PINCHED FACES. PECULIAR TO AMERICAN WOMEN. Some of the Causes which Appear upon Investigation.

Further investigation discloses irregularity of periods, dizziness and faintness at times, and perhaps leucorrhoea. This surely the evidence is all sufficient. An American woman has discovered that the cause of all this lies in a deranged and diseased uterus or womb.

Dr. Williams' Vegetable Compound is the most marvellous cure for this trouble ever discovered. A purely vegetable remedy, it is at once an absolutely safe and natural cure for this crushing trouble.

It has cured thousands, and will cure you as sure as truth is truth.

Here is a letter from one of them which she wants us to publish:—

"For years I have been almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms: shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, neuralgia, weakness, faintness, depression, and everything that Mrs. Harriet Wampler was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors."

"I feel it my duty to tell you these facts that you also may be cured. My heart is full of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham."—Mrs. Harriet Wampler, Box 944, Baraboo, Wis.

SACRED ANIMALS IN OLD EGYPT.

Many Embalmed and Put in Catacombs by the Ancients.

Not only did the ancient Egyptians embalm the bodies of the human dead—they performed a like operation upon the remains of the sacred animals, though in general less expense and trouble were taken over them, animals being chiefly prepared by soaking in a long one, though the very ones that were most highly esteemed in some places were most abhorred in others. The list includes dogs, cats, monkeys, lions, wolves, jackals, foxes, hyenas, bears, ichneumon, shrew mice, bulls, deer, goats, sheep, hippopotami, vultures, eagles, falcons, hawks, owls, ibis, geese, swallows, crocodiles, toads, lizards, serpents, fish of various kinds, rats, mice, beetles, and even insects and flies.

As a rule, with the large animals, the head only was mummified, the body being represented by pieces of wood. The birds were squeezed together and lost their shape, except the ibis, which, according to Belzoni, is formed like a fowl ready to be cooked. The ibis and the hawk appear to have had the most care bestowed upon them, for resin and asphalt are frequently found within their envelopes. Birds in general, having been wrapped in their bandages, were then placed in an earthen urn and deposited in the tombs. No mummies of animals are to be met with in the tombs of the higher classes persons. Most of them had their own sepulchres consecrated and appropriated to their species only, but these were confined to the lower orders.

The catacomb of birds is distinct from the catacomb of human mummies. One bird only is inclosed in each earthen jar, and an indefinite number of birds were found in white and salted. The nature of the materials with which they have been embalmed has not been ascertained. The number of birds mummified is not known. Upon the possession of Egypt by the French, upward of 500 mummies of the ibis alone were discovered in the catacombs of birds. Certain animals were maintained at the public expense in sacred parks, and keepers were appointed to nourish them with the greatest care. Bread, milk, honey, meat, birds, fish, &c., were all supplied according to the nature of the animals. No expense was spared in their rearing and upon their persons the resemblance of the species to which their care was devoted, and people paid remarks of respect to them as they passed along. The greatest sorrow was manifested at the death of any of them. They were embalmed and interred with great pomp and splendor. So great was the veneration in which these animals were held that, though in fact they were human flesh, yet the sacred beasts, birds, reptiles or fishes were always respected. They would rather eat their own species than lay sacrilegious hands upon what might be gods in disguise. Animals of the lowest character, even noxious insects, were fostered in their temples, nourished by their priests, and after death, entombed with pomp and received all kinds of honors.

Those who, either by accident or design, occasioned the death of any of these animals paid a forfeit of their lives as the penalty of the offense. Diodorus Siculus says: "He who has voluntarily killed a consecrated animal is punishable with death, but if anyone has involuntarily killed a cat or an ibis it is impossible for him to escape capital punishment. The mob drags him to it treating him with every cruelty and sometimes waiting for judgment to be passed." London Society.
