CENTURY IN COLLECTION.

Lawrenceburg is accustomed to the usual disturbances which interrupt church services but the sight of a new, crisp $100 bill lying on the collection plate as it was passed thru the congregation as the ushers took the evening offering at the Christian church created a sensation that almost "broke up" meeting.

Elderly ladies wiped their spectacles as they tried to convince themselves that it was only a $1 bill. Some gentlemen were astonished, refusing to believe their eyes, accounting for the strange sight by the fact that they often see double and that at the most it couldn't be more than a ten spot.

Others who trust their eyesight, whispered excitedly to their neighbors, demanding to know from whom the generous donation had come. Many refused to believe that it was really a $100 bill until assured by the ushers that such was the case.

Order was only half way restored in the auditorium when it became generally known that was a genuine $100 bill—not counterfeit as a pessimistic member suggested and had been given by Mrs. W. B. Elkins, former wife of a multi-millionaire New Yorker, who was reared in Lawrenceburg.—Lawrenceburg News.

NEAR EAST RELIEF.

Miss Reek Strauffer, of Louisville, is in Louisa arranging for raising Lawrence county's quota of the Near East Relief fund, which is $1000. She was formerly a foreign missionary. She made a most interesting talk at the M. E. Church South Wednesday evening. The Garden theater agreed to run a reel of moving pictures at 6:30 Thursday evening. Admission free to all. The picture portrays the situation better than it can be described and everybody should see it.

The Louisa junior ball team went to Catlettsburg last Monday and defeated that team by a score of 12 to 4. The Louisa boys got 16 hits. Endicott pitched for the local boys and allowed only 4 hits. He struck out 10 and knocked a home run for good measure.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Artrip and daughters, Misses Nellie and Willie May, have returned to their home at Huntington after a motor trip of several weeks in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Canada.

Chas. M. Edwards, Clerk of Lawrence county, left Tuesday for Frankfort for a few days stay.

On the J. H. Northrup lands on Little Paint Creek in Johnson county, the Little Paint Oil & Gas Co. is drilling its No. 3 well. This company expects to go on and develop its valuable holdings.

GALLUP.

There will be a community meeting at this place September 23. Dinner will be served on the ground. We will have with us Mr. Baker, our county agent, and Mr. Whitehouse of Lexington. Everybody is cordially invited.

COMMITTEE.

Stop, Look, Read, Listen

O Mr. Man you can't afford to overlook the greatest business in the world, the farm where all mankind, the beast and little fowls of the air live from. It is an inheritance from God to man. It is now up to you whether you want to let nature produce your living or pound it out in the workshops, factory or mines, under all kinds of circumstances confronting the laboring man. Worrying over strikes, breakdowns shut-outs. Cut this out, be independent, be your own boss, run your own business. Buy your own farm, large or small, it will take care of you when you get old, broken down, not able to labor. It matters not how much money or how little you have to buy with. Write me for price list or come and tell me what you want and how you want it and I will do the rest. Address all letters to:

AT LAST! LOUISA TEAM LOSES GAME

First Defeat For Local Boys on Home Grounds This Season.

The Wayne ball team, so badly defeated by the local team a week ago, came back for revenge last Sunday—and got it. The addition of five new players greatly strengthened Wayne's line-up and their fielding was much better than a week ago.

With the exception of the first inning, Tavener pitched fine ball. He struck out 14 men. A single, a walk and a double gave Wayne her two scores in the first inning. An error, a wild throw and a sacrifice fly gave Louisa her only run in the fourth.

With the bases full in the first and fifth, Louisa had two chances to win the game, but failed.

JAMES TRIMBLE.

The Washington Herald of recent date prints a good picture of James Trimble, formerly of Catlettsburg and Ashland, and accompanies it with the following sketch:

James Trimble, vice-president of the National Bank of Washington who has been engaged in the banking profession since boyhood.

Mr. Trimble came to Washington 15 years ago from Ashland, Ky. From until 1921 he occupied the position of National Bank Examiner for Washington and Baltimore, an assignment carrying 57 banks. This work was interrupted from October, 1916, until March, 1917, when Mr. Trimble was placed in charge of the Chief National Bank Examiner's office in New York, which gave Mr. Trimble the distinction of examining some of the largest banks in the United States during that period. He resigned in February, 1921, in order to occupy his present position.

BOYD COUPLE ELOPES.

An irate Boyd county father today is combing the tri-state region, assisted by the police of the various cities, for his sixteen-year-old daughter who in a search for romance eloped with the man of her choice Thursday night from her home on Garner creek, says the Ashland Independent of Sunday.

The worried father is Scott Bullion, who appealed to the authorities here yesterday to aid him in his frantic search. The girl is Miss Verna. The man is Charley Church, a resident of the Garner neighborhood.

The young couple is alleged to have boarded an A. C. & L. train at Garner sometime Thursday evening to make their way to Ashland. They did not secure a marriage license at Catlettsburg and the father of the girl is making investigations at Huntington, Ironton, Portsmouth and Greenup in an effort to find her.

KERCHIVAL-JACKSON.

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Kerchival, daughter of Dr. C. K. Kerchival, of Ashland, to Mr. Corum Jackson, was solemnized on Sunday evening at the parsonage of Rev. Condit, in Ashland, in the presence of close friends and relatives.

The bride is a beautiful young lady and was graduated last June from a school in Boston, Mass. Since her mother's death she has made her home with her uncle, Mr. T. A. Field and her grandfather, Mr. Crump. Mr. Jackson is a popular member of Huntington social circles. For the past 11 years he has held a responsible position with the American Car & Foundry Company. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are now at home in Ashland, but will later take an apartment in Huntington.

WOUNDED AT LOGAN.

Logan, W. Va., Aug. 13.—Tom Chaffin, deputy sheriff of Logan county, is in the Logan hospital, suffering from three knife wounds and Walter Lewis, his alleged assailant, is in jail. The stabbing took place last night at a carnival at Logan.
