CHINESE CONSPIRACY CASE

WHAT WAS DONE IN JUDGE PERRY'S COURT TODAY.

Fined for Shaving Customers After Nine o'clock on Sunday Morning—Other Police Notes.

Judging from the number of adjectives used in the complaint against them, Ah On, Quan Chan and Su Tim must be terrible fellows. They were tried on Saturday morning charged with conspiracy in that they did on or about the 30th day of September, 1895, maliciously, fraudulently, falsely, unlawfully and groundlessly mutually undertake, combine, agree, concert and conspire, each with the other, to falsely accuse one Chu Kan to be prosecuted for an offense, viz: (1) offense of unlawfully having possession of opium; and did so falsely accuse the said Chu Kan of, and cause him to be prosecuted for such offense.

And also, on or about the said 30th day of September, at said Honolulu, did maliciously, fraudulently, falsely and unlawfully mutually undertake, combine, agree, concert and conspire, each with the other, to charge the said Chu Kan with an offense, viz: the offense of unlawfully having possession of opium, with the intent and for the purpose of extorting money from him, the said Chu Kan, contrary to the provisions of Chapter 28 of the Penal Code.

L. A. Thurston appeared for the prosecution and Paul Neumann for the defendant Quan Chan, together with a large concourse of the sisters, cousins and aunts of the defendants, including a fat six-months-old specimen of Chinese humanity with a gorgeous cap and tassel, whose principal business was to look supremely happy and imbibe a large quantity of lactated fluid from an indiarubber maternal fount commonly known as a feeding bottle.

The prosecution discharged its first gun in to the enemy's camp by entering a nolle pros. against Su Tim, and then using him as its principal witness. The testimony of Lieutenant of Police Thornton and Chu Kan, which would occupy about a page of the BULLETIN, was taken when the hour of noon arrived and the case went over until today, but it was not reached during the morning session.

The proceedings of today opened with the imposition of the usual fine on five drunks. Amalia Kaihama, whose Saturday night diversions required the united efforts of three policemen to stop, declined to appear in court and her bail was forfeited.

The charges of violating the rules of the Board of Health preferred against J. H. and F. K. Thomas were nolle pros'd.

Malua, charged with malicious mischief in keeping a vicious dog, pleaded guilty, but said he had put an end to the dog, whereupon sentence was suspended.

Mitchell pleaded guilty of selling liquor without a license. Sentence suspended.

Of eight Chinese arrested for gambling three pleaded guilty and the rest were discharged. The guilty ones were fined $10 each and costs.

Lau Chong pleaded guilty of having opium in possession and was fined $50.

For shaving a man after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Wong Kau was fined $2 and costs.

That Tired Feeling
Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attack a disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's PILLS act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. See 116-17.

JUDICIARY JOTTINGS.

Five Thousand Dollars Claimed for Libel—Real Estate Worth $4000 Willed to a Lawyer.

Judge Cooper has appointed K. Podyn as guardian of Frederick, August and Waidemar Podyn, minor, without bond.

Camillo Pereira has entered an action against J. M. Vivas and J. M. Teixeira, manager and editor respectively of the Portuguese newspaper A Sentinella, claiming $5000 damages for libel.

Enoch Johnson, lawyer, has filed a petition for probate of the will of Keaka, a native woman who died at the age of 80, leaving real estate in Honolulu valued at $4000. The heirs at law and next of kin are the widower, a nephew and a niece, and the petitioner, Mr. Johnson, is named in the will as devisee, legatee and executor.

In the divorce case of Caroline A. Laing vs. R. Laing, an order to defendant to pay plaintiff $7.50 a week temporary alimony was made this morning by Judge Cooper. Defendant had already paid into court $25 costs and $25 attorney's fee.

Upon agreement of all concerned, Judge Cooper today appointed W. C. Farie as administrator of the estate of Hannah Kukona, who died intestate, leaving an estate of $600. Benjamin Kaluna, petitioner, withdrew the name of A. P. Haila nominated in his petition. Poopoe for petitioner; Magoon and Hookano, separately, for other parties.

Tomorrow will be the last day for the service of summons for the November term of the Circuit Court.

Judge Whiting has a number of probate cases due before him this afternoon.

A GHOSTLY FIND.

A Native Brings a Human Hand to the Police Station.

At about 8 o'clock this morning a native walked into the Police Station bearing a platter on which was a human hand, and handed it to the native policeman on duty. The latter took him and his burden at once into Deputy-Marshal Hitchcock's office, where he was questioned. He said he found the hand in a house on Maunakea street near the old fishmarket. Police were sent to the house and the proprietor, a Chinese named Ah Wa, was placed under arrest pending investigations. These were not completed when the BULLETIN went to press, but the deputy-marshal felt confident from information already received that the hand would be fully and satisfactorily accounted for.

A similar occurrence was reported some time ago, when a hand was found which had been amputated from a Japanese, and it is most likely this find will be traced to the same source.

Disturbance on Kinou Street.

J. M. Vivas, living on the corner of Kinou and Punchbowl streets, telephoned to the police station last evening, reporting that his peace and quiet was disturbed by some Portuguese next door, who were celebrating the fact that they had sixteen bottles of wine in the house. A couple of mounted officers were sent out to read a temperance lecture to the convivial Azoreans, but found the house vacant.

'SCOTTY' BROWN IS SHOT.

THE RESULT OF AN EARLY SUNDAY MORNING ROW.

John Brown Attempts to Prod Another Brown With a Bayonet and Afterward Shoots Him.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a young man who goes by the name of "Scotty" Brown with a couple of companions got into a row with John Brown, who rooms in a house where they had been celebrating the previous evening and night, during which quantities of wine were imbibed. "Scotty" admits commencing the row with Brown and daring him to come out and fight. Instead of doing so Brown went for "Scotty" with a bayonet but only just grazed his side with it. He then picked up a Springfield rifle and fired one shot at him, which entered the left side. This was enough for "Scotty," who turned and ran, while Joe Dillon, one of the party, went for the police.

Captain Scott answered the call, arrested Brown and conveyed him to the station house, while the wounded man was sent to the hospital.

At this morning's session of the police court John Brown was able to appear in person and tell all about the affair. He acknowledged being the aggressor and stated that he had had one glass of wine on Saturday night. On cross examination he admitted he had had two, but altogether his recollection of the affair was somewhat hazy. He did remember, however, that Brown had made a pass at him with the bayonet, and that he had afterward gone into his room and procured the rifle with which he had shot him. The bayonet had glanced off his body, inflicting only a slight bruise, but the bullet hurt. After being shot he went to Dillon's room and got a shirt which he tied over the wound, and the police surgeon did the rest.

Dr. Emerson testified that he dressed the bullet wound soon after the occurrence. The point of entrance was over the seventh or eighth rib. He did not count which. The bullet glanced off and came out about four inches from where it entered, inflicting a wound which with ordinary care would heal up in a week or two. The wound was undoubtedly caused by a bullet.

Joe Dillon and a woman who was present also testified as to the occurrence, but the examination was not completed at the morning session.

The charge against Brown is assault with a deadly weapon, and the affair took place at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning and the arrest fifteen minutes later, and not on Saturday as stated in the morning paper.

THE U. S. S. OLYMPIA.

All Hands Engaged in Taking On Coal.

At an early hour this morning the work of sending out coal to the U. S. S. Olympia was commenced. The coal is supplied from the yard of Allen & Robinson, from whence it is carted to the Ewa end of the Pacific Mail dock and dumped into the schooners Moiwahine and Luka, which are afterwards towed out to the war vessel by a steam-launch. One thousand tons will be put aboard, after which the big vessel will be ready to depart for China. She will probably await dispatches by the Mariposa and Australia before proceeding on her voyage.

The Time.

The latest issue of the Time has a strong criticism of the article "Then and Now" in the latest number of the Hawaiian magazine, which it holds chargeable with falsifying history. Ralph Turner continues in an entertaining way the annals of "Our Neighbor." Hilary Neal Weston's verse is clever as usual. "U. R. A. Jay" should hold his signature up to a double mirror, so as to realize his own identity. "The Chap on the Corner" is not up to his usual mark. In the editorial columns exception is taken to the landing of Yokohama passengers from the steamer China. The advertising patronage of the Time would indicate that business men know a "good thing," as the trade motto of the paper is.

"You Pays Your Money and You Takes Your Choice."

The following paragraphs both appeared in the editorial columns of the Common Scold of King street on the same page in one issue:

"The writers of the Independent have always been the champions of the Hawaiians, and it is for that very reason that we have attempted to point out the faults of the present system of the relief committee."

"The editors of The Independent have never claimed to be 'champions of the Hawaiians.' They have probably proved their friendship in the past and suffered for it. Do any of the relief ladies wish to go to jail?"

Dope.

A whaleboat was noticed, standing off and on all day yesterday, eight miles from the city beyond Koko head. Two mounted policemen were sent to Wailupe, near Waiialae, yesterday morning, to reconnoitre. They stayed all day and were replaced by two others last night, but nothing turned up. The boat was captured early this morning by the police boat, details of which will be found in the shipping column.

WILL MAKE GOOD CITIZENS.

Chinese Immigrants at the Quarantine Station on the Warpath.

A telephone message about 6 o'clock last night caused Agent Reynolds to leave home in a hurry carrying with him all the guns and ammunition he had. The message was to the effect that the Chinese on Quarantine island were fighting among themselves and trying to escape from captivity. Before leaving for the island, Mr. Reynolds was joined by Captain Parker and a squad of twelve police, but on their arrival at the island the row was over.

The trouble appears to be a difference of opinion between the immigrants and the shipping agents as to the terms of their contracts, which led to the agents getting badly punned. They were quarreling all day Sunday and about 4 o'clock made a break to escape from the stockade. Jack McVeigh and his guards, assisted by five of the Inter-island Steamship Company's men who were in quarantine, used their clubs freely and kept them back, and it was not until the guards were thoroughly tired out that assistance was telephoned for. The sight of Captain Parker's squad of police and their rifles put an end to all trouble. The Chinese will all be shipped to the plantations tomorrow, where they will have a chance to fight out their difficulties with those who imported them.

Carter-Hartwell.

The marriage of Miss Edith Hartwell to Alfred W. Carter took place at 8 p. m. on Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. H. H. Parker officiating. The wedding was a very quiet one, only immediate friends of the families being present. Miss Madeline Hartwell was maid of honor to her sister, while Marshal Brown acted as best man for the groom. The newly-married couple will reside at Waikiki for the present.
