

Poultry Profits May Be Multiplied

Don't be satisfied with half-way profits from your poultry at this time. Promote the production of eggs and you'll not only make money, but you will be aiding Mr. Hoover in his efforts to conserve food. Hess' Poultry Panacea will make the hens lay, and will keep your entire flock in a thrifty condition. Price 30 and 75 cents.

Among the names of those wounded in action in France, appearing in Monday evening's papers, is the name of Frank Buckingham of Princeton. His people, we believe, live in Spencer Brook.

Leger Armitage, who is in the 125th Field Artillery at Fort Sill, has been promoted to a corporal. We are pleased to learn that Leger has been advanced a notch, but now his troubles will begin.

On Sunday Misses Eleanor Kaliher, Anna Trunk, Mary Caley, Gwendolin Kalkman, Dolly Branchaud and Ernesta Jesmer entered St. Benedict's academy at St. Joseph for a course of instruction.

Take a day off and visit the county fair next week, meet old friends and exchange ideas with your brother farmers. You will find much to please and amuse you. Bring your wife and children along, too.

William Kaliher has received word that his brother-in-law, Hubert Jesmer, has been severely wounded in France. Mr. Jesmer went across with a Canadian regiment and has seen some heavy fighting.

Joyriders appeared to be equally as numerous in Princeton on Sunday as before the government issued its order to suspend auto riding upon the Sabbath until further notice. Violators of this order are subject to arrest and the imposition of a penalty.

Grove Wills, formerly of Milaca, but now with the soldier boys at Camp Pike, Ark., was home last week on a short furlough. He has passed successfully through the officers' training school and is now a lieutenant.

Why not have a Red Cross auction sale at the county fair next week? There are a lot of articles that were contributed and not disposed of on Red Cross day last June. Those having the matter in hand should arrange for a sale at the fair.

West of town, through Greenbush, Glendora, Santiago and Blue Hill, there seems to be no scarcity of wild hay. The meadows are well dotted with stacks. Every pound of hay should be saved. It will fetch a good price before next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Howard and family arrived here from Danbury, Wis., on Saturday. The children will remain to attend school, but Millard and his wife have returned and will stay until the potatoes on the Ferrell farm at Danbury are harvested.

Albert Wilhelm of Greenbush is erecting a fine new residence of two stories on his farm which will soon be completed. It is 30x30 feet, built of selected lumber, and will be stuccoed. Mr. Wilhelm is one of the most progressive farmers in Mille Lacs county.
