THE SECRETARY of the State Game Commis pass a law to pay a bounty for the scalps of the ordinary house cat. He says these felines are the greatest destroyers of bird life in the world and he goes in for the extermination of the entire cat family. He says that until this is done the birds will not be safe.

GEN. MURRAY VANDIVER, of Harford county. was on Wednesday re-elected by the Legisla-ture Treasurer of Maryland for the fifth con-secutive term. This is an unusual honor and one that is no doubt deserved by Gen. Vandi-yer, who has not only been a faithful official, but has been a valuable man to his party in the management of its affairs as chairman of the State Central Committee.

AT DANVILLE, Illinois, a few nights ago William Jennings Bryan spoke on "The issues of the Hour" and among other things said that nee for President this year and that he (Bryan) will be the Democratic nominee. Mr. Bryan said there is not a plank in the platform laid down at Chicago in 1896 but is stronger now, and that there is not a plank in the Re publican platform of that year but is weaker.

REV. JAMES A. KAYE, pastor of a Presbyterian Church at Wheaton, Ill., has been convicted of making spurious coins and sent to the penitentiary for two years. Molds of counterfeit dollars, half-dollars, quarters and dimes were found in the cellar of a house oc. cupied by him. The minister's defense was that he had the molds to make medals for Sunday school pupils. It was brought out, however, that Kaye's son had attempted to

MR. JAMES R. RANDALL, known and loved by thousands of Marylanders because of his authorship of the song, "Maryland, My Mary-land," died suddenly at his home in Augusta, Ga., on Tuesday, from an attack of congestion of the lungs. James Ryder Randall was born in Baltimore, January 1st, 1839, and after reaching manhood engaged in journalistic work in which he continued many years. His last visit to Baltimore was during Old Home Week and he remained there until the first

NEARLY ONE hundred and seventy-five persons—mostly women and children—lost their lives by the burning of Rhoade's Opera House, in Boyerstown, Pa., on Monday night last. A moving picture show was being given for the benefit of a Lutheran Sunday school when a tank containing some liquid used in the show exploded. This caused a panic and in the rush that followed coal oil lamps that wer used for footlights were upset and explode and the oil set the building on fire. Most of those who lost their lives were trampled to death. Boyerstown, which is about 19 miles from Reading, has a population of less than 3,000. Nearly every bouse in the town is in ilies—father, mother and several children were lost in this terrible catastrophe.

with the sessions of the Maryland Legislature this week was the election of two United States nators. On Tuesday Hon. William Pinkney Whyte was chosen for the short term, which ends March 4th, 1909, and on Wednesday Hon. John Walter Smith was chosen as Mr. Whyte's voted for Gen. Felix Agnus for the short term long term. Mr. Whyte received every Democratic vote in the Senate and House, while the vote for ex-Gov. Smith was divided between Messrs. Smith and Warfield, the former re-ceiving 59 votes and the latter 18. Before the ote was announced the name of ex-Gov. Warield was withdrawn and the vote was made l'albott, of Baltimore county, was not put intimore county Democracy, has put himself on record as favoring some legislation in which many thousands of Marylanders are much in terested just now. In an interview in Baltimore a few days ago Mr. Talbott said: "There is a mand for a corrupt practices act. Such a law would give a poor man a fair chance to run for office. As it is now, the rich man has the advantage. What the people want is good government. We have been giving them pretty fair government in the State and county. If the people don't get good government, they will rebel and vote the other good candidates, and they have been elected. tended to improve the government, if possible. We are having pretty good government as it is; but, as I said before, a corrupt practices act would give the poor man a better chance."

THE BALTIMORE city grand jury, in its reof the high license question that is now going on. It said: "It is our belief that a higher license law, equal to that obtaining in other large cities, should prevail. This would undoubtedly lessen the number of saloons and be of great advantage to our city. Under present conditions it is very difficult to obtain evidence in the reported violations of the Sunday liquor law, and in most cases prosecution is productive only of the perjury of the witnesses summoned. We would earnestly ndorse the recommendations so often made by previous grand juries, namely, the passage of all other devices which present a clear and unobstructed view of the interior during prohibited hours." Those people who favor local option are violently opposed to the high license idea and will do their best to defeat it. As a tter of fact they are opposed to license any kind, high or low, taking the ground that the business of selling liquor should not be the corrupt practices act which was introduced in the Maryland Legislature this week. It is said to be a most drastic measure and for this reason may meet with no little opposition. Mr. John P. Poe, one of the leading Demo cratic lawyers of the State, in discussing this opinion, will leave the vote-buyer in Maryland ithout an occupation. It will, I am convinced, effectually put an end to bribe-giving nd bribe-taking. It will change political con ditions in Maryland by removing money as a factor in politics. The bill appears to me to be more drastic and rigid than any other corrupt practices act that has been suggested. It does, believe, provide for the legimate expenses but it leaves no loophole for raising a large ampaign fund with which to corrupt voters, and it is so constructed that men who violate e provisions of the bill by either contributing money or receiving it in any except the legal way and to the authorized persons run the risk of being branded as criminals, fined or imwill be as effective a measure as could be devised." If this bill will do all that Mr. Poe claims for it we earnestly hope it may become espondence Baltimore County Union

THE PARCELS POST.

RAYVILLE, MD., January 11th, 1908. Editors Union:—In a former article it was stated that the United States postal rate on a package carried from Baltimore to Towson is 6,000 per cent. greater than is charged by the 6,000 per cent. greater than is charged by the German government for a package carried to the extreme end of the Austro-Hungarian empire—a distance of about 1,200 miles.

The United States Postoffice Department limits the weight of a package of fourth-class matter to four pounds, and the claim has been made that the Government is losing money by carrying that class of mail matter at sixteen cents per pound; and this claim is made in spite of the fact that for over twenty years it has been carrying packages of periodicals weighing up to two hundred and twenty pounds for one cent a pound. Many publishers do not even take advantage of this rate in sending their publications to the distributing agencies because the express companies take this business away from the Postoffice Department at the rate of from one-fifth of a cent a pound for nearby-by shipments to nine-tenths of a cent a pound to Chicago and St. Louis.

one-fifth of a cent a pound for nearby-by snipments to nine-tenths of a cent a pound to Chicago and St. Louis.

About seventy per cent. of the periodicals shipped from New York to the distributing news agencies are sent by Merchants' Despatch and other slow express companies, because the Government rate of one cent a pound is too high.

The rate from New York to Boston and Baltimore is about twenty cents per hundred pounds, and on a shipment of 10,000 pounds the publishers save eighty dollars out of every hundred by not using the Government service.

In Great Britain a package weighing up to eleven pounds may be sent anywhere in the united kingdom for twenty-two cents, and a package weighing two pounds for six cents.

The receipts from this branch of the British postal service for the year ending in March, 1906, were $10,600,000.00, and the number of parcels carried was over 101,000,000, at an average cost of about ten and three-fifth cents per parcel. During the period of sixteen years—from 1800 to 1906—there was an increase of 136 per cent. in the number of parcels carried, and an increase of 125 per cent. In the receipts for carrying the same.

This yeat system of parcel carriage is said to increase of 125 per cent. In the receipts for carrying the same.

This vast system of parcel carriage is said to have not reduced to any considerable extent the business of the railroad and express companies and is held to be a new convenienc created for the public, the value of which can hardly be estimated.

In Great Britain, as in the United States, the andly be estimated.

In Great Britain, as in the United States, the railroad and express companies are lined up against the people, and the British parliament like the United States Congress, has members who have no objection to the railroads getting the larger portion of the postal receipts, and consequently the railroads get fifty-five per cent. of the money paid for carrying parcels sent by mail; and although the business is not profitable to the Government it has been of great benefit to the people because it has compelled the express companies to make reasonable rates or quit business.

The extreme length of Great Britain is about 600 miles and it is not expected that our Postoffice Department could serve as large a territory as the United States at the same rates that are charged in Great Britain; but by dividing the United States into three postal districts, each district could be served at a moderate increase over the British rates. The first district could be formed to including the states west of the Mississippi river. The second and third districts could be formed including the states west of the Mississippi river, and the boundary between the second and third districts made between the States of North and South Dakota, Nobraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas on the east, and Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico on the west.

All matter now rated as fourth-class, as well on the west.

All matter now rated as fourth-class, as well as books, seeds, &c., could be carried at the rates named in the following table without any great detriment to the express companies or loss to the Government:

THE MASONIC TEMPLE, a very impos building located on North Charles street, Baltimore, was completely gutted by fire a little after 4 o'clock on Friday morning, January 17th. The loss is very heavy and there is insurance amounting to $300,000. This building was destroyed by fire once before-on Christ mas day, 1890.

IT IS POINTED out that if each inhabitant of the United States will save 5 cents a day for one year the total will be $1,551,250,000. As ody would have to pay for the children it might be necessary to call on old bachelor to make up the deficit at the end of the year.

Slack Up, Please.—Messrs. William P. Cole and T. Scott Offutt, representing the Towson Improvement Association, lately called upon County Commissioners and asked that signs be placed outside of Towson warning automobiles to keep within the speed limit of six miles an hour in passing through the town. They have submitted the following as the limits of the town and proper places to place the signs: West Joppa road, opposite the residence of Mr. N. D. R. Allen; East Joppa road, where the road intersects the Limekin Bottom road; Dulany's Valley pike, opposite Number's blacksmith shop; York road, bottom of Sandy Bottom hill; Hillen road at South avenue; York road, opposite Aigburth Park entrance; New road, from Lover's lane, at Woodbine avenue; Chesapeake avenue, opposite the home of Mr. Stebbins.

The Dangerous "Parior" Match—An Effort to Get Rid of It.—State Fire Marshal MacGill will have offered at the present session of the Legislature a bill to prevent the sale of any kind of matches except those known as the "safety match." He has issued the following bulletin on matches:

In Maryland carelessness with matches during last year fired 146 bulldings and burned to death eight children.

The "parlor" match in common use is the greatest convenience and the greediest incendiary ever invented by man. In the State it causes 10 per cent. of all fires. The Chicago report shows 21.4 per cent.

If all the people were taught the dangers from this match the present enormous fire loss from them, of which each producer pays a part, would be reduced to almost nothing. But teachers who warn against the fire dangers in this life are few.

The dangers of the "parlor" match are manifold.

In each 100 match fires, 41 are from flying match heads or glowing sticks thrown into rubbish. The greatest number of match fires occurred in the cellar; the next largest by the use of a match to illuminate a closet. The sparks or hot sticks of parlor matches started destructive fires by igniting six carpets, five pieces of clothing, six bed covers, six lace curtains, five couches, two mantel draperies and two baskets of clothes. In seven cases the fire started from a match being trod upon, and in two from the match box falling.

The name "parlor" is given to all matches except the "safety," which are made without sulphur, thereby avoiding the odor given out by the "lucifer" match, which it drove from the market.

Salpeter is little used, because it adds greatly the market.

Salpeter is little used, because it adds greatly to the danger of manufacturing. The sulphur match does not snap and fly, but its odor bars
it from good society. The head of the sulphur match has no sulphur in it. A solution of sulphur is used to impregnate the stick. It is too slow in lighting for the nervous American's use.

too slow in history can's use.

The sale of the parlor match should be prohibited. This would be no hardship to manufacturers, because safety matches, which car be lighted only by rubbing them on the box are made on the same machine.

are made on the same machine.

Installation of Encampment Officers.—
The officers of Ridgely Encampment, I. O. O. F., of Towson, were installed on Monday night. The ceremonies were in charge of Grand Patriarch George C. Tracey and the grand officers of the Grand Encampment of Maryland. P. G. Patriarch Fred. A. Groom, of Baltimore, who is a member of Ridgely Encampment, also assisted in the installation. After the close of the Encampment Mr. Tracey entertained his associate grand officers and other members at the Smedley House, of which he is proprietor.

The officers installed were: Chief patriarch, Caleb C. Carman: high priest, Amos W. Tracey; senior warden, Andrew S. R. Grason; scribe, William Grason; treasurer, George W. Seipp; junior warden, William Bowen of S; marshal, Charles E. Treadwell; outside sentinel, Edward C. Carroll; inside sentinel, Ballard Torbit.

Ridgely Encampment enjoys the distinction of having two grand patriarchs following each other and now has two grand officers—the grand patriarch and grand marshal.

Six of the grand officers of the Grand Encampment live in Baltimore county, and while some of them are members of city Encampments, their homes are in the county.

Pastor Gets a Present of Cash.—When Rev. S. M. Engle, pastor of White Hall Presbyterian Church, arrived at the church door last Sunday afternoon he was met by Mr. Chas. H. PRICE (1) SALE Greater Than Ever I We have inaugurated the greatest sacrificing sale of Men's, Youths' and Children's Suits and Overcoats that ever occurred in this vicinity by offering our remaining stock at half the original price. Although our business has been the largest in our history, we anticipated a still greater demand for our high-grade clothing, and manufactured accordingly, but the mild winter thus far has left us with a much larger stock than expected, and the assortment is as great as usually found in the majority of stores at the first of the season. It must be remembered that these goods are of our own superior make, and not odds and ends bought up at random.

Every Suit and Overcoat in the house is included in this Wonderful Sacrificing Sale.

Every garment in the house has the original price tag. You make your selection and simply pay HALF THE PRICE.

CONDITIONS:—No goods charged. No goods sent on approval. Alterations, if necessary, at cost. Mail orders will receive prompt attention, but must be accompanied with money. 102 and 104 E. Baltimore St., OPPOSITE Baltimore, Md.
