HOW BASS FREED NEW HAMPSHIRE

Folks'll Do Right Thing If You Tell Them Truth," Says Young Governor Newly-Awakened People.

By W. G. SHEPHERD.

CONCORD, N. H., May 11.-Robert P. Bass, governor of New Hampshire with the help of the people, has taken his state out of the hands of Charles S. Mellen, railroad king of New England, and made it progressive. This is how Bass, a Harvard graduate, but a New England farmer at heart, came to be governor, and how he kicked out the railroad gang:

About ten years ago, Bass, then on ly 27, picked up a morning paper and read that he had been named a member of the state forestry commission. He had never been in politics. He doesn't know even now why he was chosen. But he went on the job. He discovered the need for laws to protect the forests of New Hampshirethe fourth largest paper making state He had the laws introduced. The legislature killed them. He didn't know that the big interests were all working together through Mellen's railroad lobby

But he went home to Peterboro and told the folks that he wanted to go to the state legislature to pass some forestry laws. The folks sent him. "And then I saw the wheels of the railroad's machine go round," he

Bass went back home and said he wanted to go to the state senate.

Bass always did depend on the folks-the people. "All you have to do is to tell them the truth," he says. "They'll do the right thing after

They sent him to the senate. In the senate, Bass began to work up from the bottom. He introduced a direct primaries law. Then he went out onto the stump in favor of his pass these 10 laws: Prohibiting trust campaign contributions. Preventing bribery and providing ernment as the average statesman did 50 years ago. "And the average man is going to pay even more attention to affairs in the future. The whole thing is a matter of education. In fact, it's simply a matter of knowing how to read." Furniture Men End Meeting.

FALL OF JUAREZ CAUSES UNIQUE TRADE SITUATION

No recognition can be given Madero's provisional government at Juarez, according to authorities here, until the "de facto political organization of the rebels is sufficient in character, resources, and population to be, if left to itself, a state among nations, reasonably capable of discharging the duties of a state."

Madero Gets Ready For

EL PASO, Texas, May 11.—Secure in their control of Ciudad Juarez, Gen. Madero's insurgent troops today gave themselves over to clearing up the wreckage of the town, and preparing for an attack by the federal relief force under Col. Rabago.

The defenses partially completed by Gen. Juan Navarro before the final battle of Juarez and which were badly batered in the fierce encounters which preceded the town's fall, are being prepared to withstand another attack, while the bodies of the dead are being removed from the original federal trenches west and south of the city.

Navaro and the 27 officers of his staff, who surrendered their swords to Col. Giuseppe Garibaldi when surrounded in the federal barracks, are being feted today like conquerors instead of men who have just lost the most important battle of the revolu-At the suggestion of Madero himself, Navarro and his staff last night gave their word not to attempt to leave Juarez and were released on parole and given the freedom of the city. After their release, the federal officers were Madero's guests at a big dinner to his staff. It is impossible to get an accurate estimate of the number of dead and wounded, but insurgent surgeons today expressed the opinion that about 60 federals and 15 insurgents had been killed, and 150 federals and 100 rebels wounded. The Porforio Diaz hotel, the schoolhouse, church and other buildings are being used for temporary hospitals where federals and rebel wounded are cared for.

After a good deal of preliminary disorder by the victorious insurgents immediately following the capture of Juarez, discipline was re-established by Gen. Pascual Orozco, who shot and wounded two rebels whom he caught looting. Since then there has been no looting in Juarez.

Gen. Orozco today declared that, even aside from the stragetic importance of Juarez, the capture had been by far the most important of the revolution on account of the large amount of ammunition and supplies takes Two mortars, three machine guns and two field pieces have fallen into their hands, together with many thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Madero has not as yet issued a statement of his plans, but Abram Gonzales, provisional governof of Chihuahua state, told the correspondent of the United Press that the next move would be towards Chihuathe novelist, ran for governor. hua. When that city has fallen, said Gonzales, the rebels will proceed to the railroad. He lost, but he con- Torreon, unless that place shall already have fallen and then will go to Mexico City.

into the national capital, said Gon-"I think I can get my forestry laws zales, with his entire army, which it passed if I'm in the state senate," he is expected will, by that time, have been recruited up to triple its present

Martial law was declared in Juarez, today, and no one was permitted to pass the rebel sentries from the American side. It is generally believed here that a number of prisoners captured in yesterday's engagement are expected to be shot by orders of insurgent chieftains and that this is the reason outsiders have been barred.

A number of federal prisoners have beenmarked for a firing squad, it is said, because of the treatment they accorded insurrectos before Juarez Senora Manuel Tambourel, widow of Col. Tambourel, who was slain in the fighting, yesterday, was allowed to pass through the insurgent lines today. She was met at the international bridge by Senaora Madero, wife of Gen. Madero, and was conducted to the barracks where the body of her husband had been left by his soldiers, when they were forced to retreat. Col. Tambourel will be buried this afternoon, with full military honors.

Plans Made To Protect Foreigners In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 11 .- A conference having for its object the safeguarding of lives and property of foreigners is in progress at the American legation today. Participating in it are the Ambassadors, ministers and charges d'affaires of all of the countries represented in the diplomatic corps. The outcome is likely to be an offer to the Mexican government of the services of 5,000 leading Mexicans and members of the foreign colony to act as a reserve police force and prevent murder and rapine in this The foreign guards will be absolutely neutral. Their work will be confined to protecting the public buildings and the foreign quarter from assaults by bandits. Many say that Diaz cannot now relinquish his office but must fight on to the bitter end. It is unofficially stated that the government will not change its plans to wage relentless warfare on the Maderoists. The great fear here today is that the United States government, now that Juarez is in the hands of the insurrectos, will recognize them as belligerents.

It is believed that factional jealousies are already appearing in the Madero ranks. Criticism of the failure of Madero personally to take the field while leaving the direction of his troops to his lieutenants are freely heard. The Diaz officials are hoping that the actual warriors in the Madero ranks will relegate themselves for leadership honors. It is intimated secret agents of Diaz in the revolutionary ranks will try to bring this ture Manufacturers left for their about. If they do, the failure of the insurrection can be assured.

WASHINGTON, May 11.-Official confirmation of the fall of Juarez came in a despatch received at the war de ds; secretary, J. S. Linton, Grand partment from Coi. Steever, commanding the American troops: "Gen. Navarro surrendered unconditionally with about 450 men. The ammunition and horses. Col. Tam-bourel was killed. Order has been restored in the town, and the saloons closed, so state latest reports, but statements are conflicting. I am still refusing to allow arms, ammunition, war materials and provisions for the insurectos to be carried across the international bridges, until I receive instructions to the contrary. I make exception for articles intended for the wounded. The town is reported to have been much shot up."

TUCSON, Ariz., May 11.—Sasabe, the port of entry northwest of Nogales, Mexico, was captured today by 150 troopers of Cabral's band of insurgents, according to advices received today. Cabral is now preparing to attack Sario, the next most important town in the vicinity of Nogales.

At Sasabe the insurgents captured a large quantity of arms, ammunition

COURT FROWNS ON DELAY IN D. U. R. RENTAL CASE

ules or tables prepared by F. H. Macpherson & Co., public accountants, after 15 months of strenuous labor, showing revenues of the Fort-st. and every other line operated by the company and going in to the entire trans portation problem of the city of Detroit in the minutest detail. The accountants, under the direction of the company, had even gone so far as to estimate what the Fort line's share of the earnings of a Woodward car, running on Fort from Woodward to Third, would be in case an emergency should arise some time or another to make such a switching of traffic neces

There were eight sets of these schedules and Mr. Joslyn proposed to read each individual item into the records, but the court drew the line schedules which had been prepared in the form of testimony.

An analysis of the figures presented shows that the Fort line compares favorably, in earning power, with the other lines of the system. The total revenues of the city lines within the one-fare zone for 1910 was $6,237,-601.82. The revenues of the Fort line alone were $605,860.63, and for that portion of the Fort line on which the franchises are claimed to have expired, $406,248.27. The revenues of the other lines were as follows:

Jefferson, $792,376.76; Depot, $9, 344.11; Michigan, $942,140.17; South Chene, $31,278.82; Trumbull, $269,247.58; Brush, $170,765.67; Baker, $398,958.72; Sherman, $560,486.74; Springwells, $18,255.26; Fourteenth, $618,908.30; Warren West, $56,694.91; Crosstown, $322,850.27; Harper, $70,697.42; Victor, $4,123,43; Woodward, $1,127,524.20; Third, $238,098.83.

The total car mileage within the one-fare zone, for 1910, was 25,686,219 miles, and on the Fort line alone, 2, 250,128 miles. In this respect the Fort line was exceeded only by the Woodward, Jefferson, Michigan, Sherman and Fourteenth lines.

There was nothing in these sched ules to show the expenses of opera tion, but Mr. Joslyn said this would be shown in four additional sets of schedules to be produced later.

The avowed purpose of all this evidence is to show that the rental of $200 per day demanded by the city for the Fort line is exhorbitant, ruinous and confiscatory. The company claims that its earnings on this line, over and above operating expenses, do not exceed $30,000 per year, while the rental amounts to $73,000 per year. Thomas Beath, assistant to Robert Oakman, land commissioner of the D U. R., was the first witness called to the stand. He testified as to the taxes paid by the company on the Fort line last year. On the same rate of taxa tion as prevailed last year, he figured that the Fort line would cost the company, in taxes and rental this year $85,937.58 on an assessed valuation of $704,000.

The taking of testimony was rather a one-sided affair. Corporation Counsel Hally, who takes the position that the testimony is all immaterial and is merely introduced for purposes of delay, had no questions to ask either of the witnesses examined Thursday and was merely a listener during the proceedings.
