MEN, DO YOU!

Do you want to be strong? Do you want to feel the vim, the snap and fire of vigor? Do you want courage, energy and ambition to support you in your cares and troubles?

I have devoted my life to the development of vigor in both men and women. I've made a great success. My methods are approved by the greatest doctors and I copied.

I've proved that electricity is the basis of all animal life and that "weak men," dyspeptics, rheumatics, sufferers from lost energy weak kidneys, pains in the back, head, chest and shoulders from varicocele and its allied weaknesses, etc., are weak in electricity. My Electric Belt restores this life in a few weeks and cures every time.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Describe your case to me, and if I say I can cure you, I will guarantee to do so.

Drugs won't restore your strength. They only stimulate. If you have to take a stimulant take whisky. Taken in moderation it does less harm than the others.

"Every sign of pain and sickness has disappeared. I appreciate what your Belt has done for me," writes J. Schwarz, Coleridge, Trinity County, California.

I will gladly send you my book on this subject. It has 52 pages of meat to people who want more "fire." Sealed, free.

Dr. M. H. McLAUGHLIN, 906 MARKET ST., San Francisco.

CAPTAIN OLSEN SAYS HONOIPU IS SAFE

The Advertiser of the 3d instant published an item to the effect that the schooner Danube, which arrived at Vancouver on May 25th from Port Essington, brought news of the finding in northern waters of a life-buoy marked "Schooner Honolpu." It was said that a quantity of teak wood from a cabin was also picked up. The Honolpu left Puget Sound on April 29th for Noumea. Her master is Captain McDonald.

Captain Olsen of the schooner Jas. Ralph, now in this port, has something to say in connection with the report that the schooner Honolpu is lost.

Five months ago, when he was master of the Honolpu, taking her up to Puget Sound, a heavy gale struck the vessel and her decks were washed by several giant waves. Everything that was loose on deck was carried overboard, including three life buoys. At the time when the life-buoys were lost the Honolpu was approaching the Sound.

It is the opinion of Captain Olsen that the life buoy reported found by the schooner Danube was one of the buoys lost overboard on that occasion. Incidentally, the Honolpu's life buoys were not marked "Schooner Honolpu". There were marked "Sch. Honolpu. S. F."

The Honolpu is probably all right, the report from Vancouver published in the Advertiser to the contrary notwithstanding.

ADVICE TO YOUNG BASE-BALL PLAYERS

BY CONNIE MACK,

Manager of the Philadelphia American League Club.

Players Should Learn to Throw the Body Away From the Fielder.

More speed will not make a good base runner, but all other things being equal, the fastest runner will be the most successful on the bases. Too much attention cannot be paid to sprinting. When training in the spring the player instead of jogging a mile or two to improve his wind, should practice sprinting. Wind is an absolute necessity in base running. If a player is short winded he will tire perceptibly by the time he reaches third base, provided he clears two or more bases at the same time. The majority of players in spring training work more with the view of reducing superfluous flesh than improving their speed and strengthening their wind. It is a good thing to do plenty of road work. It hardens the muscles, and it should be kept up for a time, but when the muscles are sufficiently hardened the player should confine himself to sprinting—not long sprints, but twenty or thirty yards. Fifteen minutes' practice of this work will make a great improvement in a player, and enable him to travel much faster than he otherwise would do.

Base sliding is an art acquired by but few. A straight dive for the base is easy of accomplishment, but it is the object of all good base sliders to fool the fielder and prevent a put out. A player who can slide well will often save himself from being put out by the baseman. It often happens that a player in trying to reach his base will find the ball perhaps ten feet ahead of him. In this case, instead of diving straight for the bag or resigning himself to his fate, he will dive for the base, but throw his body on one side out of the range of the baseman's reach, thus avoiding being touched with the ball. To the spectators who invariably watch the ball and not the player, the latter it thought to be out, and when the umpire calls "safe," the onlookers will often send up a howl of protest and derision. The player who has been fooled by the runner will often enter a protest and assert he touched his man. On the other hand, the umpire will frequently err and call a runner out when he is not touched.

This happens when the slide is so perfect and such a clever piece of work that its accomplishment deceives the umpire as well as the spectators. Then the runner is heard from, but the umpire gives him but little satisfaction, and the runner is declared out.
