walcott, the inventor, in every portion of the world where knives are used. In South Africa they sell for four shillings each, in the Colonies two and six pence, in the United States a dollar, and here in Honolulu they are worth two dollars each but we let you have them for fifty cents. Goods do not always bring their value in this country. One of the beauties of this sharpener is its long life; seven or eight years of constant use will not wear it out, and for that reason alone it is worth its weight in coin of the realm to men on plantations who are constantly buying files to use in sharpening hoes and cane knives. For an all round sharpener it has no equal.

The people who are using the Colorado brand of lubricating oils express themselves as being very well satisfied with the quality. Of course you can get a cheaper oil just as you can get a cheap quality of anything else, but who wants to use an inferior quality of oils on good machinery? A superintending engineer here tells that he has discarded lard oil from the engines under his supervision and substituted our Colorado engine oil; this must be a matter of considerable saving with lard oil at $1.25 per gallon. We mention oils at this time because it is the season when they are being used on plantations.

Our success with the plows has been on a par with our oils. No one has ever seen a breaking plow to equal the Hendry. Nor has there ever been invented a furrow plow with as many points of excellence as the Hendry Double Furrow plow embraces. These plows are a necessity on plantations. Our stock includes about everything to be used where the ground is tilled and the cane ground or the juice boiled. In belting we have the most superior grades of genuine oak tanned and of all sizes. We have also the genuine Helvetia for centrifugals.

By constant additions to it we continue to keep our stock of goods for the household the largest in Honolulu, and by the devotion of care and attention to the selection of the articles for your use we are enabled to offer them to you at much lower prices than you have been accustomed to.

WHY LUCOL

IS THE BEST

PAINT OIL.

Dries perfectly solid inside of twenty hours.

Forms a durable and elastic, not a brittle coating.

Retains its gloss longer than any other oil.

Resists the action of acids and alkalis better than any other oil.

Flows freely from the brush without running and spreads well.

With the addition of litharge, yields a hard surface, suitable for floors, steps, etc.

Mixes readily with pigments ground in oil in paste form.

Brings out the real shades of the colors and keeps them unaltered.

Is a solvent for the most delicate of the new coal tar colors.

Added to varnish greatly improves the working of the varnish.

Does not darken white lead or any delicate colors.

Has greater body than any other oil.

Requires one-third less pigment than any other oil.

Can be added to linseed oil and it will greatly improve the linseed.

By actual tests, has outlasted the best linseed oil.

Therefore, is the best paint oil ever manufactured.

Direction for Use.

Use LUCOL in every respect in the same manner as you would linseed oil, with the single exception that you may add fully one-quarter more LUCOL to the same quantity of pigment than you would of linseed.

In using metallic, Venetian red, the ochres, and other dry pigments, it is advisable to mix up the paint at least one day before it is to be used, then add a third more LUCOL and the paint will be found to cover well and have a good gloss.

NEVER USE JAPANS.

Where hard surfaces such as floors, steps, etc., are required use litharge only, never use Japans.

LUCOL MIXES WITH VARNISHES

and assists their working and improves their appearance BUT THEY SHOULD BE USED SAME DAY THEY ARE MIXED, otherwise the gum of the varnish may be precipitated or the mixture curdled.

The addition of from 1/4 to 1/2 of LUCOL to varnishes does not reduce their lustre nor retard their hardening and drying and it prevents their cracking.
