"TRAMP" PAUL JONES.

He Makes Money in Seattle by Selling Soap.

The identity of Paul Jones, the around-the-world tramp who is making money by traveling instead of spending it, was discovered to-day in this city, says a Seattle despatch of January 17. His real name is E. C. Pfeiffer, and he graduated from Harvard College with the class of 1889. He worked his way through college, his parents being poor residents of Portsmouth, Mass., and he was considered by all his classmates as being eccentric although bright. He rowed No. 6 in the Harvard Varsity crew in 1887-88 and was considered the most powerful oar in the crew. In 1889 he was elected captain of the crew, but did not row in the race. In both the races he rowed his crew was beaten.

To day Jones was employed by a well-known dry goods house, where he sold cakes of soap with a photograph of himself in his paper suit for 7 cents. He paraded up and down in the interior of the store dressed in the paper suit, and when a crowd would come in he would say: "Buy a cake of soap and a picture; I only come around once in a hundred years." Crowds flocked round the store during the entire time he was there.

NOT MUNITIONS OF WAR.

Nothing But Empty Shells and a Few Shot Cartridges.

An item obtained direct from police sources in yesterday's paper did an injustice to Wallie Davis. It said that 1300 rounds of rifle and shotgun cartridges were found underneath a house occupied by him on a little island in the harbor. The officers doubtless without malice but carelessly said cartridges when the find consisted mostly of empty shells. There were a few shotgun cartridges in the lot intended for plover, which Mr. Davis thought it not worth while giving up to the police when he sent his gun in. Mr. Davis says he has never meddled in politics and naturally does not like to be placed under the imputation of concealing rebel ammunition. This correction is made with pleasure.

Wise and Otherwise.

One Georgia girl has refused to marry an English lord because he called the marriage altar a marriage halter.—Atlanta Journal.

Conductor: "How old are you, little girl?" Little Girl: "If the company doesn't object I prefer to pay my fare and keep my own statistics."—Vogue.

Smallwort: "I hear that Mrs. Lease is going to California. I wonder if the climate will agree with her?" Ford: "It will if it knows its business."—Cincinnati Tribune.

First tramp: "Are you in favor of the income tax?" Second tramp: "You bet I am. I go further'n that. I'm in favor of givin' every man an income to be taxed."—Detroit Free Press.

Jagwell: "You can't get the truth out of a woman when you ask her how old she is." Wigwag: "Oh, yes, you can. She usually tells you it's none of your business."—Philadelphia Herald.

"Are you interested in golf, Mrs. Jennings?" asked young Simpkins, after racking his brains for some time for something to say. "I'm not familiar with his works at all," replied the old lady. "What has he written?"—Harper's Bazaar.

"Here, don't be a hog," protested Everett West, who thought his companion was holding on to the can a little too long. "I an't no hog," explained Dismal Dawson. "A hog do know when he has enough, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, but when I've got enough I don't know nothing at all."—Cincinnati Tribune.

In a recent editorial the Salem, Oregon, Independent says: "Time and again have we seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy tried and never without the most satisfactory results. Whenever we see a person afflicted with hoarseness, with a cough or cold, we invariably advise them to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy; and when they do, they never regret it. It always does the work, and does it well." For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

The Point Defiance street railway in Tacoma (Wash.) has been sold to S. Z. Mitchell of Portland for $82,000. Creditors of the railway are besieging the courts to have the money distributed among them.
