Young Ornellas Falls To Death

Well-known Athlete Lost In Harbor In Performance Of Duties

Antone C. Ornellas has finished life's marathon. Ornellas, as a deliveryman in the employ of the Metropolitan Meat Co. visited the American schooner Mary E. Foster between five and six o'clock this morning, and in leaving that vessel went to a watery grave.

Few persons witnessed the fall and subsequent drowning of the young man who is a Portuguese and one of the best known athletes in Hawaii. He left the market at an early hour in one of the company's wagons to make his deliveries.

Captain Thompson and his wife were aboard the lumber vessel at the time but in their cabin. Mrs. Thompson heard Ornellas come aboard the ship, walk along the deck to the galley and then return to the ladder leading to the wharf. His steps in descending were distinctly heard, then followed a muffled cry as of one struggling in the water.

By the time that the skipper, his wife and a few members of the crew had reached the side of the vessel nothing was to be seen of the man. Ornellas is believed to have struck an obstruction as he went down between the ship and the wharf. There is a space of several feet separating the vessel from the side of the dock.

Ornellas resided at 1450 Miller street. He has been connected with the Metropolitan Market for the past eight years and was considered a trusted and faithful employee. He was about twenty-five years old and has been very active in amateur and professional sports.

Last night Ornellas was one of several well known runners who attended a preliminary meeting of marathon runners, gathered at the law office of Charles E. Chillingworth and there discussed plans for the coming Hawaiian road race to be pulled off on February 22nd.

Ornellas had won previous laurels as a runner. At the last road race, which was run at the League Grounds some time ago, Ornellas was one of the few runners that stayed with Kono, the old "Waiolua Horse," who finally carried off the honors.

Diver Hoffman was employed this morning to seek the body of the young Portuguese. A careful search has been conducted throughout the day with Ornellas's brother assisting.

Captain Thompson is of the opinion that Ornellas fell from the edge of the wharf, as the structure was wet and slippery from the steady rainfall.

Young Ornellas was unmarried. He lived with his aged mother and a sister at 1450 Miller street, and was a main source of support for his mother, who is a widow. He has several brothers.

Ornellas is said by the employees of the Metropolitan meat market to have been one of the best men employed by the company and very popular everywhere.

Divers recovered the body of Ornellas at twelve feet today. It had not moved twenty feet from the place where it is supposed to have gone down.

CHANGE IN MOLOKAI LIGHT LONG AGO, SAYS INSPECTOR; SHERMAN CAPTAIN SAYS NOT

"The Molokai light has been a revolving light since September 1, 1909, nearly a year and a half," said Lieutenant Leo Sahn, U. S. light-house inspector, this morning, in speaking of the statement of Captain Lynam of the transport Sherman that the light had been changed since he was last here.

"Captain Lynam must have passed this light about nine times since it was made a revolving light, several times leaving Honolulu in the late afternoon and passing the light in the evening on his way to the Coast," he continued.

"In regard to the charts of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, which, by the way, are furnished to all ship masters free of charge, Lieutenant Sahn showed Chart 4190, which was issued in October, 1910, and which shows the characteristics of the Molokai light to be a white flash of twenty seconds duration, as do all subsequent charts up to the first of this year, when the time of the flash was changed from twenty seconds to ten seconds.

On page 50 of the official list of lights and fog signals of the United States, corrected to July 31, 1909, the characteristic of the Molokai light is shown as a white flash every twenty seconds.

In the Notice to Mariners published and issued at Washington on November 18, 1910, a notice is given that the characteristic of the Molokai light would be changed on the first of January from a twenty-second white flash to a ten-second white flash, no other change in the characteristic being made.

In the local notice to mariners issued by the light-house inspector of this district on January 4, a notice is given that the change which was reported to be made on the first of the year had been made and the light now showing every ten seconds instead of every twenty.

Continuing his statement, Lieutenant Sahn said:

"It is absolutely impossible that any shipmaster should mistake the light at Molokai for the one at Makapuu Point on Oahu. The Oahu light is higher in the air, and it shows white for seven and one-half seconds, with an eclipse of one and one-half seconds. It is altogether a different light from the one on Molokai, and I do not see how the two could be confused."

"Eternal vigilance may prevent a devil of a lot of trouble sometimes," was the concluding statement made by Captain Lynam, master of the United States Army transport Sherman, now at the Oceanic wharf, and en route to the Philippines, in giving his version of an unpleasant predicament which the transport found herself in on last Wednesday night and early Thursday morning.

The substitution of the oscillating or flashing light on the island of Molokai, which took the place of a

SENATE RACKED OVER DIRECT VOTE OF PEOPLE FOR SENATOR

(Associated Press Cable.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.—The usual calm of the United States Senate was racked today when a resolution declaring the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people was offered. Opponents of the measure at once moved for an adjournment in an attempt to postpone consideration, but its backers fought for it, and when the motion to adjourn was put, the Senate defeated it by 42 to 17 votes.

Then the Senate passed a motion to take up the resolution for a direct vote on the Senatorship, and this is being thrashed out this afternoon. It is considered a test of the measure's strength in the Senate.

DIES READING OLD TESTAMENT

David Watson, Well Known
Hawaiian, Passes Gently to Last Sleep.

David Watson, a well-known Hawaiian politician, died unexpectedly this morning at his home in Konehe, at the age of 58 years. He was sitting in his bedroom, reading an Old Testament, when he sank back into his chair and died suddenly. No one in the house knew that he had died until they called him for breakfast. Falling to hear from him, they went into the room, only to find that he was dead. Up to the time of his death he was apparently well and in the best of health.

Watson was a Home Ruler at one time, and afterwards joined the Democratic party. Later he joined the Republican party, with which he was affiliated until his death. He was a lawyer by profession, having been admitted to practice in all the district courts of the Territory.

Dr. Pratt, acting president of the Board of Health, received a wireless from Maui this morning stating that there are now thirty-four cases of varioloid in the detention camp at Kihel. All of those affected with the disease have it in the mildest form and no new outside cases have developed.

DIRECT PRIMARY TO HAVE HARD FIGHT

Opposition to Measure Is Already Well Entrenched Here.

DOUBT IF PLAN IS APPLICABLE LOCALLY

Legislators Beginning to See Many Objections to Forcing the Idea on Hawaiian Electorate.

With the Republican Territorial platform calling for the enactment of a direct primary law at the next session of the Legislature, all the signs of the times point to a fight against the measure within the party ranks. In fact, several of the Oahu legislators elect are not averse to declaring their opposition in private conversation, although none of them has yet dared the public wrath by coming out boldly against it.

In spite of the four years and more that the direct primary has been a pending law in Hawaii, the legislators declare that the plank was inserted in the platform with but little knowledge of the effects of such a law, and that later study has convinced them it can not be successful, fully applied to local conditions.

A number of the Oahu delegation attended the meeting last night of the civic section of the Men's League and heard Judge Whitney's able presentation of the varying phases of direct primary laws. Several of them this morning declared that the expense of direct primary campaigns, the length of time involved, the lack of clean-cut party lines and the inability of country candidates to get a fair hearing makes the law unsuitable to Hawaiian conditions.

Opposition Deep Laid.

But of this, however, is an undeniable opposition to the bill based on present party affiliations, and the opposition looks strong enough now to make the passage of the bill a very doubtful matter.

The fight over this promises to be the feature of the legislative session. Oahu will be the center of the fight, as the platform would apply the law only to this island. The outside delegations are liable to swing either way.

Chairman A. D. Cooper of the Territorial executive committee, and recently named head of the steering committee, says he is satisfied that the strong pledge given in the platform will not be ignored, but other politicians are not so sanguine. Several of them have grave doubts as to the constitutionality of a law that will prescribe one method of voting in Oahu and another in Maui, but this difficulty, it is stated, will be obviated by making the direct primary applicable to municipalities, and the city and county of Honolulu, being the only municipality, will thus get the benefit of the law.

PORTUGUESE IN FUNCHAL ARE WAITING

Hawaii will get nearly a thousand Portuguese immigrants from Funchal, Madeira, according to news received here from private sources. It appears from this that the recent work of the labor agents in the island of Madeira will not be completely lost because of the cholera epidemic.

When the cholera made its appearance Campbell left the islands and is now said to be in London. Agent Silva is carrying on recruiting work from other parts of Portugal. The first reports indicated that the shipload of immigrants at Funchal would be left there and no further efforts made to bring them here, but the latest news now is that as soon as the quarantine regulations will permit, Agent Silva will send a ship to Funchal and get his Portuguese families out to be sent to Panama, transhipped there, and brought across the Pacific on a vessel chartered by Dr. Victor S. Clark.

New Schedule Of Teachers' Salaries

Public Instruction Board Approves Readjustment In Legislature

A readjustment and general increase in salaries of teachers throughout the Territory has been planned by Superintendent Pope and the Commissioners of Public Instruction but is dependent upon the securing of a sufficient appropriation at the next session of the Legislature.

The salary schedule as prepared is a complete one and it is hoped that it will be possible to carry it into effect.

Teachers obtaining Normal diplomas will be allowed for three years' experience, beginning at $60.00 per month and receiving their maximum salary in seven years.

Teachers having completed the two years collegiate course in the Normal school shall begin at $65.00 per month receiving the maximum salary in five years.

The salaries of assistant teachers in the elementary schools shall be regulated according to the following table based on certificates held and length of efficient service:

Assistant teachers' schedule—First year, $48.00; per month, $40.00—permit to teach. Second year, $50.00; per month, $42.00—continued permit to teach. Third, $52.00; per month, $44.00—certificate to teach. Fourth, $54.00; per month, $46.00. Fifth, $56.00; per month, $48.00. Sixth, $58.00; per month, $50.00. Seventh, $60.00; per month, $52.00. Eighth, $62.00; per month, $54.00. Ninth, $64.00; per month, $56.00. Tenth, $66.00; per month, $58.00.

No increase in teachers' salaries is to be made except at the beginning of each school year.

Competent teachers in undesirable locations may be paid above schedule. Substitute teachers taking the place of teachers in the elementary schools shall be paid $2.00 per day. Substitutes for teachers in High and Normal school shall be paid at the rate of $3.50 per day.

NO PAY DAY FOR CITY EMPLOYEES UNTIL PASSAGE OF APPROPRIATION BILL

City and county employees say that they are broke. And, worse luck, there is no immediate prospect for the payment of their salaries.

The new board of city and county supervisors has a new appropriation bill under consideration. Until this is passed at a final reading and receives the signature of Mayor J. J. Fern, City Clerk Kalauokalani can draw up no salary lists, Auditor Bicknell can issue no warrants, nor can Treasurer Shingle cash the little blue slips that are presented at his cashier window.

Heretofore, the grand army of employees of the municipal government have been receiving their princely stipends on or about the first and fifteenth of each month.

They will be obliged to forego the bi-monthly replenishment of their cash boxes this month, pending the adoption of the appropriation bill.

This measure is being rushed through the board. Tonight they will pass the bill along to a second reading. Then comes a third and final consideration before the three months' expense bill goes to Mayor Fern for signature or veto.

Should his Honor decide to affix his name to the document, the ghost will stalk through municipal halls the first of February. There is one sad contingency, however, and that comes from a fairly well-founded opinion expressed in some quarters that Mayor Fern may decide to hold up the appropriation bill until the "solid six" Republican supervisors come around to his way of thinking
