

DELEGATIONS

AFTER ROADS

The County Commissioners and Auxiliary Board, to whom is committed the handling of the $200,000 special road fund for this county, were in session at the Court House on Monday, to hear large delegations from the Seventh and Eighth districts. This road fund was created by Act of 1908, authorizing the county to bond for $200,000 for permanent improved roads to be "apportioned to the several election districts in proportion to the sums heretofore spent in the care and repair of the roads of the said respective districts. This fund has now all been apportioned, $25,000 of the bonds being sold in each of the years 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914. At a meeting of the Commissioners and Auxiliary Board held some months ago, it was decided to sell the final $25,000 worth of bonds, authorized by the Act, this year and to use $10,000 of the fund for a road in the Eighth district and $15,000 for the completion of the stone road from Cecil to Warwick in the First district.

The citizens of the Eighth district were not agreed on the road to be improved therein and at Monday's meeting J. Wilson Squier, Esq., Dr. Gillespie and Lewis T. Logan argued for adopting the road from Five Points to Rowlandville, while Messrs. Whalen, Moore, et al argued for the road from Oakwood to Penna. State Line. The Board decided to adopt the road from Five Points to Rowlandville.

The Seventh district had a very large delegation present, representing parties seeking two different road improvements, but not raising that question until they could be heard on the question of the Seventh district's failure to receive its share of the $200,000 bond issue. They put their case in the hands of Messrs. R. C. Thackeray, Joshua Clayton and William Pepper Constable. Messrs. Constable and Clayton argued the matter before the Board, claiming that the Act creating the Board and the fund was mandatory as to how said fund should be apportioned. They contended that only about $3500 had been spent in the Seventh district, whereas on the basis of "amounts heretofore expended," it was entitled to $12,000. They protested against the Board making an other large expenditure in the First district, after what had already been spent there, as being "unjust and inequitable to the people of the Seventh district."

At the close of their speeches Mr. McVey, of the Auxiliary Board, arose and made a statement of the principles which had guided the Board in their decisions as to roads to be improved, after which the public meeting adjourned and the Commissioners and Board went into session, adopting the road in the Eighth district as stated above, but taking no further action.

The young man stuck his head out the door to stop the horses and at the same time the load of hay was jammed against the door, which unfortunately closed on his head and crushed his skull. He was taken to Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, for treatment, but it is thought he has a very slight chance for recovery.

Executions For Costs

Execution has been issued through the Circuit Court for Talbot county against twenty-five plaintiffs in the suits for damages against the American Bridge Company for damages by the floods at Port Deposit in 1910. The executions, which are directed to the Sheriff of Cecil county, are for the costs of the suits so far as the bridge company is concerned. Comptroller Harrington For Governor

The boom of Comptroller Emerson C. Harrington, for the Democratic nomination for Governor, was formally and enthusiastically launched Tuesday afternoon in Cambridge, his home town, at a large gathering of representative Democrats of the county. The meeting was presided over by former Judge Henry Lloyd, himself a Governor of Maryland many years ago. A committee headed by State Senator James S. Shepherd, was appointed to bring Mr. Harrington to the meeting, where he expressed his gratitude for such a tribute by his friends and neighbors, declaring that he had purposed to not be a candidate unless assured that his own county was behind him in practical unanimity. That unanimity being now evidenced, he proposed to get into the fight. Mr. Harrington indicated that his campaign would be largely made through the financial condition of the State Government, there being a crying need for development along the most rigidly economical line.

Taft Backs Up Wilson

The United States is threatened with a serious invasion of its rights as a neutral by the warring nations of Europe, and in preserving its commerce with those nations is face to face with a crisis, in the opinion of former President William H. Taft. In the solution of that crisis, should it arise, no jingo spirit must be allowed to prevail, Mr. Taft advised; neither pride nor momentary passion should influence the public judgment.

"And when the President shall act," Mr. Taft declared, "we must stand by him to the end. In this determination we may be sure that all will join, no matter what their previous views, no matter what their European origin. All will forget their differences in self-sacrificing loyalty to our common flag and our common country."

Mr. Taft's reference to the situation confronting the United States was made at the conclusion of an address delivered before the Washington Association of New Jersey.

The can contained a wedding ring marked C. E. to E. L., 1914; a bundle of affectionate letters, bits of ribbons, hair and other little trinkets that go to make up the lover's compact.
