LIEN-CATCHING IN SOUTH AFRICA.
Mr. Lennu, who formerly resided at Mottu, and is familiar with the Kill-hunt country, assured me that the remarkable accounts sometimes circulated as to the people of that part of Africa catching lions by the tail, and of which, I confess, I was very incredulous, were perfectly true. He well knows that the method prevailed, and was certainly not uncommon among the people. Lions would sometimes become extremely dangerous. Having become accustomed to human flesh, they would not willingly eat anything else. When a neighborhood became infested, the men would determine on the measures to be adopted to rid themselves of the nuisance; then forming themselves into a band, they would proceed in search of their royal foe, and stand close by one another, the lion would make his spring on some one of the party—every man, of course, hoping he might escape the attack—when instantly others would dash forward and seize his tail, lifting it up close to the body with all their might; thus not only astonishing the animal, and absolutely taking him off his guard, but rendering his efforts powerless for the moment while others closed in with their spears, and at once stabbed the monster through and through.—Rev. J. J. Freeman's Tour in South Africa.

COMMITTEE ON THE WESTERN RIVERS.
We see by a memorial to Congress in favor of removing the obstructions in the western rivers, that the amount of commerce floated on the western rivers during the last year is estimated at $23,000,000; it is greater than the amount of the total exports of the nation.

Medicine has killed as many people as war. Powder and pills are as fatal as powder and ball. Be careful, therefore, how you allow people to shoot them into you.
