are made in various ways, with resinous oil sometimes, and often with cheap var-nish. If a floor paint could only be made with a fine varnish, it would be wery attractive, both as to its quick drying properties, high gloss and durability; but such a varnish costs four dollars a gallon, and therefore it is out of Who has the exclusive right to use Odontunder in Oxford County for the Paints as gallon, and therefore it is out of the question. A paint made with varnish does not spread as nicely as one with oil. The Chilton Floor Paints are made with pure kettle-boiled Linseed Oil, with as much turpentine japan added as is consistent with durability.
