LEWIS & Co.

If a man's dinner is right, and he rises from the table conscious that his wife has used the same judgment as to price that she did in the selection of the articles disposed of there can be no indigestion to follow. Our goods are of the kind which bring health, happiness and a fat purse.

Table delicacies are a fad with us—they are bought because we know the average Honoluluite is fond of good things for the stomach. Our prices are below the average and special inducements are offered to cash purchasers. Our latest importations include the best goods obtainable in the English markets.

Copeland's English Peas; Cod's Roe, Mackerel in Mustard Sauce and Cambridge Sausages in tins are so well put up that it would be difficult to detect the difference between them and the same articles direct from the market.

"Teyssonneau" is a long name to put before Pate but the combination makes the best tid bit ever placed before a gourmet. These are goods that anyone may eat without fear of indigestion following. They are put up in the best factories in Europe and come to us in elegant condition.

HOW TO BOIL A POTATO.

The Right and the Wrong Way According to Good Housekeeping.

Even in so simple a matter as the boiling of a potato there is a right and a wrong way, which followed out lead to results as diverse as the methods of preparation. The careless cook, after a process which she calls "parin"—during which she gouges and slashes and robs the poor esculent of much of its nutritious elements—puts it in a kettle of cold water, because that is handiest, sets it over the fire and leaves it to chance whether it boil dry and escapes from its martyrdom a seared and smoky accessory of dinner or cooks until a sodden, pasty mass of fragments that would tax the somewhat vitiated taste of a mammiferous quadruped of the genus capra. That, needless to say, is the wrong way and this the right:

Paré the potatoes with a sharp vegetable knife, just as thin as possible, for that part of the tuber lying close to the skin is richest in mineral salts, and put each potato as peeled into a pan of cold water to prevent discoloration. Have ready, meanwhile, a kettle of boiling water, and when the peeling process is complete take the potatoes from the cold water, and covering them with boiling salted water, set them on the range, covered, to boil. Twenty minutes will usually suffice, but to test them use a skewer or fork, and when they can be pierced easily remove at once from the fire, pour off all the water and set them on the back of the range, uncovered, to steam dry, assisting that process occasionally by a slight shaking of the kettle.

If one asks the reason why potatoes should always be cooked in boiling water, try the following experiment for proof: Take two cups, in each of which has been put a teaspoonful of ordinary starch. Pour over one a quarter of a cupful of boiling water and over the other the same quantity of cold water and observe the result. The one over which the boiling water was poured stays in shape, a compact mass, while the one with the cold water dissolves into a soft paste. The potato is largely composed of starch, and from this trial any one may draw his own conclusions. If you wish a pulpy, watery potato, use cold water, but if a dry, mealy, snowy ball that would delight the heart of Epicurus himself, always use boiling water.

To serve boiled potato mashed, add to every quart of the mashed potato two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, one-half of a saltspoonful of pepper and hot cream or milk to moisten. Then beat until light, white and creamy and serve piled lightly on a dish, but never packed down and smoothed over, as was the wont of our grandmothers.

A VOICE FROM THE BLEACHERS.

Local interest in the cricket games as reflected from the "bleachers" is increasing. During Saturday's games the "bleachers" were particularly vociferous and kept the players under a running fire of good natured banter. One small boy brought down the crowd by advising the batsman to "go buy a case of Rainier Beer and get some life in you." The crowd applauded the remark, knowing that Rainier Beer is celebrated for its invigorating and strengthening properties.

On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

Seattle Beck.

By the steamer Miowera, the Criterion Saloon received a large consignment of the celebrated Beck beer, brewed by the Seattle Brewing and Malting Co. This is the first Beck to make its appearance, and is a sure indication of better days.

Torchon and Valenciennes laces are still in great demand. L. B. Kerr has a choice lot, which he is selling at lowest possible rates.

Sterling, the painter, is prepared to quote prices on roof painting. He uses a composition of coal tar and cement. Cheapest and best roof preparation in Honolulu.

Singers lead the world. Over 13,000,000 made and sold.
