Men! Do You?

Do you want to be strong? Do you want to feel the vim, the snap and fire of vigor? Do you want courage, energy and ambition to support you in your cares and troubles?

I have devoted my life to the development of manly and womanly vigor. I've made a great success. My methods are approved by the greatest doctors and copied.

I have proven that electricity is the basis of all animal life and that "weak men," dyspeptics, rheumatics, sufferers from lost energy, weak kidneys, pains in the back, head, chest and shoulders, from varicocele and its allied weaknesses, etc., are weak in electricity. My Electric Belt restores this life in a few weeks and cures every time. If it fails I ask no pay.

Describe your case to me and if I say I can cure you I will guarantee to do so.

Drugs won't restore your strength. They only stimulate. If you have to take a stimulant take whisky. Taken in moderation it does less harm than the others.

"Every sign of pain and weakness has disappeared. I appreciate what your Belt has done for me," writes J. Schwarz Coleridge, Trinity, county, Cal.

I will gladly send you my book on this subject. It has 82 pages of meat to people who want more "fire." Sealed, free.

I take imitations of my Belt in trade, just to show how much better mine is. Consultation free.

TUA TUA AT KALAUPAPA

Editor Evening Bulletin:—I beg respectfully to call your attention to a glaring misstatement in your account of the late visit of the Board of Health to the leper settlement. Mentioning the tuatua remedy, you say, "It appears that this remedy is no new thing in the settlement, it having been tried there already three years ago." Whoever is responsible for this statement has evidently confounded the leper settlement with the Kalihi Receiving Station; as it is about three years ago that the tuatua remedy was first brought to the notice of the then Board of Health, and a spasmodic attempt at treatment was made at said station, the history of which has been published so often that it is unnecessary for me to repeat it here. After that fiasco, no further notice was taken of the matter, until it was brought to public attention once more by the publication of the now celebrated case in Tahiti, and I will venture to say that it is my firm belief that, had it not been for the agitation of the subject in the newspapers of Honolulu, started by the above case, no further trial of the remedy would have been made by the Board of Health. As for the remedy having been tried here, I wish to say that I have lived in the settlement for over fifteen years, and have been cognizant of every attempt at treatment of any sort that has been made during that time, and if any attempt had been made to introduce the tuatua treatment, I should certainly have known of it, and been one of the first to make application for it. So I can say confidently that the first attempt to introduce the tuatua treatment here in the settlement, was that made by Dr. Oliver about three months before he was retired, I myself receiving my first supply on the 15th of March of the present year, and taking it steadily up to the time Dr. Oliver left. There are other points in your account that I might touch upon, but I think this one is enough for this time. Yours for the truth,

WAIMANU.

Kalaupapa, July 17, 1902.

CORONATION AND COURTS.

Judge Humphreys of Honolulu appears to take great delight in giving his enemies opportunity to hurl invectives against him. He is always doing something to irritate them. They are never so happy as when they think they see a vulnerable spot in his armor, but the little judge pursues the even tenor of his way as calmly as though he didn't know he had an enemy in the world. The latest storm raised by the judge occurred on Coronation Day when the British residents of the Islands indulged in a big celebration. There is considerable British sentiment in Honolulu. The English residents of that city hoped at one time to see the Islands brought under British rule, and they were grievously disappointed when the country was annexed by Uncle Sam. But they continue to exercise considerable influence in the Islands, and as a consequence, on Coronation Day the business community and the general public made a half-holiday of it. Even the courts were expected to adjourn out of respect to his royal highness, but Judge Humphreys insisted on conducting judicial business as though he didn't know there was such a man in the world as Albert Edward. He was bitterly denounced for his lack of sympathy with the British residents, and he deemed it advisable to public an explanation. "Instead of lending ourselves," he said, "to the preparation of pageants devised to proclaim the doctrine of the divine right of kings we have spurned hereditary rule as in the nature of usurpation and the pretensions of an hereditary aristocracy as subversive of the natural rights of mankind. We have denounced as monstrous and unnatural a system in memorial services to the dreadshrdl which relegates to the accident of birth the selection of the rulers and lawgivers of the race. I would rather join in memorial services to the dead of the brave Boers who by deeds of valor unsurpassed have evinced a willingness to give their lives as a sacrifice upon the altar of patriotism and liberty." Good for Judge Humphreys! Those are strong American sentiments, and it cannot be said that they were expressed to "catch the Irish vote," for the Irish carry no weight in Honolulu. The British are the influential people there, and it is evident that they have their conceit and their national nerve with them when they seek to compel American courts adjourn on Coronation Day. We can appreciate and even approve their loyalty to their King. We admire them for their patriotism and we are proud to have our country represented at the coronation ceremonies. We even believe that the courtesy of nations demands that we should rejoice with them in the crowning of their King, but we do not concede that the wheels of our government should stop just because they are indulging in pomp and ceremony to glorify royalty.—San Francisco Town Talk.

700 MILE FENCE

Helena, Mont., July 13.—The plan to build a fence 700 miles long, clear across the northern boundary of Montana, to properly protect the cattle interests is now taking shape. The work of construction, which will, it is said, commence shortly, will entail an immense expense.

Not long ago a large number of cattle that had strayed into Canada from Montana were seized by the Dominion officials on the ground that they had been smuggled. The resulting trouble was such as the cattlemen do not desire to see repeated and something may arise from this.

When the fence is built it will be one of a very few dividing two countries. Not many nations are separated by a wire fence, which is the kind that will be constructed in this case. Naturally such work would be done by one or the other of the governments concerned, but in this instance it is yet to be determined who will bear the great expense of such an undertaking.

HEALING WATERS BUBBLE.

Hilo, July 18.—Cecil Brown, who with Mrs. Brown has been in the city for the past ten days on business and pleasure has good words for Hilo. He is pleased with the evidences of thrift and prosperity on every hand. Mr. Brown as one of the owners in the Volcano Mineral Water Company is in a fine humor over the showing the company has made under the management of H. L. Williams. He made the descent under ground to the place where the healing waters bubble up in the darkness through porous beds of lava. Mr. Brown says the underground trip is a very interesting one but he does not care to repeat it.—Tribune.

Once a peddler on the East Side, through persistent push, and grind, and overwork, Charles Broadway Rouss the New York merchant prince, gained millions—and blindness, the penalty of eye neglect.

Probably an optician's advice and help, secured in the days of his early struggles, a little glass and timely advice heeded, would have preserved his eyesight for which he now vainly offers a million.

The little things of life count for weal or woe.
Little troubles, neglected, become big ones.
It's easy to neglect one's eyes—but it stops.
It's a small matter to have them tested regularly—but it saves.
