MILK INSPECTOR

Why Milk Inspector Myhre should be dropped and a new man appointed in his place is a question that many persons, taking an active interest in public affairs, are asking themselves. There is no objection to the Mayor's appointee, Saunders, apparently, but the claim is made that the office of milk inspector should be kept out of politics. The last legislature passed a law turning over many functions, not exercised by the Territory, to the counties. Under this law it devolves upon the Mayor to appoint a milk inspector. As Myhre has held that office for something like ten years, it was generally supposed that he would be named. But Fern did not see it that way, and sent down a new name to the Supervisors. Saunders has not been confirmed and a fight seems probable before the desired job will go to him. Myhre is conceded to be a very capable man, and there are many who believe that his faithful service deserves consideration. Furthermore, he is vouched for as thoroughly competent. R. A. Duncan, Territorial Food Commissioner, when approached today by a Bulletin reporter in regard to the matter, said: "I do not care to make any statement in regard to the matter, other than to say that Myhre is a very competent man and a faithful worker. I have nothing against Saunders, but I really do not consider that the public service would be benefitted by putting an untried man into a position of so vital importance to the welfare of the community as that of milk inspector." Though the milk inspector comes under the direction of the Supervisors, he must of necessity come much into contact with the Food Commissioner, and there seems to be a feeling that a man should be appointed who will work in sympathy with the Territorial official. New York, May 17.—The alarming laxity on the part of the Porto Rican government in the care and control of lepers will be brought to the attention of the United States Government by Dr. Edward Ehlers, one of a party of four European experts who have been studying diseases prevalent in the West Indies. Dr. Ehlers said that under present conditions in Porto Rico it was possible for many lepers to emigrate and carry the disease into the United States. "In the city of Ponce," he said, "I find leprosy very prevalent, and saw many victims in the streets of the city. Two men in an advanced stage of the disease I observed begging in the market place."

STRIKE

(Continued from Page 1) searched it was found to contain the most obscene of French literature, vile pictures and defaming letters. "It was the worst collection I ever saw, and any man who would keep such stuff in his safe is degraded and low in nature," said High Sheriff Henry.

Habeas Corpus Pao. The habeas corpus proceedings in the cases of J. Soga, Nippo Jiji, Y. Takaka, K. Kumura M. Negoro and Fred Makino went by the board in Judge Robinson's court this morning, when Attorney General Hemenway stated that the Territorial Grand Jury would immediately consider the evidence in the possession of the Government, with a view to bringing indictments against the defendants. This would eliminate the necessity of action in the habeas corpus matter, and the prisoners would be remanded to the care of the High Sheriff, pending arrangements for bail. The courtroom was packed with interested spectators, many of whom were Japanese, when court was called to order at 9 o'clock. The move on the part of the Attorney General was somewhat of a surprise to Attorney Lightfoot, counsel for the defendants, as he expected to continue his fight against the dismissal of the writ of habeas corpus and hoped to secure the release of his clients. The news flashed through the corridors of the courthouse that the Grand Jury was listening to incriminating evidence relating to the Japanese agitators and leaders in the strike and when Judge Robinson's court adjourned until 12 o'clock, it was noticed that the crowds were becoming restless and expectant. Within the courtroom, in the custody of police officers and the bailiff of the court, Makino, Editor Soga, Negoro and Kumura sat talking with their counsel and a few friends. Makino said: "We are not looking to make trouble. We are only fighting for higher wages. Instead of arresting me, the officers should thank me for keeping peace among the strikers. But the officers are all right. We are treated well at the jail." At noon court reconvened, and after the Attorney General announced the indictments of Negoro, Tasaka and Kawamura, and the issuance of warrants for Makino, Negoro, Tasaka, Soga and Kawamura, Judge Robinson dismissed the habeas corpus proceedings, and remanded the indicted men to the care of High Sheriff Henry. In Judge Whitney's courtroom oral artillery rang through the corridors, and hot legal battles were fought between Attorney General and Lawyers Lightfoot and Kinney. The latter paid their respects to each other in the most uncomplimentary manner. The petition in the habeas corpus proceedings of the twenty-four Japanese workmen who are held at witnesses in the case, was the subject of consideration before Judge Whitney. A Criminal Organization. Kinney referred to the Japanese strikers as possessing nothing short of a criminal organization, and that it was necessary to hold all of the men arrested in order to secure their unadorned testimony in the assault case. Attorney Lightfoot warmed up and stated that the prosecution had no right under the law whatever to hold the men, and that it was a disgrace and shame to a land of liberty to keep them in jail. Then followed a heated argument, in which much personal abuse crept in. Kinney referred to lawyers "who continually bawl about the land of the free and home of the brave, and speak with tears in their voices about the exaggerated ideas of certain people." He said that the present state of affairs in Hawaii would be remembered with shame by the people, and that the time had come to put a stop to the demonstration. Unlawful Acts. "Yes, they will be remembered," thundered Lightfoot, "and well remembered will be the unlawful act of those who, when a man was in jail, entered his safe and took therefrom papers and documents that did not belong to them. Mr. Kinney speaks of the crowd that assembled yesterday as a disorderly mob. I deny that such was the case. During all of the proceedings in yesterday's cases, I know of no instance where any of the Japanese friends of the strikers made any disturbance. They were in the courtroom and they had a perfect right to be. They smoked in the corridors, and in the absence of a rule of court, they had a perfect right to. And I want to say this: That in conference with the leaders at the jail last night, they said to me that the friends of the strikers were urged to remain quiet and not make any disturbance. And they have obeyed this order in spite of what my learned friend stated." Judge Whitney dismissed the habeas corpus proceedings, with the understanding on the part of counsel on both sides that the subject of holding the witnesses to bail would be taken up immediately, which was done. Judge Whitney in his decision, stated that in this case it did not appear that sufficient cause had been presented to hold the men in jail any longer, unless it could be shown that they had specific knowledge and information regarding the case at hand, but that in some cases it was necessary, but that in the proceedings this did not appear evident. He ordered that the matter be taken up at 4:30 this afternoon, and in the meantime the prosecution should examine witnesses and discharge any from custody who knew nothing of the affair. Kinney objected on the ground that it would take until tomorrow morning to complete the examination, Lightfoot said it was unjust to continue the case longer. The Judge finally made an order to hear the prosecution tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.
