The funeral yesterday was attended by all the neighbors for miles around and many from Princeton.

Several farmers want to know if the Princeton Starch factory will contract Minn. for potatoes this season. We don't think any contracts will be made. The mangled Wilson tariff bill proposes to reduce the duty on potatoes 15 cents per bushel and on starch one cent per pound. If that bill becomes a law it will affect the price of potatoes for manufacturing purposes.

A writer calls attention to the fact that an ounce of silver and a bushel of wheat rise and fall together and have done so for many years. The only exception to this rule was during the famine in Russia, when a bushel of wheat was higher than an ounce of silver. When silver was worth $1.2929 an ounce, wheat was worth $1.30 a bushel. Now, with silver in the neighborhood of 60

The Cattle Business.

Solomon is credited with saying "there is nothing new under the sun;" and a striking proof that human nature in all ages has been about the same is the fact that from the earliest time man has devoted a great deal of attention to herds of cattle. To go further back than the Patriarchs, we find that Abraham was a big cattleman, and on one occasion, when some heathen 'rustlers" cut out quite a bunch of cattle from his herds, he mustered three recovered the steers, and hung the thieves. His herd must have been a big one to need so many cowboys. In the old days cattle were about the only portable wealth, and the chief means of barter. The first metal money was stamped with the figure of an ox, and our word "pecuniary" comes from 'pecus," a herd of cattle. In the United States, Montana, Wyoming, Kansas and Texas are the homes of great herds of cattle. Since 1866 the Chicago Stock Yards have received forty million head of cattle (besides other stock) and St. Louis and Kansas City as many more. The application of the above is that the Burlington points, has carried a much larger percentage of cattle than any of its competitors, and that if you want to see where cattle are congregated for sale, you should take the Burlington Route; or if you wish to visit the immense range of prairie, valley and mountainside where these millions pasture, the best road is the Burlington Route. For business or for pleasure it has no equal, and all desired information as to rates or routes will be given by any of its agents, or on application to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul,
