THERE are "niceties" in ■ the tailoring of Wooltex skirts that you should know about.

Every one of these special features means extra service and satisfaction to the wearer.

The pure wool materials are shrunken before cutting. This prevents spotting and drawing of the cloth if you get caught in a shower.

The silk finished waist band is reinforced with featherbone stays. It will not curl or wrinkle, but will stay trim and smooth fitting.

The placket has continuous facing that prevents tearing or ripping as you slip it over the hips.

Hooks and eyes, fasteners or buttons are sewn on firmly. Button holes are neatly made and will not ravel or tear out.

Why wear ordinary skirts when you can have Wooltex tailored skirts? Come in and see them while assortments are so complete.

WORK PROGRESSING MILITARY SPIRIT AT COUNTRY CLUB DEGRIED BY LOL

Temporary Quarters Will be Ready Puckechetuck Lodge No. 43, I. O. O. F. Takes Official Stand Against for Use Next Saturday Evening. Directors Belleve.

ARE USING NEW CLUBS ONLY FOR HONOR'S SAKE

New Irons Tried Out by Large Number of Members on the Course Yesterday Afternoon.

Work is progressing rapidly on the temporary headquarters at the Country club. The large platform for dinpleted by Monday night—the roof and the kitchen and dressing room will come next and the carpenters say that with good weather for their work, it will be ready for a party next Saturday night. Members are going to be most agreeably surprised at the commodious building and the beauty of the location of the temporary house.

meeting on Friday night against the spirit of militarism, and to protest, in this resolution against the building of greater navies and stronger armies, except as these may be needed to preserve national honor and life.

Following is the resolution presented and adopted by the lodge:

"Whereas, A great war, now in progress in Europe is causing an uning and dancing will be nearly com-beauty of the location of the temporary house.

A fresh impetus has been given to the ancient game of golf and there were more players on the links yesterday than have been seen for many years—every player came out with a new bag of clubs and they were all pleased as a boy with a new knife. Every one was trying the other fellows' clubs, and showing off his own with all the pride with which Tom Sawyer exhibited his sore toe—and, by the way, a strange thing has come about as the result of the burning of all these golf clubs and the burning of all these golf clubs and the company house.

"Whereas, A great wai, how hereas, A great wai, how horders and Europe is causing an unparalleled sacrifice of life and property in direct violation of the teaching of the Master, and "We, as Odd Fellows, a fraternal society whose principles are expressed in our motto, "Friendship men are brothers, and who teach obedience to law, allegiance to the laying down of our lives in its behalf, are convinced that it is now time for all civilized nations to protest against war and to give considered. has come about as the result of the burning of all these golf clubs and the enforced buying of new ones—every fellow has something on which to lay his poor playing. They couldn't very well lay it to the clubs when those same clubs had been their pets for ten years, but now when they swing at a ball and miss it by a foot, it is the easiest matter in the world to look with disgust at the bright club and say uncomplimentary things to it. And it is astonishing what wonderful things they used to do with the old clubs—to hear them tell it—after one day's play with the new ones. A man who crossed Lee Hamill's path during the game yesterday heard him recalling the fact that it formed an onlooker that he was never known to even scrape the grass with his old club.

C. F. McFarland who always shot a ball with so much curve on it that it would go around the club house and crawl in the back window, seemed to think that the ball always flew as straight as a bullet when hit with the old club. It surely goes to show that there is no great loss without some small gain and when any outside golf club comes here to play a match, come before the old clubs burned.

Indestructo trunks are constructed by the best workmen, out of the best material obtainable.

Indestructo trunks are made by pressing five plys of first grade lumber in a jointless arched corner box in great hydraulic presses that cost $10,000 apiece. You will surely realize how much stronger an arched corner without a joint is than the square nailed corner. This. is the basic Indestructo principle. Competitors can not duplicate this construction. Don't be deceived by a mere round edge. What you want is Indestructo construction and you can only get that in an Indestructo trunk.
