ITEMS FROM OILDOM.

Mr. Editor: In the first place, let for fear of the consequences. me assure you that the good old "Journal" was most warmly welcomed, and was read and re-read until it exhibited strong signs of dissolution.

And right here we should like to know, Mr. Editor, whether you are the owner of a pair of "boxing gloves," and if not, we most humbly beg you to secure a pair, so as to be ready for the grip of that "big, brawny hand" of Pete's, when he comes. Now, remember, that "to be forewarned is to be fore ir and."

Sometime ago your correspondent was sent to interview an old gentleman living at Petroleum Centre, this county. His name is Adam Holiday, and he thought he was the oldest living member of the order of Odd Fellows in the state of Pa. in good standing at the present time. He became a member of Layfayette Lodge, No. 18, of Philadelphia in 1837, and never has received a single dollar from the order, from the fact that he has always been healthy and did not need it.

He attends every lodge meeting and has filled every office in it.

Not having time nor space to give you but very little of the interview, suffice it to say, that it was published in full in the Oil City Daily Derrick, and caused considerable excitement, as many papers copied the article, and now it seems after due investigation, that he is the oldest Odd Fellow in the U. S.

Mr. Holiday was formerly a native of Blair county, and his grand father laid out and drove the stakes for the town of Holidaysburg, which was named in honor of the old gentleman, who was very wealthy, and owned all the land for miles in every direction, it having been presented to him by the King of England for some noble act.

His successor and only son, John, the father of the one now living, inherited the whole property, it being entailed under the old English law, and he laid out Johnstown, which was so called in honor of his taptismal

In fact, the reminiscences and reccollections of this old gentleman could not fail to be very interesting to people in that part of the country-but time is wanting.

The different wells here are all connected, with wooden rods-so that go wherever one may, this wet work of rois exists. The oil is pumped into the tanks first, and then rua into the Pipe Lines. This is done by turning a fancet, one of which is to be found upon every tank. And just such another net-work of pipes is to be found beneath our feet, some under the ground and some unconcealed, so that the

Some of the wells are pumped constantly, and others at intervals; the latter kind will fill up to a certain place in a certain number of hours. and if not pumped out then, will not fill up one bit farther, even if left a week. Hence, if they are not pumped on the Sabbath, the production of one day is always lost, because they get no more on Monday than if they had pumped it out the day before, and that is the reason why many do not shut down their wells on Sunday.

WORTH REEMBERING .- It is the penny saved more than the penny earned that enriches; it is the sheet turned when the first threads break, that wears the longest; it is the damper closed when the cooking is done that stops dollars dropping in the coal bis; it is the lamp or gass burned low when not in use, that gives you pinmoney for the month; it is the care in making the coffee that makes three spoonfuls go as far as a teacup ordinarily; it is the walking one or six blocks, instead of taking a cab or omnibus, that adds strength to your body and money to your as purse; it is the careful mending of each week's wash It seems that there are more wells that gives ease to your conscience and work, that gives peace and prosperity To prove this assertion, we need to the family or your business,

The funniest case of "capital" punishment that we have noticed lately was that which occurred in North Carolina, a few nights ago. A darkey assisted a neighbor in butchering. Upon starting home in the evening, Mr. Darkey shouldered the carcass of a fine hog, intending to steal it. In crossing a fence, he balanced his pork on the men employed. One sett go on tour or top rail, jumped over, and was seized tower, as they call it, at midnight, and by the gambrel stick catching the fellow work until noon next day, when they by the neck, and next day they were dead as the other.

He seemed to search around like a dog for a place to suit his snakeship and then stretched himself out to enjoy a warmth, I was thinking if it was worth while to heave a stone at the mouster when a big shadow swept down and a hawk nearly caught him napping, but not quite. The snake prang his rattle and coiled himself ready for attack, while the hawk hovered around, making a dash, now on the right and now on the left. It was quite an interesting skirmish; but at ast the snake made a spring and apparently failed to strike, and before he could recoil himself the hawk seized him with both talons close behind the head. In fact he had made him on the neck and swept into the air, while the snake struggled and twisted, away up into the blue in wide circling sweeps, until the struggling reptile hung limp and lifeless, when the hawk came down to earth again and, alighting on a neighboring tree, made his meal on the

The new version of the New Testament, which The new version of the New Testament, which has been so many years in course of translation and which is so unquestionably the most important literary enterprise this century has seen, is being waited for with curiosity and anxlety by hundreds of thousands. It is not generally known that a first edition of 500,000 c. pies has alreedy been manufactured in England, and 100,000 copies are said to be already in New York City, not one of them permitted to be said. They are awaiting a felegram from the "Uncle Christ." But we do not see that our friend "Mac" has any special field of labor.

CHICAGO, March 7 .- The Chicago Lumbermen's Exchange held its annual meeting to-day. The receipts of lumber of all kinds at this port during the year 1880 were 1,-564,000,000 feet.

The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY.
