THE WATER QUESTION.

The Advertiser of Tuesday had over a column on this subject, in which the Press and its editor came in for a full share of attention. Mr. Smith-for he is no doubt the writer-disclaims all responsibility for Mr. Speed's proposition to supply the city, and thinks the stockholders of the Water Power Company will object to his proposition as unjust to their

We have, still, a strong suspicion that, for all pracical purposes, Col. Speed, the editor of the Advertiser, F. O. J. Smith, and the Stockholders of the Water Power Co., are all oneone person-but this is a question of very little importance anyway. As we have before intimated, if either or all of them, or anybody else, will propose a feasible scheme for furnishing the city with pure water, we insist it should be met, considered, canvassed and treated according to its merits. It is the water we want, and it is of very small consequence to the consumer or to the city who supplies it. provided it be supplied, is of good quality, in sufficient quantity, and at a cost that is not un-

If Mr. Smith will do this, whatever views we may have expressed in relation to him. however we may have regarded his motives, or whatever the feelings of the public in relation to him in other matters, he will deserve well of posterity for at least one deed of public spirit, and will cause his name to be remembered with gratitude by thousands and be numbered among the great multitudes of

The editor of the Advertiser mistakes in speaking of us as "a representative in the City Council." We enjoy no such honor. Last year, while holding a seat in that body, in good ith we offered an order which was passed, water lating and at least such examinations, surveys and estimates might be made of the different plans proposed for sup-plying the city, that an intelligible report could be made to the City Government and through it to the citizens, which report would afford a safe basis for action, if not during the inflation of prices caused by the war, at least as soon as the war should close and prices of currency, labor and material should come back to their normal peace standard. For some reason the committee appointed to act under the order referred to, did not have a meeting till the season was too far advanced to attend to such work, and the whole thing, much to our regret, and we doubt not the regret of the citizens generally, was allowed to slumber with-

We are glad to see the question again being gitated, and we shall be found throwing no ructions in the way of any earnest, feasible, sensible plan submitted in good faith, no matter who submits it, or who is to have the credit of it, or who expects to profit by it.

The Water Power Company of which Col. Speed is President, and for which Mr. Smith is anderstood to supply the funds, have projected a great work at the very doors of our city;-a work which, if completed, will afford facilities for Portland, to increase in business prosperity, such as no city in New England enjoys. We know nothing of the enterprise from personal knowledge or inspection, have never been on the ground, but we are informed by some of our best citizens, men opposed to Mr. Smith in almost everything else, that it is a work that should have the hearty God-speed of every public-spirited citizen.

We trust this enterprise may be pushed ahead to a successful consummation; that no lack of funds will be allowed to retard it. We are informed that the present operators alone will spend a quarter of a million or more, thus affording the most substantial evidence of their confidence in its feasibility and ultimate success. May they not be disappointed.

COPPERHEAD VIEW OF PROVIDENCE. Mr. Pillsbury, President of the late Democratic Convention, was understood to enunciate the doctrine, somewhat indirectly though O. Winship, of Gorham, Hon. T. L. Smith, of none the less emphatically, that negro suffrage is so great a sin against God and Humanity, that Providence interposed to prevent its realization. It was necessary to have a man at the head of affairs who would stop this iniquity, and so Providence used Booth for the purpose of "taking off" Mr. Lincoln, that the right man might be brought into power. Here is the way Mr. Pillsbury put the statement, as reported in the Aryus: But for one man that policy [negro suffrage] would have been already adopted and foisted upon the people. That man is the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson.—(Great Applause.) Elected to the Vice Presidence by the People of the Company of the People of the Presidence by the People of the President dency by the Republican party, and of the dispensation of Providence succeeding to the Chief Magistracy of the nation at a time when the party electing him flushed with victory and the triumphant success of their war policy, was clamorous for a radical policy calculated to perpetuate its power, Andrew Johnson had the integrity, firmness and patriotism to adhere to the principles of constitutional right, against all the adverse influences and peculiar circumstances surrounding him, and has thus saved the country from the evil consequences of such a policy. by the Republican party, and by the sation of Providence succeeding to the

If the assasin hand was directed by Provi dence in order to secure a defeat of negro suffrage, we should like to know why the Democratic Convention, rejoicing as it piously did in such defeat, should denounce and "reprobate" the act as one of "unmitigated barbarism, destructive of civil government," especially when the knife thus guided by Providence was held by a Democrat, and the deed was done in the interest of States pronounced Democratic by structive of civil government," especially when interest of States pronounced Democratic by the chosen speakers and mouth-pieces of that

"LEADING THE NATIONS." The New York Evening Post notes thr aportant events which, occurring recently in ent quarters of the globe, are each diectly traceable to the influence of events in this country, and of the position now taken by the United States on questions relating to human freedom. The first of these effects is to be found in the fact that a society has lately been formed in Spain for the abolition of slavery in the colonies of that kingdom. of slavery in the colonies of that kingdom. The society is composed of the foremost men in the nation, and includes ministers of the crown, diplomatists, grandees of the kingdom, representatives and priests, as well as the leading scholars of Spain. Although it is declared that for the present, the intention of the ministry is merely to put a stop finally and entirely, to the slave trade, yet that is a step, and an

the next session, as we understand the brief dispatch,) "a strict law for the final abolition of slavery in the Portuguese possessions." Finally, in Brazil, the movement for the extirpation of slavery, which has enlisted the best men of that empire for several years, is gathering such strength that a bill has been drafted and sent to the Brazilian legislature, providing in many ways for the amelioration of the present system of slavery in that country, and for its final extinction in fifteen years. This bill has not passed, but another, prohibiting the holding of slaves by foreigners, is likely to pass, and Brazilian statesmen are laboring for the extirpation of slavery, encouraged by the constant growth of public sentiment in their favor, and especially by the remarkable effect which emancipation in the United States has had upon opinion in Brazil. In conclusion

These movements for the liberation of four millions of men are a direct consequence of the position of our own country upon emancipation. Our victory bears fruit the world over. So long as slavery was countenanced here by a dominant party, so long as it seemed to prosper and grow stronger with us, its supporters all over the world maintained their ground. When our slaveholders set up their confederacy, with slavery as its openly announced "corner stone," the lovers and supporters of slavery elsewhere began to please themselves with the thought that a reaction had set in, in favor of their system. If the Southern Confederacy had been victorious over the Union, that victory would have riveted the chains of slavery in Brazil, in the West Indies, in every part of the world.—But our success is followed at once by renewed and promising efforts for the extirpation of this great wrong and evil, by the leading men of the three nations which still tolerate it.

of the three nations which still tolerate it.

We see in this result of our great victory some of the responsibilities which lie upon the American people, and which are greater now, precisely as our prodigious display of strength and endurance, our fidelity to the cause of law and order, and our success so unexpected to the world, have given us greater prominence in the minds of the people of Christendom. Our history has been, for many years, the hope and pride of the friends of liberty in Europe; but, hereafter we shall be more than ever looked to; our policy and conduct will be of such moment that it is no exaggeration to say, the advance of civilization depends upon us. If we are true to liberty, if we are wise and faithful servants of the great idea which underlies our constitution and government, the idea of the equality of all men before the law, and the equal right of all men to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness then our progress will shaw the way to men before the law, and the equal right of all men to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, then our progress will show the way to the nations, and they will follow—and cannot help but follow in our footsteps. If, on the contrary, we should become the prey to factions and prejudices, if we should misuse our strength and show ourselves regardless of right, every step of our history will be held up to the world to warn the nations against democracy.

We are the hope of the nations—to us the down-trodden, the poor, the victims of despotism everywhere, look for hope, for encouragement, for example, for light in the path in which they slowly and painfully follow; we the bad examples of respectable people.

At the commencement of the afternoon neeting the following resolutions were pre sented by a committee previously appointed:

1. Resolved, That we re-affirm our entire faith in the doctrine of Prohibition as equally sound in theory and boneficent in practice.

2. Resolved, That to declare the Matne Law a failure betrays either gross ignorance, or unblushing impudence, or both.

BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVING.-We have had the pleasure of examining a proof sheet of a beautiful steel engraving just completed by Sartain from Schussele's celebrated painting of "Washington and his Family." It represents General and Mrs. Washington seated by a table, with a plan of the future Capitol before them, which is the subject of conversation. Standing by them are Eleanor and George Custis, gra children of Mrs. Washington, adopted by the General immediately after the death of their father, John Parke Custis. In the background is old Christopher, the ever-faithful servant .-The figure of the General is good, that of Mrs. Washington is superb. The grouping, also, is onday morning: "Gov. Bramlette, Senator Guthrie, Geo. D. Prentice and others of that stamp, thoroughly conservative men, were in favor of the abolition of slavery in Kentucky, but it would seem that the shameless course pursued by the military authorities and a set of radical fanatics have defeated the measure, just as the pestifer-ous influence of abolitionists many years ago defeated gradual emancipation in that state under the leadership of Henry Clay."

HONEST IAGO SPEAKS.

We cut the following from the Argus

Who can doubt the honesty and sincerity of this paragraph? How sad the writer evidently feels to think the Constitutional amendment abolishing slavery constitutionally, is not to receive the endorsement of Kentucky! How justly indignant he is towards those "radical fanatics" who have defeated this benificent measure that lies so near his heart! And how tender, too, of the name of Henry Clay, and with what feeling reproach he refers to the "abolitionists" whose "pestiferous influence" he was made to feel years ago.

The sincerity and heartfelt emotions of this "honest Iago" are more fully appreciated when we consider how he was accustomed to speak of Henry Clay and "his bloody hand" years ago, and how he sneered at Mr. Clay's schemes of emancipation; schemes to affect posterity but not his own generation, interests and

Then, too, how we can appreciate this tender solicitude for the constitutional amendment, when we remember that only a few brief months since, he rejoiced and threw up his cap and hurrahed till he brought on the nchitis, because Democratic New Jersey refused to endorse it; and how he poured benedictions upon the handful of democrats in our own legislature for refusing it their assent; and later still, how he exulted when recording the fact that every democrat in the New Hampshire legislature voted in solid phalanx to keep the chains on four millions of beings wearing God's image! Surely, a man who could do these things; who could exult over such acts, must be heartfelt in his regrets that "radical fanatics" have suffered themselves to defeat such a measure in Kentucky! THE DEMOGRATIC PARTY IN TEARS. The Democrats of Maine held a convention in Portland yesterday for the purpose of shedding tears. All the pocket linen belonging to the party in the State has been saturated with lachrymal torrents. Because slavery is abolished they have wept; because the ballot is to be placed in the hands of all loyal men they have wept; because the Southern chivalry are not permitted to rule or ruin they have wept; because the rebels have been and are to be yet further punished they have wept; and above all because they are out and must stay out of office they have wept.

It has indeed been a tearful occasion for all the Democrats of Maine. The very things which gladden all the world beside have caused their bosoms to heave in agony and melt in tears. Ah! it is a pitiful thing to look upon even the smallest band of men who are reft of all hope and who regard themselves of liv-The Democrats of Maine held a convention

It will be remembered that only a few days since several of the Life Insurance Ageats of this city, alarmed at the unexampled success of the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., and its great popularity with the people, felt called upon, to combine their immense influence to check, if possible, its lively prosperity. And to this end, they put forth "A Card," the ostensible object of which, was to complain of me for claiming "superiority," for the Mutual Benefit Company, and by inference of "disparaging?" all others; their real object however being to damage its success. In my criticism upon this "Card" I convicted them all, first of falsehood in professing to quote from my "statements," language which I neper used.

Second, I convicted several of them of having themselves established a precedent by claiming "sutrous and silken. It is a splendid hair dressing. Being thus folled and defeated in their combined assault upon the Agent of the Mutual Benefit Co., the more prudent and cautious ones, deeming discretion the better part of valor, have quietly withdrawn from the field. Two, however, of their number, more courageous and venturesome than the rest, evidently nettled with the stigma which the expose of their former "Card" left upon them, and ambitious of further distinction, have come forth, (not to defend themselves, or disprove the charges of which they stand convicted) but to make a most virulent and unjust assault upon the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. A Timely Warning to the Sick.

It is especially important at this time, when the arkets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are heralded to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should understand the facts. Be it known then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a flory article cor taining amyl or fusel oil, a mortal poison, HOSTETTER'S CELE-BRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye with the pure juices of the] most valuable stomachic, anti-billious, and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsis and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authoriticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life.
