WAILUKUANS PRESENT TWINS AND WATCH

Wailuku, March 8.—Among the passengers for Honolulu last Wednesday afternoon per steamer Claudine were two of Central Maui's leading men who are going away to each fame in their respective vocations in life in new spheres. James Scott, late manager of Kihel Sugar Plantation, went with his family to Honolulu en route to Pohnope, whither he will go on the S. S. Cople six weeks hence. Mr. Scott is not only a capable sugar planter but he is also an experienced engineer, which qualifications greatly enhance his value in his chosen line, especially in a new country where the crutest methods in the manufacture of sugar are at present employed. Mr. Scott has a great hope for Pohnope for not only the climate is favorable, being on the same parallel of latitude with Hawaii, but also any quantity of land well adapted for the cultivation of cane.

The other gentleman who left Maui amidst the many regrets of his numerous friends was R. W. Filler, late Superintendent of the Kahului Railroad Company. It was he who during his incumbency of seven and a half years with the company, should receive his credit for the present high standing of the company for which he labored almost incessantly during these long years. Last Wednesday afternoon in front of the residence of Ferd Hous at Kahului, a large number of the employees of the Kahului Railroad Company gathered there to bid adieu to their former superintendent and friend, R. W. Filler, who was here but he was not apprised of the little pleasant surprise which his men had in store for him. Ferdinand Hous, one of the oldest employees of the company, advanced towards Mr. Filler and with a few well chosen words appropriate to the occasion, presented their departing chief with a handsome monogrammed gold watch, worth nearly $200. In making the presentation Mr. Hous referred to the ever-pleasant relations which always existed between Mr. Filler and his subordinates, and in bidding him to accept the handsome present as a slight token of the high esteem with which Mr. Filler was always held by his men, Mr. Hous expressed the hope that wherever Mr. Filler labored in the future, whether under the bright sunny climes of Hawaii or under the frigid zones far away, that he will ever remember the boys at Kahului, and that the boys will ever cherish his memory and the many kind deeds which Mr. Filler had done for them which none but the great hereafter can reveal.

Mr. Filler in accepting the handsome gift was so filled with emotion that his tongue, which was ever ready to give the word of command for the enjoyment of the best interests of his company, for once went back on him, and he stood there with the simplicity of a newborn babe and his eyes showed how deeply he appreciated the gift of the donors. When he came to himself again he thanked them all and wished that they would give his successor, J. N. S. Williams, the same hearty support and willing help which they had given him in the past.

Three hearty cheers for Mr. Filler were then given by the boys.

Wailuku, March 8.—The homes of Hon. Wm. Henning of Lahaina and Assessor W. T. Robinson and D. H. Davis, both of Wailuku, were brightened this week by the arrival of new heirs in each home. The Lahaina sage was by far the happier for last Monday, March 4th, his wife presented him with twins, a boy and a girl. On Tuesday afternoon a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson, and on the following evening Mrs. D. H. Davis gave birth to a boy. These newborn babes are all doing well and the happy fathers are all looking forward to the day when these heirs will reach their majority and assume the responsible affairs of life side by side with their gray-haired daddies.

ARRESTS ARE MADE BY LIUET. LUAIHWA

Sheriff Luaiwa will return from his trip around the island today and has made a thorough search of the various towns for illicit liquor selling and other violations of the law. The Sheriff was then accompanied by Lieut. Josepa Luaihwa, who has done some very good work. Saturday evening he arrested a Japanese in Wailuku on a charge of selling liquor without a license and it is said that he has a strong case. Yesterday he arrested a couple of Japanese gamblers, and captured their outfit. It is said that the Wailuku police who accompanied him were so slow that they allowed all the other gamblers to get away.

COLLEGE CLUB MEETS

Saturday afternoon, some forty members of the College Club sat down to the quarterly lunch and business meeting at the Dillingham residence. Under the wide spreading branches of a monkey-pod tree a delicious chowder was discussed. The principal point of interest dealt with was the inaugurating of a definite crusade against tuberculosis.

The plans of the College Club are fully endorsed by the Board of Health.

BULLFROGS USED ON HAWAII AS COW MILKERS

A well-known rancher on Hawaii writes the following interesting story of a new industry but modestly disclaims all personal credit: Very little is known on the mainland of the wonderful strides that dairying has taken in Hawaii since annexation.

Some years ago what appeared as a disastrous setback has since proven a bonanza to many of the local dairies. The high price of labor generally was the main setback to small farmers, and had it not been for the accidental discovery of a substitute for the high-priced milkman the industry would certainly not be in the high position it occupies today.

At one of the Hawaii dairies the great mortality of calves from an apparent cause whatever led to an investigation. It was discovered that the calves were starved to death. The mothers were in good condition and gave a liberal supply of milk, yet the calves did not get it.

After weeks of careful watching, the cause was at last discovered accidentally. A cowboy noticed a cow lying down and, thinking something was wrong, he investigated. He found four bullfrogs sucking the milk. He immediately reported and to prove his discovery several cows in milk were taken to the pasture and allowed to roam about. Invariably as they laid down bullfrogs would appear and suck them dry. After this the cows were kept in the stable at night and carefully watched during the day.

The owner, however, was of an inventive turn of mind and thought that this discovery might be made use of. After sundry experiments, several frogs were captured. Four of them would milk an ordinary cow dry in about 1-1/2 minutes. They would let go and drop in a basket placed under the cow's udder. By holding them head down and opening the jaws the milk was poured into the can.

From this small beginning milking with bullfrogs has developed into a considerable industry and the saving in labor alone represents a large profit. One man with a gang of 16 to 20 bullfrogs will milk a string of 60 cows in 1-1/2 hours.

Great care should be taken in not overfeeding the milkers or they become lazy. And it is also very important to not give a frog to a cow of too great capacity in milk, or accidents might happen. The frog milker will, as a rule, not stop sucking until the milk is finished, so there is a reason to be careful. A good bullfrog milker is worth about $7.50 on the market and his term of usefulness is about six months, after which he gets lazy and bloated. He is then fattened for market and fetches $9.50.

The industry of raising frog milkers is rapidly assuming great proportions in certain districts, and unless the milkers' unions of the States interfere there is no doubt that the exportation will prove a valuable asset to farmers in Hawaii.

From a sanitary point of view too much cannot be said in favor of the use of frog milkers. On one dairy sore cows and dirty milk was the rule until the owner purchased a dozen of the milkers.

Any further information on this subject will be gladly given gratis by the Secretary of the Bullfrog Milklers' Association.

Alfred J. Cleary and O. M. Boyle, Jr., graduates of the University of California in the engineering class of 1906 are working on the problem of water transportation into some of the deserts of California, more especially the rich mining locality known as Death Valley. Water is being in Death Valley at $50 a barrel, and these two engineers are in hopes of hitting on some scheme to relieve the venturesome miners of that district.

KUHIO WINS CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court this morning handed down a decision in the case of H. G. Middlebroth, trustee in bankruptcy of Charles H. Herrick Carriage Co. Ltd., vs. J. Kalahanole and Kaplan Estate, Ltd., partially confirming the judgment of the Circuit Judge, from which appeal was taken.

The suit was brought to enforce payment of a note for $518 given to the plaintiff corporation by the defendant. The Circuit Judge, when the case came up before him, held that equity was without jurisdiction and dismissed the bill. The decree appealed from is confirmed by the Supreme Court as to the dismissal of the bill with costs and reversed as to the allowance of counsel fees as damages under the injunction bond. The syllabus of the decision is as follows:

Creditor's bill; prerequisites, judgment at law, execution unsatisfied.—It seems that a judgment at law and return of execution unsatisfied should ordinarily be shown in order to sustain a creditor's bill under our statute as well as under the general rules of equity although not under the Massachusetts statute from which ours was taken, but, if not, it is necessary to show at least that the defendant has not property within the Territory liable to execution out of which the debt may be satisfied.

Damages; injunction bond, counsel fees.—Counsel fees unreasonably incurred to obtain a dissolution of an injunction should not be allowed as damages under the injunction bond.

RAILWAYS WILL INCREASE PRODUCTION

The following paragraph appears in a recently published letter of O. P. Austin, Chief of Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, to the Hawaii Promotion Committee: "A section able to produce such a variety of tropical articles as produced in the Hawaiian Islands, and having free access to a market demanding such enormous quantities of those various articles as does the market of the United States, ought to become not merely prosperous, as it already is, but one of the most prosperous and perhaps the most prosperous of all the tropical communities of the world."

B. F. Dillingham, when spoken to on the subject, is in thorough accord with the above, but is also of the opinion that such industries will not reach their zenith until more points are pierced by railroads.

Mr. Dillingham points out many places that have become productive only through the agency of the railroad. He claims there are many more such spots that will be made to bloom only by the advent of the steel rails.

There is a wild tribe in the Philippines known as the Ilongots, who have stubbornly refused for centuries to assimilate or in any way become attached to the Christian race or even their own kind throughout the islands. This tribe is within the jurisdiction of Iloilo and according to a former governor's report there is one section north of Dagan inhabited by these people where no Christian has ever penetrated and where the sovereignty of Spain or the United States has never been acknowledged. It is possible that these infidel tribes will never be molested by the United States or any other government. The country is so wild that it is almost useless to send soldiers there and besides these strange beings have a faculty of minding their own business. Spain has lost many of its soldiers in attempts to conquer these tribes but they still hold their freedom.

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs.

Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives. To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
