"CUBA" last week was a brilliant success. Crowd the house again Friday.

Weeks ago, the Bazaar will be held at Market hall December 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16th. Some progress is being made gathering in material. Splendid prizes are to be awarded for the best work done in given lines of effort. To the regret of all Mrs. T. H. Lyles, was called away from the city unexpectedly, an unavoidable business matters. She resigned the presidency of the Bazaar. The committee insisted on Mrs. J. R. White taking the presidency and in spite of her protest elected her to the office. Mrs. White immediately asked for a meeting of the entire church and its friends on Tuesday evening at the church. All committees must make their reports at this meeting.

Repeated at the Grand—Popular Prices.

The successful performance of "Cuba," given by 300 of the first Afro-Americans of the city, will be repeated at the Grand opera house Nov. 25, at a Friday matinee at 2 p. m. Many of the society patronesses have urged a matinee. The Afro-Americans have been congratulated on every hand, and the performers and League believe they played the most representative people of this city, including society, philanthropy, professional and business people. It was a beautiful house. Fashion and elegance were everywhere manifest. The society had four days only in which to sell tickets and had a magnificent showing of the result of a little hustle on their part.

It is the first great performance ever given in this city by Afro-Americans. The press of the city spoke in highest praise of our effort, and we are congratulated to-day by our friends everywhere. So, we are going to give it again at popular prices—50 cents for the floor and balcony and 25 cents for gallery.

The American League will then extend their thanks to the young people and patronesses who have assisted, and give them a royal good time and supper at a Thanksgiving party a little later, at which time every one will be praised and sung and complimented and cheered for their share of the work in giving a creditable representation of the race to the white people of this city and to themselves. None of us knew before what we could do.

Everyone interested, patrons and performers, are to meet at Conover hall to-night, Saturday, and let us have a good send-off, and let us make this matinee the biggest ever seen in the history of St. Paul. The manager of the Grand is to do his utmost to make a brilliant success for us. Those who sold tickets before said that they went easily. We want one hundred people to be at the meeting and reach the city with tickets. Give us such a packed house, from floor to gallery, that you will be proud of it all your life. Do not forget the meeting at Conover hall Saturday at 7:30. The matinee at the Grand opera house Friday, Nov. 25, and the Thanksgiving party later.

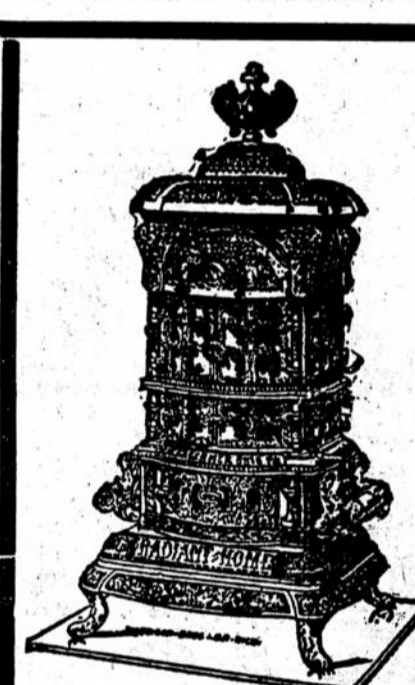

"Cuba" Echoes.
They are wild about it yet.

It is a great pity that there were not two performances in St. Paul.

Mrs. Viola Lee made a magnificent "Dolores" impersonating the Spanish beauty with all the ease and grace of a professional. Her costume which was furnished by herself was very correct and becoming.

There is a talk of resurrecting one of the old dramatic clubs or of forming a new one. This would be a very good idea as there is good reason to believe that good audiences would greet any entertainments given by such an organization after the dramatic success of "Cuba."

There were a few "scraps" but the "maebets" have been buried. Whenever such a large number of persons of various "set" are thus suddenly thrown together such things usually happen. There is no real good excuse for it, however, as all personal likes or dislikes, jealousies, rivalries, egotisms, real or supposed social distinctions, etc., etc., should be sacrificed on the altar of the general good, and all endeavor to get along in peace and harmony. Ladies and gentlemen your well-wishers would like to C-U-B-A more forbearing people.

any discriminations on account of color are precluded.

Since this damnable decision a number of saloons are refusing to serve Afro-Americans that did before.

The W. C. T. U. Platform Meeting.

Tuesday evening there was a large gathering at Greth hall to listen to addresses by delegates to the W. C. T. U. convention.

F. L. McGee, Esq., presided with his usual ease and grace, delivered the address of welcome and was most happy in his impromptu introductions of the other speakers who were as follows: Mrs. Francis Joseph of Louisiana, Miss M. A. Lynch and Mrs. M. J. Bullock of North Carolina and Mrs. Lucy B. Thurman of Michigan and Rev. J. C. Anderson of St. James A. M. E. church. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. D. S. Orner of Pilgrim Baptist church. All the talks were good but that of Mrs. Thurman was conceded to be the best in many respects. Music was furnished by the St. James A. M. E. choir, Mrs. W. E. Stanon, pianist; T. R. Morgan, cornetist, and Mrs. R. C. Minor and Mrs. B. S. Walker soloists. The stage was tastefully decorated with the national colors. A large American flag was stretched across the back of the stage and in the middle of it hung the flag of Minnesota. Chrysanthemums decorated the speaker's table.

Wedding Trip to Klondike.

Mr. Wm. Moore and Miss Maude Hastings were married last Saturday by Justice Johnson and they left at once for a wedding tour to the Klondike.

Mr. Moore is a dapper little Afro-American, by profession an actor, and his wife is also one of the profession and of thorough Yankee stock. He made all arrangements with a Justice of the peace for getting married two weeks ago, at a business engagement in Wisconsin.

"A CONTENTED WOMAN."

At the Grand Opera House, St. Paul.

High class attractions at popular prices continue to be the watchword at the Grand Opera House, and the fact that the public is appreciative of this splendid treatment at the hands of the management is evidenced by the attendance which is the best the theatre has ever enjoyed, and which includes the best class of local amusement lovers.

For the week commencing next Sunday night, one of the comedy events of the season is announced in the visit of that talented comedienne, Miss Belle Archer, in Chas. H. Hoyt's cleverest comedy "A Contented Woman." The engagement will be marked by a special Thanksgiving matinee in addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday afternoon performances. Hoyt's plays are well liked by our theatre goers, and anything new from his fertile brain is sure to command wide attention. His "A Contented Woman," comes strongly endorsed as the best and most successful effort of his career as a playwright. It will be presented here with all the stage effect used at Hoyt's theatre, New York, and by a cast that is the strongest and most complete ever presenting a Hoyt comedy. Miss Belle Archer, who has played the principal role for the past two seasons, and who was formerly leading lady with Nat Goodwin, will be seen here in the title role. The piece is a musical comedy, and there is an abundance of rollicking, spirited music, all the work of Richard Stahl, while the specialties are numerous, and all of them reported as being new and up-to-date. One of the specialty performers is Bonnie Lottie, the sensational dancer, whose specialty consists of a series of the most marvelous and seemingly impossible poses and figures, all done with the most exquisite grace and ease. As a finale, the little woman continues to spin on one foot, slowly at first, then faster and faster, until the audience cannot distinguish her features and the rapidity of her movement. The New York Critics have christened her "The Dancing Marvel."

Mr. Richard D. Ware, departed for Macao City college last Wednesday evening at Macao City, Mo., where he will take a theological course. Quite a number of his friends attended a surprise on the event of his departure, an elegant supper was served, a long conversation ensued as to the future possibilities of the young man. Every one wished their way home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stone, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Messrs. E. F. Fine, P. D. Burke, Charles Helms, G. H. Merchants, Messrs. Wallace Stone, O. D. Graham, Joseph Patterson and others.

The North Star Social club gave its formal opening at their quarters at 202 Hennepin avenue, last Monday evening, and quite an enjoyable time was had by all present. George Joseph Foster on the door, proved the proper man at the proper place. Messrs. H. J. Lloyd and D. H. Boone, their small army of waiters did all they could to please their guests on the occasion, and every one was of a jolly frame of mind, with the headlight of happiness, and Engineer Lloyd with Capt. Boone, the launch, the N. S. S. club on to the future sea of success, Chief J. P. Jackson and Mr. H. L. Vinegar, at the barbers' chair, the club means business. Mr. Andy Carter did justice to the occasion while he acted as flower man, and at an early hour all repaired home to think and return again to 202, for a good time. Mr. L. Mason was the pianist, and played himself sick. Everyone wishes the club success, through all future time.

At the Bijou Opera House Minneapolis. High class attractions at popular prices are proving a magnet of effective drawing power at the Bijou the present season. "Why Men Left Home," that laughable creation from the pen of Geo. H. Broadhurst, dislocated the success of "What Happened to Jones," created even a more favorable impression than the former piece. The business was most satisfactory and the management with its accustomed liberality, made extra provision for theatre goers for election night by engaging it an enormous expense the Minnesota State band, which rendered a program of extremely enjoyable musical features on that occasion. The management announces that it will accept as cash the stamps of the Union Recreation Camp Co. These stamps are kept by all first class merchants, and theatre goers
