on this side of the Atlantic that the arrest of Parnell and his compatriots will have the opposite effect to that contemplated by the British government.

THE mutations of politics within the past few months have brought many new men to the front and caused old ones. long since retired, to step forward. But nobody speaks of R. B. Hayes, of Ohio.

JUDGING from the lifeless condition of the Republican campaign, the responses to Capt. Castle's appeal for "a voluntary contribution of $25" have not been numerous. Volunteers are not always plenty-especially when there is a greenback attachment.

THE support of Windom by the P. P. is bearing its usual fatal results. Lieut Gov. Gilman adds to the complications by shieing his castor into the ring. If the Southern Minnesota politicians are so cowardly as to give Windom a clear fie d, it would be very appropriate for Northern Minnesota to take the

MR. FOWLER, member of the British parliament traveling in America, told a Chicago reporter that he had talked with many people in the United States about Irish affairs, and found many of them "astounded" at the liberality of the Gladstone land act. It is to be hoped the shock will not be too great for the nervous systems of Mr. Fowler's American acquaintances.

THE fusillade on Dr. Bliss is stll kept up. A Cleveland correspondent of the Chicago Tribune has discovered that Bliss retained his place as physician in charge of the president by sharp practice, namely, by representing to the cabinet that he president and his wife de sired him to manage the case, and then reporting to the president and Mrs. Garfield that the cabinet desired him to act in that capacity. This story is very thin. It will be remembered that Mrs. Garfield was not only keenly and constantly on the alert, but displayed much firmness and determination at times in opposition to the physicians. Aside from this, it is absurd to suppose that men like Blaine and McVeah were wound around the thumb of Dr. Bliss.

THE existence of a corrupt ring in the Pension bureau has attracted general attention to the subject of war pensions. A careful examination of the record justifies belief that most extensive frauds have been committed. Naturally the pension list should diminish in numbers with the lapse of time. But it continues to grow larger. Last year 8,000 names were added, and this year the increase has been 25,000. Since the close of the war over $300,000,000 has been paid in pensions; in 1880 $60,000,000 was paid; the amount will probably be $90,000,000 this year, and next over $100,000,000. This would support a standing army of 100,000 men. There is a big leak somewhere and it cannot be stopped too soon. There is nolikelihood, however, that it will be either exposed to view or plugged up until there is a change in the national administration.

DEFECTIVE telegraph service may be turned to some account after all. The Chicago Times of Sunday was able to assure its readers that though Prof King had never before been absent from the ground over twenty-four hours, and the carrying capacity of his balloon was but twentyfour hours, there was no cause for apprehension, even though he had then been gone about sixty hours. Its hope was based on the idea that he had drifted into Minnesota or Dakota where it said "the telegraph lines are down about half of the time, and when they are in condition it is sometimes impossible to get a message through ahead of the mails." As usual there have been numerous balloons seen in various parts of the country since the ascension, but none of them can surpass the sights which followed the Minneapolis venture. The balloon was expected to sail from Minneapolis Friday afternoon, and towards night of that day it was distinctly seen near Dodge Center in the Southern part of the State. The ability to see it was the more remarkable from the fact that it did not start until the following Monday. When it was finally off it was seen at 7 o'clock the same evening at Hastings, and at 9 p. m. at La Crosse, ing Monday. When it was finally off it though at both of those hours it was safely anchored in a cow pasture three miles from its starting point. It is eminently proper that a machine propelled by gas should generate so much of the article on earth while it makes its aerial flight.

THE fact that duelling if a relic of barparism is very well evidenced by a little circumstance in Riddleberger's attempt to vindicate his "honar" near Richmond, Va., last week. In the proper order of things he should have first fought with Richard F. Beinne, editor of the State, and then with Geo. D. Wise. The first fight was delayed because neither party had provided caps for their pistols, and before they could be secured, Beinne was arrested. One or two of the attempted shots between Wise and Riddleberger were abortive owing to the failure of the cap to explode. This use of percussion caps marks the old fogyism of dueling. It has not kept pace with modern improvements. When dueling was most popular in this country the pistol, with cartridge combining cap, powder and bullet in one, had not been invented. The improvements which have been made render it much easier than before to "twig your man," but those who are in that line have made no advancement. Percussion caps seem to be good enough for them, perhaps, because they are less deadly. If Riddleberger had only used the improved pistols, he might have gotten himself killed, and have thus blessed the whole country. If they must be barbarious enough to fight duels, the code should be revised to require the use of the most deadly weapons human ingenuity has been able to devise. When it is reasonably certain that both parties to a duel will be killed, very dead, there will be a good deal less desire to defend wounded "honah."

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

There was a growing impression among members of the legislature in the city yesterday that Windom will have a hard road to travel towards "his" seat in the Senate. There are no indications of any organized combination to prevent his election, and it is afe to say that there is none. The feature of the day was the positive announcement from an authoritative source that Lieut, Gov. Gilman will be an active and persistent candidate for the position. He does not enter the field of his own desire, but in obedience to the wishes of a large number of Senators and Representatives from the northern part of the state, who believe that that section has been too long neglected. Mr. Gilman has a good many firm friends, who will stand by him through thick and thin.

Though it has been an open secret for several days past that Mr. Gilman would be a contestant for the seat now occupied by Gen. Edgerton but little public notice has been taken of the fact. His friends have been at work quietly, however, and have received such encouragement as to feel warranted in publicly announcing his candidacy. The fact that the Pioneer Press is his bitter foe is regarded as a strong point in his favor.

As the legislators return from their homes and from intercourse with their constituents, hey are even less communicative than before the bond question. A few were met by GLOBE representatives last evening who were decidedly in favor of some measure of settlement, while heretofore they had been non-committal, but others who had been previously favorable to a settlement were reserved in their expressions. As a whole, however, the vacation seems to have been favora ole to the cause of state honor.

The present week will no doubt be a talkative one, and there is no prospect of any decisive results. But we shall see what we shall

This contract embraces a part of the improvement involving the filling up and bridging of Trout brook ravine, between the end of the street car track and Gen. Beck er's residence, in connection with the St. Paul at Manitoba Railroad company, which is to erect a very fine iron bridge over the railroad tracks, being part of the general plan agreed upon between the city and the railroad companies, for approaches to and bridges over that rayine at different points. The improvement is one of the most important contracted by the city this the most important contracted by the city this year, The contract calls for completion of the work by the first of October next.

His many friends in St. Paul were shocked yesterday on learning of the sudden death of Mr. W. B. Dix, for two years past secretary of the eastern division of the St. Paul & Sioux of the eastern division of the St. Paul & Sioux city railroad company. Mr. Dix had been at his accustomed duties on Saturday, in his usual health and spirits, and passed an hour or two down town on Sunday. Yesterday morning he complained of rheumatic pains, and Dr. Owens prescribed for him, but did not consider his symptoms at all dangerous. A little before noon Dr. Stone was called in, and found Mr. Dix in paroxysms of pain. He did all in his power to relieve him, but without avail, and in the course of half an hour he died, the disease having reached his heart. The sumavail, and in the course of half an hour he died, the disease having reached his heart. The summons came so suddenly that those about him were not prepared for death. SWINDLER NARBED.

A Fugitive from Creokston, Named Malcom McCaskill, in Custody.

Fugitives from justice generally have bad uck when they strike St. Paul. So thinks Malcolm McCaskill, at least. McCaskill has been operating up north, in ways that are decidedly crooked, if all is as charged. His last operations were at Crookston, where he succeeded in obtaining $800 under false pretenses, and then lit out. The lighting out occurred Thursday, and Friday a message came over the wires from the sheriff of Pope county to Sheriff Ritcher describing the fugitive stating the crime with which he was charged, and requesting that he be looked after. Detective Bressette was notified of the message and has since been on the watch for his man. Yesterday he got a pointer that McCaskill was in the city, and notifying officer Rouleau, business commenced with the result of discovering and arresting McCaskill at the Manitoba house, lower Third street about 5 o'clock last evening. McCaskill is a guest of Sheriff Richter while awaiting the arrival of the sheriff of Pope county. eeded in obtaining $800 under false pretenses

A short time ago some persons entered the postoffice at Preston, Fillmore county, and blew open the safe. They procured but little plunder, but the affair created a good deal of excitement in the little village. Two men named Richard R. Rodgers and Joseph A. An Encouraging Report.

Mr. Charles H. Burt. clerk in the office of the state superintendent of instruction, returned from a visit of nearly a week to his farm in the northern portion of Big Stone county. Mr. Burt reports that there has been nothing approaching the rain fall in that section as in and about St. Paul. in fact no enough to seriously inconvenience fall farm work, which is nearly or quite as well adwork, which is nearly or quite as well advanced as in ordinary years. The yield of wheat in the northern section of Big Stone is fairly satisfactory, the average being about fifteen bushels to the acre, of good quality.
