Western Union Intends to Hire Them to Carry the Messages.

IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Expect to Have Petticoated Messengers on Street in Near Future.

ADVERTISE FOR MEN

Despite Announcement, the Company Still in Need Male Help.

"We still intend to use young women as messengers," said Manager Posey of the Western Union today. "They may be put to work at any time now, possibly within two or three days. The girls will all be over 16 years of age and consequently old enough to take care of themselves. We do not intend to put any infants or tots to work at the business of delivering messages. It is necessary that we have someone to do this work and we think that the girls can do it all right. It has been tried successfully in other places. We have received no protests or communications in regard to this matter from anyone. At present we cannot complain of the way things are going. With us things are going swimmingly."

Nevertheless in the papers today advertisements again appear asking for able-bodied men to work for $5 per day, and telling them to make inquiries at the offices of the Western Union. Great excitement prevailed among the striking messengers today when it was rumored on the streets that the feminine carriers would be at work before nightfall, and there was some talk of mobbing the office if such a course was attempted. However it does not seem likely that the company will put the young women to work today, as no arrangements have been made to that end at the Western Union office.

EARL OF YARMOUTH WILL GET GOOD THING IN HER

Pittsburg Girl Whom He Is to Marry Has Two Millions in Her Own Right and the Control of It.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Chicago, April 4.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Pittsburg says that when the Earl of Yarmouth and Miss Alice Thaw are married in this city April 7 the young bride will have more money than has been expected. It has been thought that Miss Thaw's estate was worth $1,000,000, but investigation shows that she has, in her own right, nearly $2,000,000.

The statement that the trustees of the estate would allow her only $25,000 a year has been found to be untrue. By the terms of her father's will she was given possession of her share when she reached the age of 21.

Miss Thaw has attained the age of 21, so that she is now entitled to and has received her full share of the estate.

All approaches to the depot were roped off for a block in each direction. Four masses of people. The police arrangements were of the best and there was no delay getting to the market square, where a big stand had been erected. A large crowd was gathered on the market square. Mayor Joseph Buchert welcomed the president in behalf of the city of La Crosse, in a short address. The president's speech was frequently

The first three carriages were elaborately trimmed in red, white and blue, and the horses were gaily decorated with ribbons to match.

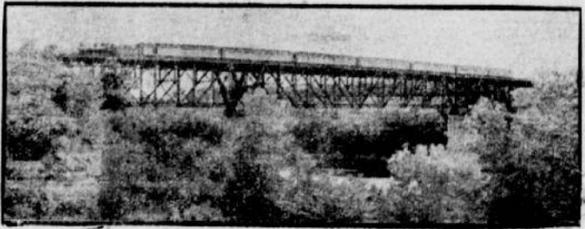

When the president stepped from the train he remarked on the beautiful day and said he had a good night's rest and was feeling well.

Senator Quarles came on from Mil-

SORT OF MAYOR HENRY MUELLER WILL MAKE

Course of Republican Candidate May Be Judged From His Former Term of Office.

Henry Mueller's candidacy for mayor has brought out reminiscences of his previous administration, and many a compliment is paid him on the score of the many excellent achievements of his term in office at that time. It is over ten years since then, and still the good service he rendered the city and his fellow citizens has not been forgotten by the men who were close to him in the city government and the many others who were directly or indirectly affected by it.

One of the noteworthy events of that administration was the building of the big stone culvert on the East side, which ran from Granite street to Copper, between Wyoming and Arizona. The conduit was constructed at the urgent request of the two aldermen from the First ward at that time, one of whom was ex-Mayor P. H. Harrington.

The construction of the culvert was desired by the residents of the east side, so that the gulch might be filled in. There was a crying need for it, but the city treasury was empty.

He Was Determined.

That obstacle did not stop Mayor Mueller and the council that served with him, however. The culvert was built, and the citizens of the East side rejoiced.

At that time the Anaconda mines were closed or partly closed and there were many miners out of employment, and a demand was made on Mr. Mueller that the work be done by day labor and not let out by contract, in order that the idle miners might get the benefit of the work. That was contrary to custom, but Mr. Mueller and his board of city councilmen rose above custom, and for the good of the community had the work done by the miners, employing them by the day.

That was not all that the citizens' candidate for the mayoralty at this election did the miners. As has been said, there were no funds in the city treasury, and the law required that when such was the case warrants drawn against the city should be registered and paid when funds should come in. By that system the miners either had to wait indefinitely for their money or discount the warrants with money lenders. The custom was to cash the checks with the latter at a discount, as the men could not wait.

His Sense of Justice.

But Mr. Mueller was determined that the miners who built the ditch and were entitled to their full pay should get every cent out of it and not have to wait. That was the sort of an executive he was, and that was the regard in which he held his trust as mayor. He felt that it was his duty to take care of his fellow citizens and deal to them exact justice in every particular of the administration of the city government.

Therefore he and the city council, who acted in accordance with Mr. Mueller's views, borrowed the money to pay the miners from the Clark bank and paid them in full, the city paying interest on the borrowed money, thereby properly shouldering its just obligation to pay its employees in the humblest capacity in full for their services.

Revoked a Franchise.

Another incident of Mr. Mueller's administration of the city government was his revoking of the franchise granted to the water company by the previous administration because the company did not live up to the terms of the grant. The certified check of the water company for $10,000 was declared forfeited, and it was not redeemed till Mayor Mantle's term of office. During that time the company contracted with the city to give the latter a certain number of free hydrants for two years and the check was released. It now hangs in the office of the company in a frame.

These incidents indicate to the people who were not in Butte at the time Mr. Mueller was in office the kind of a mayor he made in the past, and what may be expected from him now if he is again elevated to the office.

James Barnes, who was sent to the insane asylum from Butte, February 15, 1902, escaped from that institution and came here last night. He entered the sheriff's office and asked if he was wanted. He said he had walked to Anaconda from Warm Springs and came here on a freight train. He was locked up and today the sheriff learned that Barnes had told the truth. Barnes has been a sort of trusty around the asylum. A deputy sheriff took him to Warm Springs this afternoon.

"SIT DOWN, I TELL YOU!" CRIED CLANCY

Refused to Hear Attorney, Who Is Forced to Retire—In a Mining Suit.

Judge Clancy today reprimanded two attorneys who persisted in being heard after the court said he did not care to hear them. The court did this in two different cases, W. I. Lippincott and B. S. Thresher were the two attorneys who came in for a roast from the court.

The cases in which the matter arose were E. W. Shively against George E. De-Snell and Fred Talbot against the Britannia Mining company. The former case came before the court upon a motion to strike from the answer a portion alleging that certain mining stock that was to be delivered to the plaintiff was known as promoter's stock.

It was set up in the complaint that the plaintiff put up $1,000 for 15,000 shares of stock in the Butte & Arizona Mining company; that the plaintiff never received the stock other than written agreement to deliver certain stock to him. The defendant set up by answer that the plaintiff was to receive certain stock called promoter's stock when a bond upon the Metz mine had been taken. It was to this feature about the promoter's stock that Mrs. Haskell, attorney for the plaintiff, objected to the answer and asked the court to sustain the demurrer. After the attorney had argued the matter to the court Judge Clancy said he would sustain the demurrer. B. S. Thresher, attorney for the defendant, arose and started to address the court.

"I don't want to hear you," declared Judge Clancy. "You are a good talker, but I don't want to hear anything more."

As the attorney again attempted to address the court Judge Clancy said: "Sit down, I tell you."

Mr. Thresher had nothing more to say. Mr. Lippincott was ordered to sit down when the court ruled upon the motion to strike out the answer and for a default in the case of Fred Talbot against the Britannia Mining company. Mr. Thresher appeared for the defendant and Mr. Lippincott for the plaintiff. After hearing the attorneys Judge Clancy said that he would dismiss the motion.

Mr. Lippincott attempted to discuss the matter with the court, but was ordered to sit down, otherwise he would be fined.

"I do so with pleasure," said the attorney.

Later Mr. Lippincott again asked the court for an interpretation of his ruling and was again called to time.

VOTE WILL BE HEAVY

Balloting in the School Election to Reach the Registration.

ARE OUT IN FORCE

Despite Snowstorm, Ladies Turn Out to Vote for Favorites.

BY A SAFE MAJORITY

Brophy, Ford and Galloway Will Be Elected, It Seems.

There will be a heavy vote cast at the school election. The polls have been crowded all day. Notwithstanding the snowstorm the ladies are out in full force, and the vote promises to almost reach the full registration.

From the observations of people who attended the polls during the forenoon, it was predicted that the ticket bearing the names of P. J. Brophy, E. A. Ford and H. A. Galloway will be elected with a good majority.

At noon 500 votes out of 1,400 in the district had been cast in district No. 3. This district included registration precincts 5, 8, 10 and 15, and is one of the most thickly populated in the city. The polling place for the district was at the north entrance of the Lincoln school.

There were only seven hours left at noon in which to cast the remaining 900 votes, but it was believed that they would all be in by the time the polls closed, as there was a long line of voters waiting and the work was progressing steadily.

HEAVY VOTE EXPECTED

IN SECOND DISTRICT

In district No. 2, including precinct 17, 200 votes out of 700 registered had been cast at noon, and it was believed that there would be a heavy vote there. This polling place was at the Lincoln school also.

On the East side, at the old High school on Granite street, in district No. 4, including precincts 6, 7, 9, 11, 12 and 14, at noon, 400 out of 900 votes had been cast, and it was confidently predicted that the balance would all be in before 8 o'clock tonight.

The polls will be open till 8 o'clock, and there is no reason why all should not register. Some delay was occasioned today by people going to the wrong polling places and causing the officers needless trouble in searching for their names. The interest taken in the election by the ladies was a very satisfactory sign of the regard in which the schools are held.
