The rea-tes is found in the dispatches which said sant in some places the negroes did not at-tempt to vote and at others they voted the Democratic ticket. It has never been as-serted that a colored man could not save his like by woting with the White League party. It is when he pursues an opposite course that he risks death.

REPUBLICAN-CONSERVATIVES.

The utter dispersion of the Democratic tribes—the entire renunciation of all those principles which gave birth to the Southern Democratic party leaves a large number of people at the South without political alliance.

ical alliance.

The sole issue upon which an appeal has been made by the Democracy was upon the superior political integrity of the Democratic party. The fact that the party has been recently expelled from trust in every State in which they have been admitted to power would seem to prove them at least no better than their antagonists.

Democracy.

The Whig and Conservative citizens of Louisiana can not, therefore, hope to par-ticipate in the federal government through the dispersed Democracy. They may certainly expect as much political integrity from Republicans as from the political allies of the Democratic plug-uglies of Baltimore or the Democratic knaves of Tammany.

Those who may give the aid of violence

Those who may give the aid of violence or fraud to this or that party from expectation of reward, will see in this result of the Northern elections the patronage of the custombouse and the postoffice safe and sacred from their clutches. Such mercenaries will not then have any motive to keep business men, property holders and taxpayers from the polls. Some few amendments to our State laws to which amendments to our State laws, to which we shall subsequently refer, will diminish still further the interest of these miscrestill further the interest of these misers-ants in the State and municipal elections. These Conservatives have stood by the Democracy until the Democracy first ex-cluded them from party association, ex-cept as subordinates, then abandoned all cept as subordinates, then abandoned all pretensions to Democratic principles, and has finally shown its incapacity to effect any federal or local reform by a defeat so signal as to compare with any final battle and dispersion recorded in history. The Republican party still in control of the executive and Senate, with a sufference of second-nay in the Henry Statement of the Henry Statement of Statement of the Henr control of the executive and Senate, with an assurance of ascende ney in the House of Representatives, can and will do more for the conservative classes in the various measures of improvement and commercial expansion than can be expected from the "peeled and scattered" Democracy. The sole objection, then, to the Republican party-in Lonisiana is the supposition that they advocate certain laws which are supposed to protect officials in the corrupt acquisition of wealth, and bestow upon a party administration a degree of patronage incompatible with good government.

The REPUBLICAN has exposed the fact that while Republican legislators have been reproached for granting undue financhises, all the great monopolies and the richest offices in the State are in the hands of the Democracy. Yes, leve and lottery, butcher's meat and wharf dues, sheriff's fees and clerk's tickets, all are in Democratic hands. The Republicans are tired of this ferocious and hypocritical assault upon them by opponents who derive their chief campaign fund from the wages of monopoly and official exactions. They now say to the independent conservatives, call the Democracy, let us know to what reforms they will assent, if they obtain control of the: State government. THE CENTRAL MILL SYSTEM. We have already referred to some of the major obstacles encountered by the sugar major obstacles encountered by the sugar planter under the existing system, and explained, or endeavored to explain, the means by which those obstacles may be safely and permanently removed. A separation of the agricultural and manu-facturing branches of the sugar industry has long been recognized as the only practical solution of the difficulty, and it is to this could that inquire and expensions. has long been recognized as the only practical solution of the difficulty, and it is to this end that inquiry and experiment have been persistently tending for some years past. An arrangement by which the cultivation of his fields, and the manufacturer relieved of all duties asve that of running his mill and apparatus, contains the elements most necessary and desirable in placing the sugar business in its best and most practicable shape. And in describing the enterprise about to be set on foot by Mr. Charles H. Walker, of St. Mary parish, we shall lay before our readers one of the latest—perhaps the most promising and intelligent—efforts in the new departure which all now concede to ew departure which all now concede to new departure which all now concede to be indispensable to the perpetuation of Louisiann's greatest interest.

Mr. Walker's Bellevue place, about eight miles above Franklin, on Bayou Teche, is among the largest and best ap-pointed plantations in the State. His pointed plantations in the State. His sugarhouse, we are inclined to think, is the finest of its kind. It was only finished last year at a total cost of near one hun-dred and fifty thousand dollars, and has a present capacity of some twelve or fifteen hundred hogsheads to the season. Mr. Walker, who is a clear-headed, saga-cious Western man has devented himself cious Western man, has devoted himself during an eight or nine years' residence in St. Mary, to the problem of sugar cul-ture in its most scientific form, and the system which he has now adopted and is system which he has now adopted and is preparing to put in operation is the result of profound study, carnest thought and well digested experience. He has recog-nized the embarrassments which the farmer encounters in incumbering himself with the business of a manufacturer also is has found that the manufacturer also is fatally hampered by adding to his cares the responsibilities and birdens of a farmer. To separate the two pursuits has the responsibilities and birdens or the responsibilities and birdens or farmer. To separate the two pursuits has farmer. farmer. To separate the two pursuits has been his idea for a very long time, and to do this to the benefit of both parties is the consummation contemplated in his present plan. Mr. Walker is now offerning to persons desirous of farming and competent to carry out their purpose, a very great advantage and inducement. His method is to 'furnish satisfactory tenauts with comfortable dwellings, with such an area of land as they are able to work properly and with seed came sufficient to do their planting. The tenants apply their own teams, implements, etc., supply their own teams, implements, etc., and for such additional land as they re and for such adminish and they re-quire to raise corn, food, etc., they pay a small rental. Mr. Walker charges nothing for the dwelling, the sugar land or the seed cane, and he furthermore contracts to purchase all the cane grown by the tenants at the rate of four dollars per ton.

The agreement is very simple and intelligible, and to those acquainted with the details of sugar culture its advantages to the tenant are obvious. The ordinary yield of good sugar land—and Mr.
Walker's is particularly good—is about fifteen tons to the acre, and it will be seen, therefore that a cross sum of $60. seen, therefore, that a gross sum of $60 per acre is within the reach of Mr. Walker's tenantry under average circum-stances. For the privilege of making this the tenant is only required to furnish the teams and tools. Mr. Walker has been teams and tools. Mr. Walker has been experimenting on this system. He has approached the problem with intelligence and energy, and his conclusions are entitled to respect and confidence. If it prove successful next year under the test of actual tsage and on the great scale at present contemplated, we may regard the question of profitable augar farming, with its attendant blessings of immigration, and improvement of the condition of the laboring classes generally, as finally disposed of. We have reason to believe that Mr. Walker will be enabled to institute such a test, and we think we can predict that every favorable condition—judgment, sagacity, fair dealing, good judgment, sagacity, fair dealing, good faith-will be brought to bear on its development. The small farmers of the North and West, as well as the industrious thousands of the South should regard this experiment with interest. Upon its result depends not, only the promotion of mon-eyed concerns, but the dignity and recom-pense of labor, and the prospects of those who live thereby.

constitutional amendment and negro suffrage—who can tell what is De-mocracy? Is Radicalism to be de-feated? Then a large part of Democracy which professes Republican principles must go with it. Democracy successful— then every thing which the Republicans value will be triumphant. Really this balderdash of Democracy, this hash of all opinions, is too absurd to put before the public. Can not Democracy say what it public. Can not Democracy say what it is? This pretense of one set of opinions in one place, and contradiction of the ame in another, all under the name of same in another, all under the name of Democracy, has set all men who can read a telegraphic dispatch laughing. It is time the defeated and dispersed Democracy should make up their minds what Republican men and measures they will STATE LOTTERY COMPANY support, if they ever expect to take any part in American politics again.
