TO INVESTIGATE LABOR

Day of Interstate Commerce Commission Coming to Hawaii.

Will Prepare a Report for Congress—Also Look Up Survey Matters—Possible Concessions.

Chicago, June 19.—D. A. Day of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who was executive officer of the Hawaiian Commission last fall, left Chicago for Honolulu to continue the work of both that body and the United States Survey, which remains incomplete.

"The mission upon which I am engaged is of a twofold nature," said Mr. Day before leaving. "The labor problem in the islands is in a complicated condition, which will require the greatest patience and the most careful investigation to unravel."

"We understand that no Chinese have been imported into the islands since the flag was raised last July, but we do know that a great many Japanese have been landed. The conditions under which the raising of sugar cane, coffee and rice must be carried on for a fair profit are such that cheap labor must be obtained from some quarter of the world, and if our contract labor law is made applicable to the islands in the territorial or colonial form of government given them by Congress, a serious hardship, to great industries, will result. My instructions are to investigate more fully this question and to present a report to the committee, for Congress meets next December."

"It is my opinion that the results of inquiry, and the facts gained by the members of the commission by personal observation will cause the modification of the immigration laws as applied to the islands to the extent of allowing the importation of Japanese and foreigners, other than Chinese, under contract, with the restriction that they are not to be brought from the islands to any other part of the United States."

BODY NOW LIES IN STATE

Kawaiahao Transformed Into a Bower of Beauty by Floral Decorations.

Kahilis Along Aisle to Coffin of Late Queen Dowager—Designs in Yellow White and Green All About.

The body of the late Queen Dowager Kapiolani lies in state today at Kawaiahao and will continue to lie in state until midnight tomorrow night. Scores of people have been to the church from the time the doors were opened at noon until the BULLETIN goes to press. There will undoubtedly be a large number present this afternoon when the work of the day is at an end.

The church has been beautifully decorated for the reception of the body of the Queen. It was thought at the time that the body of the Princess Kaiulani was lying in state in the same place that the decoration could not be surpassed but the ladies who have had charge this time seem to have accomplished this.

The body rests on a bier directly in front of the pulpit that is covered with a black pall on which the crest of Kapiolani stands out prominently. The covering of the coffin is of lavender velvet. Thrown over it are a number of the Queen's own abulua or feather capes and above this still are small pink kahili and another red one crossed at about the middle. Accompanying this on top of the abulua are three lahulu or feather leis, these too being the property of the late Queen.

Today four natives on each side of the coffin are waving their black kahilis over the dead. Each wears a feather cape. Back of these men are two rows of large kahilis at the base of which are feather capes. Leaning against the back rows are smaller kahilis and back of these are a number of chairs.

At the head of the coffin is the large tabu stick that was in use at Waikiki and at the foot are the two smaller ones draped in black. At the head and foot are two native soldiers from Co. G standing guard and near them are two other natives standing guard. From this point and running down the aisle to the end of the pew line are large kahilis, six on a side and furnished with feather capes like the rest.

The floral and other decorations have never been surpassed in Honolulu. The pulpit and choir are a mass of yellow, white and green set about by artistic hands and producing a most pleasing effect. There is an absence of the more vivid colors. Yellow as the royal color naturally predominates. To the left is a crown of this color with the design "Aloha" in lighter shades while to the left is a mass of golden shower. Standing on the pulpit desk is a crown of red plush with yellow bindings.

In the choir is a large crown, a star, a lyre, a broken pillar and other designs, all of yellow. Then there is a cross of maile and another of white flowers in the center. Set about among the principal pieces are maiden hair ferns, palms and numerous other greens. Hanging from the front of the recesses to either side of the organ are curtains of maile that rise toward the center just enough to disclose swinging baskets of maiden hair. In each window of the church is set a pot of palms wound up with maile leis.

In the account given the two arches of purple yellow at either side of the coffin and the two white kahilis at the head of the coffin were not mentioned. The coffin itself is with the head toward the pulpit and a gradual slant toward the entrance.

The ladies in charge of the decorations are Mrs. S. C. Allen, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Berger and Mrs. Pierre Jones. Under these ladies are about twenty others.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEETS

Pardons of Various Prisoners at Oahu Jail Considered.

Another Meeting To Be Held Tomorrow To Decide Matters—Council of State to Meet Monday—Other Business.

At a meeting of the Executive Council this forenoon, the Waiahole stream matter was brought up for discussion. W. E. Rowell and Government Electrician Buck were present to furnish what information might be required of them. Although the discussion was long there was no decision reached. It was decided, however, that Mr. Rowell have the stream measured every day during the summer for the purpose of ascertaining the average volume. It is understood that the Government is in favor of utilizing the stream for electrical power. Mr. Rowell has already recommended that the stream be used.

The funeral of the late Queen Dowager Kapiolani was dwelt upon. Minister Mott Smith made his report in regard to the arrangements for the state funeral.

The matter of pardons for certain prisoners now in confinement at Oahu Jail was one that took up a great deal of time at this morning's session. It was thoroughly discussed and it is understood that the pardons of some prisoners were favorably considered but nothing can be given out as yet as the Council of State will have to act on the recommendations of the Cabinet. This latter body will hold another meeting tomorrow forenoon for the purpose of finishing up the work on the pardons. The Council of State will meet on Monday for the consideration of the recommendations of the Cabinet.

The Cabinet decided to grant the request of the fireworks committee of the Fourth of July celebration to allow the grounds of the Executive building to be used as a place to set off the fireworks. Minister Mott-Smith was authorized to attend to the decoration of the Executive building grounds for the Fourth of July. It is understood that Mr. Mott-Smith will make a fine display.

WORK FOR GEN. WHEATON

His Forces Meet and Repulse Band of Filipinos.

Filipinos Show Great Recuperative Force—Hard Fields for Fighting—Disposed to Attack Imus.

New York, June 20.—A cable to the Sun, dated Manila, June 20th, 4:50 p. m., says: General Wheaton reports that he occupied Perez Das Marinas today after slight opposition on the part of the enemy. The town was found to be deserted. It is a miserable, worthless village, surrounded by swamps and altogether so valueless a place that it is not deemed advisable to hold it.

General Wheaton goes to Bana Vista tomorrow, where it is reported that the insurgents have re-established the arsenal and powder mill, which they removed from Imus. A reconnaissance will be necessary to develop the position of the enemy.

The reconcentration of the insurgents and their apparent willingness to attack Imus furnishes another illustration of the remarkable recuperative powers which the Filipinos have shown upon several occasions. The demoralization of the enemy after their defeat at Zapote bridge seemed complete, but they have already recovered, and the forces opposing General Wheaton comprise practically the entire insurgent army in Cavite province. The country south of Imus is composed of rice fields, sloughs and bamboo swamps, making it very difficult for the Americans to operate, though it is comparatively easy for the Filipinos to do so.

FINE STRING OF HORSES.

H. H. Edmonds, a leading dealer in live stock, arrived in the ship Albert bringing with him 21 head of horses and 15 cows, all registered, that will be offered in the local market. Mr. Edmonds is the gentleman who imported the phenomenal horse Green Button. The Breeder and Sportsman of San Francisco says: "a better looking lot of animals never left this port. Among them was the well known horse Dity's Brigadier with a record of 2: 9 1/2, but much faster as he worked a trial in 2:19 only a few weeks ago. A handsome bay mare with an authentic trial of 2:13 was in the consignment. There were several mares by Brigadier, Black Ralph, Alexander Button and other well known, all being selected especially for size, soundness, speed and style, as those qualities bring good prices. One of the game of the consignment is a saddle horse, handsome as a picture and trained to all gaits. This horse was ridden by Miss Annie Daner of Yolo county and won first prize at the California State Fair a year or two ago."
