STERLING BICYCLES are exceedingly graceful in appearance and substantial in construction. They are made in one of the largest and best equipped factories where for fourteen years the one aim has been to combine style, running and wearing qualities with moderate price. The quality which enters into these bicycles is made possible only by the possession of this long experience, unequalled manufacturing facilities and a great output.

MEN GETTING INTO CONDITION FOR FIGHTS NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Scrappers Working Out to Show Sports Real Bouts.

JIM HOAO

Hawaiian Lad Who Boxes Joe McGurn twelve rounds December 26.

SPORT—2 Col 36 pt—Men getting. At this time next week it will all be over but the shouting. The big fight between Hoao and McGurn will be a matter of history and when the two principals wake up in the morning they will realize which is the better man in the squared circle.

The posters for the fight have been put up around town and they contain the cuts of all the fighters except Bauerstocks of the Cavalry, who did not see fit to furnish the promoter with a photo of himself.

Bauerstocks made a mistake in that, for the more publicity a man gets the better it is for him.

That there are going to be some scraps on the evening of the 26th which will delight the sporting public of this city is a foregone conclusion from the card that has been prepared and the way the men on the card are working themselves into shape for the event.

The whole bunch are going at the training as if their lives depended upon the outcome of the matches to be pulled off and they will each and all be in the pink of condition when the night of the fights arrives.

Nigel Jackson is working hard to make the evening a success and there seems no reason why it should not be.

The Asahi theater, which is to be the scene of the events, is probably the best place that could be chosen. There is seating capacity for 1300 persons, including a large number of ringside seats placed on the large stage, and everyone should be accommodated.

MEET AT SHAFTER ONE DAY EARLY

Begins On Thursday and Will Be Finished By Saturday.

On account of next Sunday being Christmas day the field meet at Fort Shafter which was to have been held the last days of the week has been brought forward and will start on Thursday so that all events can be finished by Saturday evening.

Beginning the meet on Friday and holding over until Saturday, there might be some events not finished before Christmas day.

By starting on Thursday everything can easily be finished on Saturday and the prizes awarded so that the men who win the cash prizes can have them in their pockets for Christmas day and thus brighten up the prospects somewhat.

The meet is to be held between men of the second battalion of the 20th Infantry, stationed at Fort Shafter, and the records they make may cause feelings of jealousy among other members of the regiment who are now stationed in the Philippines.

The events scheduled comprise everything from individual contests to a relay race comprising the men of an entire company and that there is great rivalry goes without saying.

The second day of the meet will be devoted to the rifle match, bowling match and basketball game, while the events of the first day will be of a more military character.

For the past two weeks the men have been doing their best to become proficient in the different lines in which they will be called upon to demonstrate their fitness, and especially in bowling and basketball has there been some hard work done.

It is truly a fortunate thing for most of us that we are not compelled to transform all our thoughts into words.

What the very young man doesn't know he imagines he knows and it causes him just as much trouble.

WHY PITCHERS ARE WEAK AT BAT

Mordecai Brown Gives Several Reasons for Slab Artists Owing the League.

"The batting helplessness of pitchers," remarks Mordecai Brown, the great three-fingered hurler of the Cubs, has been a rich joke for thirty years, and no doubt, will continue to be so long as the old game is played. Why are pitchers so feeble with the stick? Why are they lemons with the bat and on the bases?

"The average man outside the game would think that pitchers should be the best batsmen in the world. They know all about the tricks of throwing the ball, they should know just what is being sent by the other pitcher, and, therefore, being educated, as it were, they ought to be exceptionally good hitters. But, as a rule, they are miserable punks with the stick and are getting worse instead of better, as the years go by. Yes, I know—I hit .176 in 1909, but I never did claim to be a Delephanty."

Many Reasons for Weak Batting. "The reasons for the weak batting of pitchers are numerous; so numerous, in fact, that any one of them would seem wholly logical as an excuse. For one thing, the pitcher, especially in a hard, close game, is about all in as he comes back from the slab at the end of every inning. He is panting, half-dizzy, nerves and muscles all throbbing, and how can a man in that condition be expected to go up and hit the ball?

"There is good reason for helplessness on the part of a great many pitchers. Then again, many hurlers are specialists and students of pitching and nothing but pitching. They spend all their practice time learning the tricks of the slabman's trade, those and nothing more. They can't bat, simply because they don't know how."

Many Do Not Try. "Still others disdain batting on the principle that they are earning their salaries by pitching and nothing but pitching—that they do enough along those lines, and that it would be foolish for them to even attempt to bat. Still more of the slabmen allege that, batting and running the bases tires them out so that they can not do their best with the curves, and hence they are really serving their clubs most faithfully when they do not try to slug."

"All of these reasons are logical and self-explanatory. Of course, a pitcher who can bat has a big advantage over the fellows who are unable to swing the leather. It means a lot of difference when a team sends nine sluggers into action, or eight batters and a sure out for the ninth man. Some of the good batting pitchers of the past—Luby, Caruthers, Fouts, Radbourne, Gumbert, for example—won many of their best games by slamming the ball themselves. Which I could. If I can win 300 per cent of my games batting as lightly as I do now, wouldn't I very likely win 350 per cent, if I could hit 300?"
