SOCIAL NOTES

About thirty happy children were hidden by little Bonnie Towse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Towse to spend the hours of from two until five o'clock Saturday afternoon, January 15th, to assist in celebrating her eighth birthday. A happy gathering of children indulged in merry sport on the pretty lawn, when the rain ceased. When surprised by the falling drops the music of pattering feet could be heard on the broad lanai—nothing like this dauntless pleasure-loving children and the sport went on. The large dining room held a long table, ice cream, candy, and other delicacies which appeal to the average child's appetite were there in abundance. A most delightful afternoon was spent by the little folks, who came to wish the little hostess many happy returns of the day.

Miss Wattle Holt, one of Honolulu's most attractive maidens, has consented to appear in the floral parade as the Princess of Oahu. Miss Holt is noted for her fearless and graceful accomplishment as an equestrienne and the selection is conferring satisfaction to Miss Rose Dawson, in charge of this section, whose horsemanship is unsurpassed and who is most competent to judge the merits of each who will be selected to lend an attraction to the pageant. There will be no difficulty, it is presumed, in the choice from the other islands. Although the island of Oahu claims many beautiful girls it does not claim supremacy. No fairer scene will present itself than these representatives of island beauty on the back of a horse that shows its pride of the lovely burden that he is carrying.

Honolulu's loss will undoubtedly be San Francisco's gain when the gifted water-color artist, Otto Wix, who left on the Manchuria arrives in the metropolis of the west, where he will take up his residence. His fame has preceded him, and the beautiful island scenes wrought by his clever brush are much in evidence in that city, where art in every form is appreciated. His permanent exhibition in San Francisco of his work will be a treat not often enjoyed, and an opportunity of seeing an interpretation of nature's loveliness which this talented artist has the gift of unfolding. Besides the admiration which is expressed in no measured terms, Mr. Wix has the happy faculty of making friends, which are legion on the islands, and the wish is expressed, although it seems selfish, that it will be the privilege of this community to welcome Mr. Wix in the near future to Honolulu, to make it his permanent home.

A very pleasing concert was given at the home of Mrs. J. A. McCandless, Nuuanu, last Thursday evening, at which the elite of Honolulu were present. Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall, soprano; Mrs. Grace S. Bannerman, alto; and Miss Margaret Clarke, pianist, were the entertainers of the evening. This was the second of three recitals. The third and last will be given at the home of Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Punahou, on Thursday evening, January 27, 1910. These two recitals have been very favorably commented upon, not only by critics, but by the music-loving residents of Honolulu. Considering the excellent programs that have been rendered by this famous trio and the marked talent displayed, Honolulu is indeed proud of her local talent.

Tuesday, Mrs. George Turner of Fort De Russy, entertained informally at tea, in honor of a few intimate friends, the house looked very attractive in its decorations of red carnations, and a pleasant hour of chit-chat was spent around the tea table of this cozy home. Among those present were: Mrs. E. O. Hall, Miss Caroline Benson, of Portland, Ore.; Miss Cree, daughter of Major Cree of Fort De Russy; Mrs. Williams, wife of Lt. Williams; Miss Charlotte Hall; Mrs. Seymour Hall; Madam Turner; Miss Blanche Turner and Miss Sadie Cox of St. Louis.

Miss Coffee, a niece of Mrs. Garteberg of this city, will spend the winter with her aunt at her Waikiki home. Miss Coffee is from Oakland, is extremely pretty, and will be the motif for much entertaining.

An enjoyable surf riding party was given at the Moana Hotel, Sunday morning. The waves were very high, and exciting sport was experienced. After indulging in this novel pastime, a dip was taken in the briny deep, by the young people, and later an impromptu breakfast was served to the guests. Among those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry, Miss Katherine Stephens, Miss Caroline Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fogg of Tacoma, Wash., Mr. Cladius McBride, Mr. Cushing and others.

Captain and Mrs. Low, U. S. M. C., entertained at dinner, Thursday, in honor of Miss Wurts of Chicago. This charming girl is an old friend of Mrs. Low, and will spend the winter with her grandmother and aunt at the Moana Hotel.

Deep regret is being expressed over the departure of Major Haines of the Paymaster Corps of the Army. The genial Major has been doing temporary duty in the islands, during the absence of Major Ray, and will leave on the Manchuria for San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fogg, who are from Tacoma, and have been making the Moana Hotel their habitation since their arrival in Honolulu, left on Monday, January seventeenth, for Haleiwa. Mr. Fogg is an enthusiast on golf, and expects to spend the most of his time on the links.

The engagement of Miss Ethel Taylor of Hanalei, to Mr. Bevin of Pala, Maui, has been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Brown of Minneapolis are sojourning in Honolulu and are planning to remain several months.

On Thursday, Captain and Mrs. Morris of the Fifth Cavalry entertained at dinner. Their guests were Captain and Mrs. Seales and Lieutenant and Mrs. Lewis.

Mr. Watlington and Mr. T. Fulford of Bishop & Co., spent Saturday and Sunday as guests at the Oahu Plantation.

Miss Biggart was a departing passenger for Kauai on the steamer W. G. Hall on Thursday, January 20th.

Mr. E. A. P. Newcomb and his sister, Miss Newcomb, who resided in Honolulu some years ago, leaving here to locate in their home in New York, returned on the Korea, and are domiciled at the Hawaiian Hotel. Mr. Newcomb will take up his permanent residence in Honolulu and resume his business of an artistic builder and decorator. Mr. Newcomb has the reputation of being a very fine architect, and is endowed with a number of accomplishments. The brother and sister were favorites in the social world of Honolulu and their return will be most welcome to their old-time friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid who are sojourning at the Moana Hotel are planning to spend a year in these beautiful islands. This prominent couple closed their home in Paris some years ago, and have been touring the United States leisurely. While at Coronado beach last winter, they received glowing reports of Honolulu, that they decided to visit the Paradise of the Pacific. Mr. and Mrs. Reid have been the motif for much entertaining since their arrival.

Mrs. Arthur Marx entertained informally at a 5 o'clock tea Wednesday at her home on Bingham and Alexander streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klamp are giving a week-end party to a number of their friends at their beautiful suburban home at Kahala, Oahu.

Miss Gibson and her daughter, Miss Gibson, are domiciled at the Moana Hotel. Miss Gibson is a petite blonde with large blue eyes and fair hair. This pretty girl is a warm personal friend of Miss Jesse Kennedy.

At her colonial home on the corner of Victoria and Kinan streets Mrs. Frank Halstead is entertaining at a bridge party in honor of her sister, Mrs. Christian Castendyk, of Hilo, Hawaii. The decoration will be green and red, and some handsome prizes have been chosen.

Miss Mae Damon will be among the luncheon hostesses for the coming week. This charming girl has invited a number of her friends for dinner on Tuesday. Miss Damon is well versed in the art of entertaining and is sure to make a charming hostess on this occasion.

OUTRIGGER CLUB NOTES.
Owing to the fact that the 23rd is Sunday and that there are many Christian Endeavorers aboard the Cleveland, the regatta portion of the surfing sports will be held on Saturday, February 12, when the Cleveland returns to Honolulu with her westward-bound round-the-world cruisers.
The event for tomorrow will be confined almost entirely to surfboard-riding and surfboating, neither of which sports requires the exhausting manual labor of the regatta work.
The boys will, of course, compete for the Clark cups—two of them. They will go out on their boards, come in standing upon the tips of the big rollers. Some will even stand on their heads on the boards, and others will actually walk on the tiny bits of plank. The judges on the Moana pier will award the surfboard cup to the most graceful and expert manipulator of his board. About thirty entries have been made.
In the canoe surfing contest the judges will consider grace of motion, directness in steering and distance traveled before the wave.
The boys for the surfboard contest will line up on the beach of the Outrigger grounds at 3 o'clock, and a few minutes later they will paddle out, starting in line. After a few waves have been caught, the judges will pick out the dozen best surfers. The canoe surfing will then take place, and after that is over the ten selected surfboarders will enter the final contest for the Clark cup. These cups, now on exhibition in the windows of E. O. Hall & Son, are the finest trophies of the kind ever sent to Honolulu, and are the gift of Frank C. Clark. The two larger cups will be held for the events to be pulled off when Frank Clark is here with his cruisers on February 12. Governor Peary, it is expected, will then present all the cups to the winners.
Sunday afternoon an old friend of the club will be on hand to prepare his famous fish chowder, which will be dished out hot to all who return from the aquatic contests.
As the Outrigger Club was first suggested by the malihini, that individual has not been lost sight of. For his edification and delectation, on Sunday, pol-pouanders are to be in evidence before the native grass houses. The Kamehameha Aquatic Club of Hawaiian sons will provide these, and the malihinis will see how the taro looks when it is first taken from the soil; how it is baked with porous stones, then boiled, pounded into poi, and eaten with one, two or three fingers. In fact, the Outrigger Club is trying to give the stranger the kind of entertainment he wishes.
Messrs. Ehlers & Co. have gotten out a handsome illustrated program of the day for the Outrigger Club, and this will be distributed among the 700 cruisers aboard the Cleveland. Mr. Herbert Clark, an elder brother of Frank C. Clark, is in charge of the present cruise. Both he and his brother are personal friends of the president of the Outrigger Club, who will see to it that they are properly entertained at Waikiki.

NORFOLK, Jan. 5.—The battleship Georgia ran aground in the Elizabeth river this afternoon and another notch was cut in her stack of recent mishaps.
The vessel was proceeding down the river from Norfolk Navy Yard, where the hole ripped in her outer hull by the propeller of the collier Vestal, three weeks ago, had just been patched up and injuries sustained in collision with the battleship Nebraska, a few days previous, repaired. Three disasters within a month have led her to be dubbed "the hoodoo of the navy."
The Georgia had been ordered to sea for tactical exercise today and was steaming out. At about six knots an hour she struck on the shoal between Lambert's Point and Craney Island Light.
The C Q D signal was flashed by wireless, and four tugs raced to her assistance from the Navy Yard. They found the big fighter stuck hard, but a half hour of pulling all together got the vessel again clear.
