Dakota and Montana Notes. Some 200,000 sheep were driven through Montana this summer, it is said.

Dillon has a novel quartette composed of young ladies, who carry all the from soprano to bass, and render them with fine effect.

Gas was turned on from the gas works in Fargo for the first time Thursday night. It is being introduced quite generally in the business houses.

Governor Crosby, of Montana, is some thing of a rapid horseman, and lately bought a Mambrino trotting stallion for $4,400. It is one of the best animals in the territory.

Gov. Austin, Friday afternoon, delivered a lecture to the public school in Fargo, on the War of 1812, and the history of the country in that connection. The school was interested and instructed.

A very complete and handsome court house is being erected at Wahpeton, and it is expected will be ready for use in six weeks. It is of brick and quite unique in design, and will be a credit to Richland Mandan wants a large revenue from potable shebangs, and after December $300 will be exacted from each vender of fire water, in place of $100. High license is said to work satisfactory where it has been tried.

The constitutional convention in Montana will be composed of thirty-two Dem ocrats and thirteen Republicans and Inde-pendents. The body meets in January and will take its time to do its work. Montana is in great no haste to get into the Union.

Casselton, in Cass county, inaugurated a new hall the past week with a grand dance given by the fire company, and participated in by the Moorehead fire department. The hall was thoroughly dedicated and the exercises were a sort of social and festive oasis.

Young Grinnell, of Lisbon, who was taken to Ann Arbor, Mich., by his father, on account of a desease that puzzled the physicians, is now reported to have a tumor in the stomach and cannot long survive. He is but nineteen years of age

John D. Nicholas, one of the railway postal clerks on the Northern Pacific between Helena and Miles City, was arrested and had a preliminary examination at Helena the past week on a charge of purloining a registered money package, and remains in jail in default of $1,000 bonds. A Montana man who has been out to Alaska condenses his opinion of the country in this: I regard Alaska as a good country—to stay away from. It has but few mines, and they are almost valueless. The only legitimate business in the country is that of catching fish and preparing them for shipment.

The fair held by the ladies of the Pres byterian society at Jamestown the pas week had a wonderful aggregation of the handiwork of fair and skillful fingers week had a wonderful aggregation of the handiwork of fair and skillful fingers, which added, if possible, to the attractions of the deft fabricators, whose presence alone was an irresistible magnet. The supper was excellent and afforded high satisfaction to the internal economy.

A stock man out by Billings had a cow killed by the Northern Pacific railroad, and applied at once for damages. The agent of the road replied that the cow was lying by the track and as the train ap proached got up and went on the trac when the train was so near that it could not be stopped, and the road was not liable, but the owner of the animal was re-sponsible for any damage to the train.

The social organization in Fargo, called the Ace of Clubs, held its first convocation for the winter season, at the parlors of the Continental hotel Friday night. There was a full attendance and the exercise was a run attendance and the exercises were dictated by the vibrations of abraded feline integuments. The melody evolved had its counterpart in the halo that permented the emotional functions, or words to that effect.

Some of the farmers in the Red rive valley are trying to devise means to escape paying what they allege is an enormous tax, in the way of rates on wheat shipped Fifteen cents a bushel to Daluth or Min-neapolis is out of all proportion to the charges of eastern roads that cost vastly more to build, and had no immense land grants. The pooling system is what does the mischief. In several counties the wheat growers are attempting to organize in order to secure relief.

A young German, on his voyage, met s girl from Germany on board the vessel, who was coming to Jamestown, north Da kota. He became so far mashed that he decided to come to Jamestown also. After their arrival he plied his wooing vigorously, but as he had become intemperate, the fraulein, with rare good sense, refused to marry him, when he procured a pistol and threatened to shoot her and then himself. She was not satisfied with this scheme and had him arrested, but was released on a promise to migrate.

At Jamestown on the night of the 14th, at the Presbyterian church, matrimonial ties were attached to John A. Moore and Lizzie Sullivan, greatly to their satisfac-tion, and the admiration of a crowd of witnesses. The costume of the bride was witnesses. The costume of the bride was noticeably elegant and added to the grace and fascination of the lady who has been one of the lights and charms of the society one of the lights and charms or the society of the place. A reception was held at the residence of M. E. Dodge, where a delicious repast was mingled with the charms of oratory exhibited by Faxning, Flint, Allen, Dodge, McCling, and others of the literatic Dodge, McClure, and others of the literati with a bouquet of high titles.

There has for a long time been com plaint of the mail service along the line of the Northern Pacific, and much satisfac tion is felt at the report that the depart-ment has taken the matter in hand, and dispatched an agent to go over the whole road and find out the trouble. been alleged that the postal clerks delay ed and miscarried mails intentionally, i order to compel the appointment of addi from lefers to lessan their labors which were claimed to be excessive. It is hoped the occasions of complaints will be re-moved. There is hardly any question that the postal car men have been too heavily loaded, but there is no excuse for annoyances to the people along the road.

It is thought that when the bishop of the new Episcopal diocese of north Dakota selects his headquarters and a collegiate ta selects his headquarters and a collegiate institution is founded that Col. Donan will be called to the professorship of rhetoric and belles lettres, and possibly to the presidency. He is, as a rhetorician, the peer of Edward Everett, and while he soars in his imagery and dazzles with his soars in his imagery and dazzies with his gorgeous periods, he is an accurate scholar, and in his productions the most forcible word will be found in every part of even his most hasty efforts. No man in Dakota, perhaps, is so widely known in the literary world, and his connection with the institution in question will broaden its repute. tution in question will broaden its repute and be recognized as eminently fitting. His efforts were the chief agency in securing this recognition of the growing needs of north Dakota, and it would give great satisfaction to see him connected with it. It would anchor him in the land of his pride and exaltation.
