

NEW MARKET HOUSE.

Special Meeting of the Council—Getting Matters in Working Shape—The Report of the Committee.

A special meeting of the council was held last evening relative to Fifth street sewerage and the bids for the new market house.

In relation to the Fifth street sewerage the report of the committee on streets and board of public works was adopted.

Several bonds were presented and approved, among them being that of the Farmers & Mechanics bank in the sum of $50,000 for the city deposits, 4 per cent interest to be paid thereon.

A large number of improvements relative to street improvements were presented and appropriately referred.

The report of the committee having in charge the letting of contracts for the new market house was submitted, and on motion adopted.

The committee proceeded to consider the question as to the adoption of the plans and letting of contracts for the construction of the same. Following is the full text of the report:

To the Honorable, the President and Common Council of the City of St. Paul:

GENTLEMEN: The Special Committee on New Market House, to whom was referred the bids presented to the Common Council at its last meeting for the construction of a new market house, respectfully report that upon an examination of the same they found that the bid of James S. Burris, $208,516, was the lowest.

The bid of Brink, Williams & Co. for brick, brick work and smoke stacks, James Boyd, for brick, brick work and smoke stacks, Frank Schick and Thomas Erd, for excavation, masonry, sewerage and brick work for basement, Leonard & Sullivan, excavation, sewerage and masonry, and E. F. Reahner & Son, painting, glazing and furnishing the glass, were no other bids for parts of the work, except those included in the bid of M. Shiere & Bro.

Your committee therefore did not consider any other bids than those for the entire work, as none of the other bids were as complete as the bid of M. Shiere & Bro.

It will be seen that the bid of M. Shiere & Bro. is absolutely the lowest, is $208,516, that of James S. Burris, $208,516—the first $18,500, the other $19,016 in excess of the funds now in the treasury applicable to the construction of said market house.

At once became a question with your committee as to whether or not they should do. To enable your committee to arrive at a correct conclusion in the matter, they made it a matter of inquiry of our leading tax payers, prominent citizens and members of the city, as to what course should be pursued—should the erection of a new market house be postponed—should the size be reduced, or should the building be cheapened in its materials and construction as to bring its cost within the amount of money on hand—and, without any dissenting voice, the unanimous verdict was that the sums bid were but a fair and adequate price for the building the Council had intended to build it, notwithstanding the cost would be in excess of what was originally contemplated.

They were opposed to delay in the erection of a building, which, in its architectural appearance or construction, the citizens would be ashamed of when it was completed, and it was their opinion that a sum sufficient to meet the excess of cost should be levied in the next tax levy, by including therein a sum to meet the deficiency. In these views your committee concurred, and they therefore unanimously recommended the erection of a market house in accordance with the plans and specifications, as originally adopted by the common council, as modified by the council on the 8th day of May, 1879.

The next question for your committee to consider was as to which of the two bidders was entitled to the contract for the construction of the market house. The bid of M. Shiere & Bro. being for $208,516, that of James S. Burris, $208,516, there being no other bids, and the lowest bidder not always, in fact, the best, they submit both of said bids for your consideration without recommendation as to which particular bid should be accepted, and to which bidder the contract shall be awarded, but that the bid of one or the other shall be accepted, approved, and that the contract shall be awarded to the person or persons making the same, as the council in its best judgment may determine.

The committee also recommended that the contract for the construction of the market house be awarded to the person or persons making the same, as the council in its best judgment may determine.
