WHITTLE'S WORK.

The Opera House Packed at the Meeting for Men-An Overflowing House in the Evening at the House of Hope-A Stirring Sermon by the Evangelist-Services at the First M. E. Church.

"For Men Only."

The Opera House was crowded with male auditors yesterday afternoon, attracted thither by the announcement that a special gospel service, for men only, would be conducted by the evangelists, Messrs. Whittle and Mc Granahan. The meeting was opened with song service by a select choir, and scriptural reading by the Rev. Dr. Dana. A hymn from the gospel song book, commencing "Mariner sailing light hearted and free," was then sang by Mr. McGranahan, the lines being rendered by Mr. McGranahan, the lines being rendered with touching melody and pathos.

The audience were then treated to a characteristic exhortation by Major Whittle, whose remarks were received with marked attention. The announcements were made that a series of Sunday afternoon meetings would be held at the C pera House, regular gospel meetings at the House of Hope church every night during the week except Saturday, morning prayer meetings at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock, commencing this morning, and daily o'clock, commencing this morning, and daily bible meetings at 3:30 o'clock at the Jackson street M. E. church.

street M. E. church.

Major Whittle's remarks were based on Amos, 4-12: "Prepare to meet thy God." In commencing his address the speaker said that when spoken to on religious subjects, there were four things that an unbeliever tried to answer or talk brek upon. First, he enquired how he was to know that God was interested in his welfare; second, what he should do with Him; third, in what manner he should meet Him, and fourth, how he should prepare to meet Him.

The speaker then adverted to the prevalence of what was termed scientific unbelief, which tended to destroy all faith in God and his holy word as conveyed in the Bible. In this con-nection the speaker said that where a spirit of disbelief existed men did not love to meet the disbelief existed men did not love to meet the questions concerning the responsibility of their actions to God.

The speaker addressed to the false assumption of scientists, who in dealing with secondary cause, traced the principle of life to the egg, acorn and molecule, beyond which the unsatisfied yearnings of the heart were offered nothingness. The prevalence of a Supreme Being superintending and governing the Universe, was alluded to in fervent language by the speaker, who dwelt with great earnestness on the necessity of obedience to God's laws on the necessity of obedience to God's laws and man's accountability to the Supreme Ruler of the universe. The speaker believed with Ingersell, who had said there ought to be a world beyond to straighten things out in this. The untimily death of Senator Chandler was eloquently alluded to, and the speaker closed with an earnest invitation for all men to come to Christ.

The House of Hope.

At the House of Hope long before the hour appointed for the meeting it became evident from the crowds already in attendance that the scating capacity of the house would be entirely inadequate to the occasion, and many were obliged to go away without being able to obtain seats. Here, as at the First M. E. church, the interest manifested in the words of the meeting were a very marked improvement upon those of the preceding week. At the invitation of Bro. Clark a number of singers in the audience took seats upon the platform to fill the vacancies caused by the absence of those in attendance at the First M. E. church. At 7:35 the house was full and standing room only was available. Mr. Holdridge announced that no ways available. that no more scats were to be had, and invited those standing to attend the overflow meeting at the First M. E. church, of which invitation many availed themselves.

Major Whittle then requested the audience to rise and join with the choir in singing the hymn, "Guide me, O Thou great Jehovah."

Mr. Baldwin presided at the large organ with his usual good taste, and the immeuse volume of rich music developed by this grand old hymn was very impressive. At the conclusion of the hymn Major Whittle requested Dr. Conn to inroke the divine blessing upon the meeting. prayed that God would e present the blessing they most needed; that the spirit of the Lord might light upon each one; that the words the speaker should after might be blessed to the peace and happiness of every soul who heard him.

Following the prayer came a male chorus entitled "The Beacon Light," which was an improvement upon the male quartette of last Rev. G, S. Barnes then read the Scripture lesson, from 1 Corinthians, after which Mr. McGranahan, assisted by his wife, sang, in his usual effective manner, "I Shall be Satisfied." The wrapt attention given him by the audience was a sufficient evidence of their appreciation of his really fine voice. Major Whittle then made the announcements for the coming week, after which the choir sang "I've Found the Pearl of Greatest Price." Following the singing Maj. Whittle offered a short prayer that the services of the evening might be blessed by the power of God to the saving of the unconverted. He then took his saving of the theoreted. He then took his text from Isaiah, 55th chapter and 4th verse. Salvation came to answer by his taking a per-sonal Saviour in the person of Jesus. When Jesus was before Pilate he acknowledged him-self a witness for God. When a man is on the witness stand he is allowed to say what he knows, not what he may think. So Jesus spoke only what he knew to be true. If three or four of your most respected citizens concur in their evidence, we all should believe them. So the apostles are unquestionable witnesses of the truth of what they had seen.

No matter what you may think about it, the matter comes face to face with you, and so, of God. He is a spirit. No man hath seen him. matter comes face to face with you, and so, or God. He is a spirit. No man hath seen him. He is great, allwise and powerful. That there is a law of retribution in his government. We think that God exists simply for our own benefit, in our selfihness. "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son." is a world that he gave his only begotten son," is a part of his evidence.

God loves us. What a thought that is! And do I know God forgives me? Only by the testimony of the witness.

You must give up all your own speculations and receive only the testimony of Christ. That Jesus on the cross has met the penalty for us, and salvation is now free for all. All God's at-ributes are revealed through Christ.

Jesus says, "I am the resurrection and the life." If we are alive at his coming we shall be caught up into the air and be forever with the Lord if we believe this witness

When I went to Ashtabula to look for the remains of my beloved Brother Bliss and his wife, I found not a vestige; everything reduced to ashes. I thought then of the resurrection. God can gather again those scattered ashes and raise him to a new and heavenly life ashes and raise him to a new and heavenly life. A man from Chicago, wealthy and cultivated, sat by my side in the car and asked me, "See here, Major Whittle, do you really believe there is a hell?" "Why certainly," said I, "I do believe there is a hell. I believe the Bible." "Do you mean to tell me that if I should die know I should go to hell?" "I do, if you should not repent before you died." "Well, sir I did not believe any one really believed in such things." So the world died." "Well, sir I did not believe any one really believed in such things." So the world looks at all these things from their own standpoint, and because they cannot feel the sincerity we do, they do not think any one can be sincere. I call upon you this night either to impeach the testimony of this witness, or to accord this testimony.

cept his testimony of this witness, or to accept his testimony.

He then made an earnest and stirring appeal to the unconverted to accept Christ, and closed his remarks with prayer that God might send conviction to many. Mr. Davis then pronounced the benediction. A short prayer meeting was held afterward in the lecture room below.

A young citizen of the First ward, named Thomas Horan, made things lively in the vicinity of Fifth and Rosabel streets Saturday night, but by the time the officer arrived on the scene he had been taken away and locked up by his friends.

A short-lived excitement took place on Fort street yesterday afternoon, caused by the peculiarities of a street-car horse that became entanged in the harness, and made an unsuccessful effort to get away from the driver. The animal started to run near the St. Paul House, and broke the car at Seven Corners, being held in abeyance, however, by the driver. The harness was badly damaged, no other material harm being accomplished.

A colored sitizen, named Easton McCadden residing at No. 163 Exchange street, reported residing at No. 163 Exchange street, reported at police headquarters yesterday forenoon, that a couple of unknown visitors to his house had abused his hospitality by stealing a $20 watch. The men entered the house yesterday morning and requested the privilege of warming themselves at the fire. The request was granted, and during the temporary absence of McCadden, who left the house for a pail of water, the men decamped with the watch which we are a warmed. decamped with the watch, which was suspen ed from the mantel piece. ### ST. PAUL SHOOTISTS.

A Novel Match by Members of the Rifle Club, Ending With a Banquet at Grote's. Arrangements were completed a few days since for a shooting match between the members of the St. Paul Rifle club, and the rather unique affair took place yesterday afternoon at the grounds of the society, near Post's siding. In order to make the affair interesting, it was decided that the members of the club should be divided into two divisions, and that the side which tallied the lowest score should pay for a banquet, to be given at Grote's Tivoli in the evening.

The captains of the respective sides were elected at a regular meeting of the society and the novelty of the arrangement consisted in the fact that the members of neither division knew anything about the result of the match until announced at thr end of the banquet, as each captain had selected his men alternately, the members being kept in ignorance of whom the members celling kept in ignorance or whom they had acted under until after the supper, Considering the breezy condition of the weather the shoot was a pronounced success, some of the members displaying splendid narkmanship.

The banquet was given at Grote's last even ing and was served in the excellent style cus-tomary with this accomplished caterer. The esult of the match was announced by Mr. Koenig, in a happy speech, at the conclusion of the supper, the sco	res t	peing as follows:

SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

An Overturned Carriage and a Broken Leg the Result.

Yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, an oldfashioned runaway occurred on Fourth street. A team of horses, owned and driven by Martin Mylon, which were attached to a carriage, became frightened at a noise made by a crowd of boys near the Seven Corners, and started on a run down Fourth street. When in front of Gruber's hotel, the carriage struck the side-walk and overturned, throwing Mr. Mylon out. breaking his leg and severely bruising him. The team became free from the carriage at this place and continued on their way down Fourth street and brought up against a tree in Rice park, one of the horses being badly injured.

Mr. Mylon was taken to his residence, at 118 Chestnut street, and Dr. Hand summoned, who found that his injuries consisted of a compound fracture of the left leg, above the ankle. and several severe bruises. His injuries are not otherwise serious, but he will be compelled to walk with a stiff leg the balance of his days. of his days.

This Senator from Minnesota has earned for himself a rather unsavory reputation from his close connection with Bill King when the latter was distributing his $123,000 among the members of Congress in the in-terest of the Pacific Mail Steamship subsidy. It will be remembered when Bill King was running for Congress in the northern district of this State that Windom stumped for him, calling him his esteemed friend. It is not my purpose to deal in detail with the falsehoods Windom proclaimed in Chambers falsehoods Windom proclaimed in Chambers hall last Monday evening, but will expose one as a sample of the whole. After some questioning, Windom stated that of all the money which was stolen the government never lost a dollar. To show how monstrously false the above statement is we have in our office a statement of the defalcations of government officials from 1869 to June 19, 1876, showing the total losses of the government to be $5,500,595.93. This report was furnished from the Treasury Department by B. H. Bristow, of the treasury, and is dated, June 19, 1879. This report does not include the amounts stolen by corrupt officials who have combined with the whiskey ring and smugglers to defraud the government. The amount stolen by the whiskey ring at a low estimate alone aggregates $50,000,000. Signor Fopoli, a Trieste banker, committed suicide on the 19th inst., on account of the impossibility of fulfilling some large corn con-tracts. His creditors are not likely to obtain more than thirty per cent. of their claims.

Mr. Tuttle Rises to Explain. To the Editor of the Daily Globe:

ORTONVILLE, Minn., Oct. 30, 1879 .- In ecent issue of the GLOBE I see you give me a hard rub in connection with this robber business under head of "Llewellyn's Luck." The statement is made that I was half drunk and assisted the robbers to escape. This is untrue in every sense of the word and in every particular. I was not half drunk or whole drunk, and I defy any person to say they ever saw me under the influence of intoxicating liquor. And I desire to say through your columns that the whole report in regard to my assisting these desperadoes to escape, came from parties who made it up out of whole cloth, for the sole purpose of injuring me in my business, and that it was through these statements to Llewellyn that I was implicated and arrested. I also desire to say that after Mr. Llewellyn examined these parties more closely as to what they knew, that he expressed himself as perfectly satisfied of my innocence, and so stated in open court at the time I was honorably discharged, and entirely exhonerated from any blame in the matter; and that he was also satisfied that the parties who were so positive that they could prove me guilty were actuated wholly by malice and "pure cussedness," and not from any desire to assist the workings of the law. I write you this because I desire to have the truth of the matter known as widely as possible, that the erroneous idea created by your former item may be set right. Also, justice to the GLOBE, the newspaper with which I am connected, and myself. Trusting that I have not encroached upon your valuable space, I subscribe myself, yours respect-FRED G. TUTTLE, Editor North Star.

Republicans Should Purify Their Party [Faribault Democrat.]

It is not to be expected that Minnesota is to be made a Democratic State for some time to come, for the Republican majority is immense; in fact the large and uniform ma-jority is the cause of its corruption. Not a oummer in the party but knows that a nomination is equivalent to an election; hence they dare to indulge in trades, bribery and corruption to receive those nominations. There is no question but a defeat of the Republican party this year would have a tendency to elevate the Republican standard and bring better men to the front, and with this idea in view every good citizen of the State should this year rally to the Democrat e standard.

The Democratic Candidate for Treasurer [Rochester Record and Union.] Mr. Lyman E. Cowdery, the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, is a gentleman of whom anything that we could say in praise would be but a recapitulation of facts already admitted by everyone. He is a gentleman of honor, tact and ability, and is entitled to the solid vote of the county. He has served the people of Olmsted county as register of deeds faithfully and well; was elected mayor of this city last spring by a handsome majority, over one of the most popular men in the city, and we hope to be ble to say in next week's issue that Mr. Cowdery had no opposition, and, in consequence, received the entire vote of the
