The good (?) white citizens of Louisville, Ky., have been in a terrible stew this week, and various attempts have been made to mob the jail and lynch two colored men, Turner and Patterson, who are accused of murderously assaulting a white servant girl named Jennie Bowman. They are perfectly frantic.
Why? Because two men almost murdered a woman? No. But, because the two men accused are colored and the women white. They are not such chivalrous knights, such lovers of justice and summary punishment as they would lead the world to believe. The case in question is a bad one, and no one, less than ourself, wishes to thwart exact justice for the guilty parties, who ever they may be. But we wish the law to take its proper course and mete out the punishment that should follow, and not a howling mob of human devils, so blinded by color prejudice that they are worse at heart than their intended victims. Let the case remain the same and change the colors of the assailants and assailed, and the men could not be low enough, nor the woman high enough—though she were the peer of the Virgin Mary—to arouse such a desire for vengeance in the hearts of these blood-thirsty chivalrous (?) Kentuckians. Bosh!
When will our highly cultured, intelligent, white brothers learn that of one blood God made all nations, and accept the brotherhood of man?

The Interstate Commerce Law has cut off so many railroad dead heads that the sleeping car system is on the wane.
The persons who patronized the sleepers most were those who traveled on passes, but now having to pay fare they do not care to pay extra for sleepers. The poor porters who depend upon the generosity of the passengers for the tips necessary to eke out the miserable pittance the roads allow them for salary, are sufferers to a considerable extent, and some of them have already been forced to resign their positions, as they cannot pick up enough to pay their expenses. It seems that the Negro gets the worst of every deal, no matter who makes it.

There is little sympathy expressed for Pullman, however, and it is thought that he will lower his rates for berths in his cars, take off the useless conductors and place the porters in charge as conductors and porters, and pay them the same wages usually paid to conductors; and, by these means, Sir George may still continue to live up to the style which accords with his lately bestowed title.

It matters little whether one is right or wrong in his opinions, it is always a source of gratification to have others agree with him; but when we are right, and we find our ideas are in accord with leading thinkers, the gratification is increased in a ten fold ratio. The Indianapolis World is considered, by the newspaper fraternity generally to rank among the best in the land; in fact, it is equaled by few and excelled by none, taken as a whole.

The World says: "The Negro to be fully able to cope with the dominant race must acquire more wealth and education, more moral courage and race pride. One tax payer gains more respect for the race than a dozen howling politicians."

Those are just the ideas we have ever endeavored to inculcate in the minds of our readers. Our road to success goes via wealth, not politics, we must follow Iago's advice: "Put money in thy purse" all things else, earthly, will follow.

The new mayor of Pittsburgh has made twenty-one appointments of colored men on the police force of that city.
The new mayor of St. Paul made twenty-five appointments on the police force of this city recently, but not one of the number is a colored man. We had a talk with two of the colored men who have been on the force, recently, and both say they resigned because they were not properly treated by their superior officers. Of course, if a captain or lieutenant wishes to make it uncomfortable for a patrolman he can easily do so, but there are a few colored men in the city who are willing to take chances in that direction if the opportunity is afforded. If they cannot stay they can do as the others did—resign.
But justice demands that they be appointed.

The two Reverend Sams, Jones and Small have been walloping saints and sinners at a terrible rate in Minneapolis during the past week. How much good they have done God only knows. If, however, through their influence, one soul has been brought to the feet of Jesus they have earned their weekly stipend of $500. The Lord works in mysterious ways his wonders to perform.
They have the reputation of being willing to help their colored brothers and sisters into heaven by a sort of side entrance; but, as the Bible teaches us, there is only one way, and who ever strives to enter in any other way, is as a thief and a robber, we have not, as a rule, taken much stock in their Christianity.

The sporting element figures quite extensively in this part of the moral vineyard and the daily newspapers devote a large amount of space to accounts of sparring matches, prize fights and local "scrapes." There was a time when prize fighting was considered very disreputable business, but at present, the "Professors of the Manly (?) Art," are bigger men than "Ole Grant." It may be a good thing sometimes for a fellow to know how to handle his "dukes" in a scientific manner, but there is such a thing as carrying a thing too far and thus what the "pugs" are now doing.

It is very encouraging, as we look over our exchanges, to note that colored barbers in different parts of the country are exhibiting manhood enough to obliterate the color line in their shops.
The discriminations which colored men have made in their establishments against colored men, have been one of the biggest stumbling blocks in the way of our obtaining civil rights. No other race of people on Gods green earth treats its members as some of ours do each other.

The able editor of the American Baptist has involved himself in a religious discussion that bids fair to reach immense proportions. We endorse his position in treating with contempt the personal flings of filth, which some "scavage cart" editors are making, and feel satisfied that he will be able to hold his own in the controversy with the gentlemanly portion of the profession.

The A. M. E. Church Review comes to us this quarter, as usual, filled with able articles on live, interesting subjects.
It contains portraits of the late Bishop R. H. Cain and Hon. J. Willis Menard, the first colored congressman, and pen-pictures of the living thoughts of some of our leading thinkers. The Review is accredited to us as a people and should be found in every household.

Prize fighters, or pugilists, may be perfect gentlemen—and we think too much of our head to run the risk of saying they are not—but they do not very often belong to the Y. M. C. A., or teach in the Sabbath Schools. Neither are they, generally, advocates of temperance or members of the church.

The beauties of the jury system were exemplified in the acquittal of Frank Meard who shot and killed Frank Farnsworth in this city about six months ago.
In a case of this kind, its a mighty good thing to be a white man—and popular.

To-morrow begins the merry month of May, and instead of chilly winds and snow which April gave us in place of gentle showers, we can now hope for balmy breezes and flowers.

The APPEAL extends its sympathy to Bro. W. J. Cromwell, of the Peoples Advocate, Washington, D. C., in the recent loss of his better half and helpmeet.

Mr. Joseph H. Banks, elected at Providence last week by the votes of the Democrats and a faction known as the "Equal Rights Party."

Mr. George W. Tanner, colored, of Illinois, was appointed to a clerkship in the Pension Office, Washington, on the 19th instant, under the Civil Service Rules.

Mr. Geo. L. Pryor, of Hampton, Va., who held a clerkship in the same office was dismissed on the 18th inst.

Capt. J. A. Sykes, colored, formerly editor of the Savannah Phoenix, was last week convicted in the Superior Court of Chatham County, Ga., of criminal libel. He was fined $300 and sentenced to jail for six months. He had said of Peter Dongal, a colored letter carrier, that he was "a viper, a loafer, a hybrid and a disgrace to the postal service."

Home Economy.

Economy is the management of domestic affairs, thrifty and frugal housekeeping. Economy avoids all waste and extravagance, and applies money to the best advantage. And again, economy is said to be a virtue, let us then be economical as it is a virtue. In referring to the subject of economy in regard to making home happy, we will look for instance at the lately married couples, they marry and pay $20 or $30 per month for board; some hire cooks, others have their washing and ironing done, and others run weekly grocery bills which they cannot afford, but persist in keeping it up for the sake of a big name. I will ask Bright-eyes or Touch-me-not can this last very long or will happiness long prevail? Well then, the newly married bride will say, the reason the weekly store account is $5, is because I always want a plenty to eat and the very best of it; and the reason why I have my washing done, my mother or sister did it before I married, and I only had the sewing and cleaning to do, and many other little excuses of the same nature which are not at all excusable for the unfortunate ones. I will again ask Bright-eyes, a question as I think she can answer, for them.
Would it not have been better for them to try all of these different kinds of domestic work before leaving their fathers and mothers hospitable roofs? Of course bills of cooking, washing, board and clothing must be paid, and, as a matter of course, the young groom must pay them; now, he must, to live such a high life, have money and no small amount of it either. If, then, we have a desire to attain something in this unfriendly world, let us practice economy.

If the wife is economical the husband is then more desirous of doing still more for her; he works with untiring zeal, ever thinking of her, who looks out for his future as well as her own. There are women who never think how hard their husbands work for the money they squander. They order a new cloak that costs a month's salary, they spend the market money in lunching at restaurants and going to matinees, and then ask him for more with a babyish giggle. They think the world was made for them, and they mean to enjoy it. They do not consider that a wife should be her husband's helpmeet in all things.

Economy should be practiced more in house-keeping, house-keeping is a science and an art. May the time be not far distant when we shall hear of the "new sphere" for woman's energies is to regulate her home in accordance with the polished training her mental faculties have attained and not feel her life is being wasted, or her education for naught.—"Drew Drops" in Arkansas Dispatch.

Newspapers in 1887.

Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, will issue on Monday, May 2nd, the Nineteenth Annual edition of their standard publication, the "American Newspaper Directory."

The new volume contains an exhaustive list of all Class Publications so admirably arranged that any one of the three thousand papers represented there can be readily referred to and all important facts concerning it, together with its circulation rating, easily obtained.

The Newspaper Directory will be used principally by Publishers, Advertisers and Advertising Agents, but the vast fund of information it contains makes it valuable to persons of almost every trade and profession. As a Gazetteer alone it is well worth the price charged, $5.00, for it fully describes every town in which a newspaper is issued, and few people care to know about any place where one is not.

The number of papers published in the United States, Territories (including Alaska) and Canada is put at 15,420; an increase of 581 in one year.

The growth of newspapers in some of the Western States would be a matter of wonder, if it were not that this year is no exception to the rule. In Kansas the increase is 89 and in Nebraska 64; while the Keystone State shows a smaller advance of 35 and the Buckeye State of 30. Pennsylvania exhibits the largest increase in dailies, 17; Kansas in weeklies, 81, and New York in monthlies, 42.
Seven States show an increase; the most prominent instances being New Hampshire and Virginia, six each. The whole volume shows that great care has been taken to sustain its reputation as the most comprehensive work of the kind yet published, and to insure accuracy in every detail. Anything less than a complete compendium of American newspapers and periodicals would surprise those who are so well known as the oldest, largest and best known of all the American Advertising Agencies.

Chicago, Ill.

The many readers of the APPEAL will doubtless call to mind that it has been quite a long time since they heard from me, but this has been occasioned by my absence from home, an absence extending over four months, during which time I have been permitted to visit some important points in the Southern States and note with interest the condition of our race in that locality, as well as to spend a goodly portion of a severe winter in the warm climate of Old Mexico.

Having just arrived home and being much fatigued by the long and tiresome journey I find myself unequal to the task of securing for publication in this issue a list of the doings in and around the city. However, we shall endeavor to satisfy the many readers of the AP-PEAL in regard to the goings on in Chicago, as I have always endeavored to do, previous to my going away, and as it may be interesting to some of my readers, I will be pleased to give an account of my travels through the South where it has been said that slavery has been abolished. But, if I am any judge of what constitutes slavery, I am prepared to say that in some parts it still exists in all its hideousness. Also of my travels through California, New and Old Mexico. In short, we shall endeavor to give you good letters for the next few weeks, at least.
A. A. RUSSELL.

Fort Snelling.

Mrs. A. T. Anderson, of Minneapolis, organized a division of Sons of Temperance, on Tuesday evening, composed of soldiers. The following officers were elected: W. J. Cogley, W. P.; A. J.
Smith, W. A.; J. D. Howard, R. S.; A.
E. Simond, A. R. S.; C. Reddick, F. S.; G. W. Honce, treasurer; J. N. Norton, cor.; Mrs. L. A. Norton, A. C.; J. N.
Banham, I. R.; S. W. Johnson, O. S.

Times are getting lively at the Fort.
Drill at 6:30 a.m., 9:30 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and dress parade 20 minutes before sunset, Saturdays and Sundays excepted.
The boys will be down to fighting weight soon.

One of our first sergeants sprained his right hand a few evenings ago in a glove contest. We will let the St. Paul boy know when he has recovered.

The WESTERN APPEAL is becoming quite popular here. All of its readers are fully aware of the fact that it is a wide-awake, first-class journal.

Mrs. M. J. Hickman, one of the first ladies of this city, is suffering intensely, though not dangerously with rhu-matism. She has accepted the advice of her physician, Dr. J. B. Johnson, to go to Hot Springs.

The Home Club had a meeting last Wednesday night. Two new members were elected and quite an animated discussion took place on financial matters.
Messrs. Wilson, Grant, Williams, Langston and others participating.

The Idle Hour Society met at the residence of Mrs. C. C. Helms, last Thursday. There was a large attendance of members. The following programme presented was enjoyed by all. An original poem, "Spirit's Belis," by Mrs. S. P.
Vashon; reading by Mr. Rich Byron; reading by Mrs. Nellie Gibson.

Quite a wholesome sensation was created last Thursday afternoon in school circles, by the action of Mr. H.
G. Parker, principal of No. 1 school.
This school has a kindergarten attachment under the directorship of white teachers. Froebels birthday celebration brought every Kindergarten in the city to the Exposition Hall, last Thursday, except the colored Kindergarten which Mr. Parker refused to let leave his building except under the leadership of the white teachers who taught them every day. They declined to march through the streets with the colored children, and hence the action of the principal.

Miss Addie M. Walker, of Richmond, Va., has been engaged to sing with the Fisk Jubilee Singers, under the management of Mr. F. J. Loudin. The troupe is now in Australia.
