"Sweet Bells Jangled Out of Tune and Harsh."
Shakespeare's description fits thousands of women. They are cross, discontented, sickly, nervous, burden to themselves and their families. Their sweet dispositions are gone, and they, like the bells, seem out of tune. But there is a remedy. They can use

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui
It brings health to the womanly organism, and health there means well-poised nerves, calmness, strength. It restores womanly vigor and power. It tones up the nerves which suffering and disease have shattered. It is the most perfect remedy ever devised to restore weak women to perfect health and to make them attractive and happy. $1.00 at all druggists.

J. B. Buckhalter went up the road last week and met his mother, from Barnwell, N. C., accompanying her husband, today morning on the flyer.

MONEY IN THE AIR.

Remarkable Result of a Terrible Torment in the South Dakota Country.

"I see they've had another mud shower somewhere in Oklahoma," observed the man in the crash suit as he laid down the paper.
"Huh," ejaculated the man who had just paid for the round, "another one of those newspaper lies. Mud showers, red snowstorms, airships, blizzards; they're all the same, nothing but fakes, sir! Overwrought imagination of some country correspondent produced by a too steady diet of strong liquor and a high temperature. Mud showers! Huh!"

"Well," responded the man from Buffalo, affably, "there are a good many lies told in the papers nowadays, but it's hard to point 'em out with certainty. Now I once witnessed a sight, gentlemen, that outdid anything ever described in the way of freak showers. It was out in Sitting Bull, Wyo., about 12 years ago. I was running a drug store there; had a full assortment of horse liniments, rheumatism remedies, and plug tobacco, and was taking in from 60 cents to 80 cents a day. Well, one afternoon I was standing in the doorway of my store, looking for the man who owed me for a tin of axle grease, when all of a sudden it began to blow. Wasn't anything alarming, you understand; just a plain blow, no need to get into the cellar.

"Presently something fluttered down onto the sidewalk right at my feet. It was a kind of green and awoke tender recollections in my breast; and, well, it took me about one-thousandth part of a second to pick it up. Gentlemen, it was a nice, crisp, $30 bill!"

The man from Buffalo paused, looked his elbow, elevated his chin, and wiped his mustache dreamily on his sleeve.
"I looked up and down the street," he continued. "There was no one in sight. I put the bill in my pocket and looked around for more. And I found them. Inside of half a minute the air was full of them. They blew in from the east like a flock of green sparrows. I filled my pockets until they wouldn't hold any more, and then I ran into the store and got three soap boxes and a keg. By that time the street for three or four blocks was ankle deep in money, and every dog-blasted man, woman and child in Sitting Bull was out harvesting.

"Well, gentlemen, I staked out a claim with four bottles of cod liver oil and stayed up until two in the morning clearing it up with a hay rake. And when I went to sleep it was with the cheering knowledge that I was one of the rich men in the world. Sorry one of those bills was a brand-new, crisp, $30 gold certificate, signed, sealed and delivered at the door, gentlemen."

"The next day, when everyone had their money put away in trunks, boxes and cupboards, they began to wonder what it meant. There were lots of theories presented, as you may imagine, but none of them proved correct. But there was the money piled high on every dog stool. One man went crazy because he couldn't find out how much he was worth; got a different total every count. As for me, I counted out a soapbox full of estimated balance; I had about $1,000,000."

"And then?" asked the man in the crash suit, as he sighed and drained his glass to the very last bit of lemon peel.
"It was all explained later, gentlemen. There was a cyclone over in South Dakota, and a counterfeiters' house had been leaved to the ground. He lost the proceeds of four years of honest toil."

"Did you?"
"Gentlemen, a secret service officer with 14 deputies rode into town one day and arrested every last resident for passing counterfeit money. Because of the unusual circumstances we got off with a fine of $50 each. Talk about mud showers, gentlemen?"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The household staff of servants attached to the Castellane palace in Paris numbers 25 persons, which includes a secretary to the count, a major, a lomo, a valet to the count, three footmen, a chef de cuisine and three assistants, two concierges, a mail to the countess, a staff of housemaids, butler and assistants. In the stables are three coachmen, a jockey and half a dozen grooms and stablemen. When a reception is on the house forces are largely increased. The livery of the Castellane establishment is blue, with black knickerbockers, stockings of moire silk, and a waistcoat of transparent red and yellow. Gala livery of white, with black knickerbockers, and red and gold lace brandenburgs. A nother ivory is white without the lace. On reception days the servants are powdered in the regulation court style.—Edward Page Gaston, in Womans' Home Journal.

Like the Hen.
Over in Blank county they tell a story on a farmer of which the old man himself has never been able to see the point. He has a brother who sometimes does business for him, and one day he sent him to collect what was due from another farmer who owed him some money.
A few hours afterward, the man came wandering back leading a very fair-looking cow.
"Is she a good one?" inquired Jake.
"Yes—the best he had."
"How old is she?"
"About three years."
"She ain't, either; she's 11 if she's a day," said Jake, feeling in her mouth; "there ain't a tooth in the back of her head!"—Detroit Free Press.

Out on a Visit.
W. H. Rogers, of Ronoke, Va., was in town Friday to renew his acquaintance with The Chieftain, and to have the address of his paper changed to Washington, D. C. Mr. Rogers is a brother of Ridge Rogers, of Catle, and is a Cherokee citizen.

Sometimes Happens.
The sports run across a "git cent" a few days since and when the sitting was over he had $500 of the money with which he bought cows and horses and clothes, and pretty a spectral put it beyond their reach.

Lawyers to Musko; Joe.
L. F. Parker, senior and junior, went to Muskogee Friday on the flyer, accompanied by P. L. Super. Mr. Parker will be here a couple days yet.

WOMEN Especially Mothers

Are most competent to appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CUTICURA SOAP, and to discover new uses for it daily.

Its remarkable emollient, cleansing, and purifying properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, warrant its use in preserving, purifying, and beautifying the complexion, hands, and hair, and in the form of washes and solutions for ulcerative weaknesses, annoying irritations and chafings, as well as for many sensitive purposes which readily suggest themselves.

In many of the above conditions, gentle anointings with CUTICURA, the great skin cure, and parent of ointments, in addition, will prove of astonishing benefit.

Send throughout the world. CUTICURA SOAP, 25c. Sold by all druggists. CUTICURA, 50c. Sold by all druggists.

John Bullett May Mine Coal if he Wishes.

The statement made in one of the Claremore papers last week to the effect that the action of the interior department in enjoining John Bullett from shipping coal would cause a coal famine in Claremore does not seem to accord with the facts. Mr. Bullett refused to pay the royalties due the nation and stated to some of the officials that he owed $1,500 or $2,000 back revenue. By paying as others are paying we are informed Mr. Bullett could have gone on mining as before, but he had perhaps been advised by his attorney to not pay.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Given Last Evening in Honor of Miss Goldie Pillars.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. A. M. Brock, the occasion of her daughter's fourteenth birthday. Mrs. W. S. Standfield and Miss Franklin assisted in making the evening enjoyable. Delicious cake and cream were served. Those honored with invitations were: Mrs. W. S. Standfield, Miss Grace Patterson, Miss Doris Franklin, Miss Wacaser and sister, Miss Esby, Miss Marie Wheat, Mrs. Dugger, Bert Esby, Emmet Hughes and Will Patterson.

Rather a Good Rake-Off.

Mr. P. J. Moran, in an article in the Atlanta Constitution, says: "As an illustration of the manner in which the farmers of the country have lost heretofore, it is only necessary to repeat a statement recently made by Mr. Hester, of New Orleans, that out of an annual cotton receipt of one million three hundred thousand bales in that city over thirty seven thousand bales were made up of samples which had been ruthlessly plucked from the bales by the men who handled them, which should have gone into the parishes of Louisiana." Not the least merit of the American Cotton Company's Roundup bale is that besides other economies it prevents this unjust tribute from being levied on the farmer.

From Shiloh Battlefield.

Dr. A. H. Collins sent two canes made from sticks cut on the battlefield of Shiloh, one to Chief T. M. Buffington and the other to P. L. Soper. They were delivered Friday. The doctor has been somewhat of a town promoter but is at present surveying for the Dawes commission.

Welter Treatment.

Mrs. R. Ironside has been under treatment for a few days of a magnetic healer and her condition shows marked improvement. She has ceased to cough so much as heretofore and feels better than for a great many months.

Chair Car to Oklahoma.

Of the Katy flyer's two chair cars, one is switched at South McAlester to run over the Choctaw to Oklahoma City. By this arrangement the Katy gets considerable Kansas City business.

A Swift Man.

W. T. Boyd, the mule buyer, is just about the swiftest man in that line that has "come down the pike." He bought a span Friday morning while they were on the run.

Interior Department Officials.

Frank C. Churchill joined J. George Wright at the flyer Friday and went to Muskogee. Mr. Wright had been north since the first of the week.

The Best of Women.

The best of women may be the worst of sufferers. Disease is no respecter of persons. The regular periodic suffering of many women is calculated as aggregating at least ten years of the thirty between fifteen and forty-five. Such a tax of pain and time is utterly unnecessary. In all cases the sufferings of women may be alleviated, and in most cases they may be completely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This wonderful medicine is not a cure-all, but a specific remedy for diseases affecting the delicate womanly organs. It cures, completely, irregularity, ulceration, inflammation and female weakness and gives the enfeebled organs health and vigor.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm, (Knox County, Tenn.), writes: "I cheerfully send you the following testimonial of the great relief you kindly advice and medicine brought me. During the past year I found I was with child and in rapidly falling health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sleep and pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately; my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work on a good sized farm. I gained and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a healthy baby and have a healthy baby too."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all diseases of the female system, such as irregularity, ulceration, inflammation, and female weakness, and gives the enfeebled organs health and vigor.

NEW LUMBER YARD.

On account of the partial destruction of our stock of lumber by the recent fire, and the delay in adjustment of loss, we have decided to close out everything now on hand and put in a new stock. We will build new sheds and office buildings, and a stock of lumber never equalled in Vinita. In our present stock there is considerable first class lumber slightly charred which will be sold much below original cost.
