NIPPER MINUTES AMENDED

Judge Clancy Fixes Date So That Both Sides Have Equal Show.
The Nipper case was before Judge Clancy again this morning. The plaintiffs presented their findings of fact, conclusions of law and brief to the court.
Judge McHatton handed up the papers to Judge Clancy.
"Are the findings and brief both here?" the court asked.
"Yes, your honor," the lawyer replied.
The minutes of the last day's proceedings of the trial had just been read by the clerk.
The minutes said that the defendants had been allowed to August 13 and the plaintiffs only to August 8 to file the papers referred to.
The court ordered the minutes amended to give the plaintiffs the same time as the defendants.
Judge McHatton suggested the minutes be allowed to stand, since he had the papers ready, but the court insisted on the amendment.
After that Attorney Baker, representing the defendants, asked the court for an order allowing the removal of the defendants' models and maps from the courtroom.
"Have you any objections to the removal of those things?" the court asked Judge McHatton.
"None at all," Judge McHatton replied.
The order was then made by Judge Clancy.

TIMOTHY SHEA GOES TO JAIL

Former Constable Placed Under Arrest on Disturbance Charge.
Tim Shea, former constable, was placed in jail last night, where he has remained so many others.
Shea was arrested by City Marshal Duffy of Walkerville, and charged by the latter with disturbance. Shea had been drinking and broke the tranquility of Walkerville with behavior offensive to Marshal Duffy.
When Shea was brought to jail he said: "I want a lawyer right away. I ain't goin' to stay in here all night."
"You'll be a dandy to get out," the jailer replied.
"I want a writ of habeas corpus right now," said the constable.
"Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow," warned the turnkey.
Shea was not satisfied, but he had to submit, and he said with acrimony, as the iron door clanged to and the keys jingled against the lock:
"I bet I get dat fellow dat arrested me yet."

POSSE FIRES SHOTS

Men Supposed to Be Fugitives Are Attacked but Make Their Escape.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Placerville, Cal., Aug. 8.—Great excitement was created in Placerville shortly before midnight by the sounds of shooting on a hill just west of town.
John Wittmer and Sam Martin, who had been watching the ridge all evening, saw two men break from the brush and run through an orchard.
Fire at Fleeing Figures.
The men fired at the fleeing figures, but did not bring them down. Several more shots were fired into the brush into which the fleeing men took refuge, but without result.
A score of citizens from town gathered on the hill and again the fugitives were seen breaking through the brush at the lower end of the orchard. Shots were again fired, but all trace of the men was lost.
A small army of men is now gathered on the hill and a watch will be maintained.
It is thought one of the men is Case, who is trying to get into Chinatown for opium.
A man supposed to be a convict passed through Eldorado today headed for that place.

Another Man Killed.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Woodland, Cal., Aug. 8.—Another fatality has resulted in the pursuit of the convicts who escaped from the Folsom prison.

An unknown man was killed near Davisville last night. While his identity has not been established, it seems almost certain that he was not one of the convicts. The man was seen acting queerly near a farm house and when called on by officers to surrender, started to run. The officers fired at him, killing him instantly. Since his death, the man has been identified as one who had been in the vicinity several days, hunting work. He was considered deranged mentally.

Tells Story of Escape.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Folsom, Cal., Aug. 8.—Seavis, the negro convict, who was caught at Auburn, was returned to prison tonight.
"I have had a good holiday," said he, while he was being freed from the irons. "It was not so bad in the woods and it was a change from this place. I was, like the rest, a little short of food. I only got a meal about every other day."

Then he caught sight of the guard tower built on the convicts' diningroom and the guard guarding the prison yard at close range.
"That is something new," said he, pointing his manacled hand. "If that man with the rifle had been there on Monday morning, when I took to the woods, I do not believe I could have got across the yard and had the fight in Murphy's office."

As to the flight.
About the story of his flight, he said that after the convict band had liberated their guard prisoners on the night after the battle on Pilot Hill, it was decided to split up into two bands. In one of the bands was Woods, Theron, Mills, Eldredge and Murphy. He said:
"Howard was to go with them; but he had taken a bottle of whiskey from the store at Pilot Hill, and when they got ready to start out Howard was so drunk he could not travel and they left him. In the other gang were Davis, Roberts, Fahey, Case, Howard, and myself.
"We remained together all Tuesday and on that night Howard and Roberts struck off by themselves, saying they were going to make for the Sacramento river country.

Cooking of Meals.
"The other gang of four got down into the Webber Creek country, and on Friday were in the neighborhood of the Tolmer mine, where we cooked up a pot of beans.
"On Saturday we got down to the mouth of the Webber Creek and then Davis and Fahey left us. They said they would back track and make for Sacramento, where they would be better able to hide, and have a better chance of getting out of the country. That left Case and I together.
"On that night we went to Chapman's house and cleaned up and got a good meal. After we left there we were about one hour later fired on by two men at a deserted cabin.
"I fired shots in return. Then we ran away, in going up a hill, and through the brush Case fell on his face and lay there. I at first tried to keep him up, but he would not stand.
"Then I went a short distance from him, where I could see him, and hid in the brush. I remained there about half an hour, and in all that time Case did not move. Then I went away and have been alone ever since.
False Scent Eliminated.
Seavis' story of the splitting of the convict band and the direction taken by them in their flight eliminates many false scents that the man-hunters have been following for the last few days.
Seavis gives confirmation to the report that Howard and Roberts were together when Roberts was captured at Davisville on Wednesday afternoon.
The two convicts who stole the horse and cart last night from the stable of Charles Darling, at Natoma, were Davis and Fahey. Search for them is now being made at Sacramento. Case is alone and is believed to be hiding near Shingle Springs.
The five convicts in the Consumers river district are Woods, Theron, Miller, Eldredge and Murphy. The only one now unaccounted for is Gordon.

The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's father, William Schanzenbach of Ogden, and was one of the fashionable events in the Ogden society. After the ceremony at the church a reception was given the bride and bridegroom at the home. Several hundred invitations were issued and many elegant presents received. Prof. and Mrs. Bowman are now on the Pacific coast, but will make their home in Butte after October 1.

WORK OF CHOOSING MARKED BY HITCHES

COMPLICATIONS APPEAR IN THE SELECTION OF THE NEW PAPAL SECRETARY.
DIVISION IN SACRED COLLEGE
Several Cardinals Who Have Been Mentioned Are Opposed by One Faction.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
ROME, AUG. 8.—IT IS PERSISTENTLY STATED CARDINAL VINCENZO VANNUTELLI WILL BE APPOINTED PAPAL SECRETARY OF STATE IN SUCCESSION TO CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

Rome, Aug. 8.—The selection of a new papal secretary of state is daily becoming more complicated, as there is a division in the sacred college such as existed before the election of Pius X.

There is a strong sentiment in favor of the reappointment of Cardinal Rampolla, because he is conversant with all papal affairs, and Cardinal Ferrarati, who belongs to the Rampolla party, is also suggested.

The latter's opponents intimate that as he was nuncio at Paris he might not be agreeable to some of the powers, and, besides, it is pointed out that he voted against the pope in the conclave except on the last ballot.

Declined With Thanks.
Pius X offered the position twice to Cardinal Agliardi, who declined to give up the vice chancellorship of the church.

Cardinal Satolli also declined on the ground that he was not sufficiently acquainted with the French language and that he knew too little of foreign questions generally, except those relating to America.

He suggested Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli.
Negotiations are proceeding to have Cardinal Agliardi, while assuming the vice chancellorship, assume the secretaryship of state temporarily.

For the Faithful.
St. Peter's, while the preparations for the coronation Sunday are proceeding, is handsomely decorated. Pope Pius X has expressed a desire to have as many of the humble members of the faith as possible admitted, and 50,000 tickets will be distributed by the parish priests, Catholic clubs and associations, seminaries, ecclesiastical colleges, monasteries and convents.

The remainder of the seats are reserved for distinguished guests.
Two galleries have been erected, one for the diplomatic body and one for the Roman aristocracy.

The body of the church will be divided into compartments with separate entrances. Thousands are already leaving Venetian provinces to attend the coronation of "their pope."

Invitations Are Issued.
The papal master of ceremonies has issued the invitations to the archbishops who will participate in the procession from the vatican into St. Peter's. They are requested to be at the vatican at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

The government, to avoid untoward incidents, has ordered the piazza and the neighborhood of St. Peter's to be occupied by the military, and has forbidden an anti-clerical manifestation, proposed by the socialists and republicans for that day.

The pope's first allocation to be delivered at the next consistory is looked forward to with great interest.

Don Carlos, the pretender, who is a close friend of Pius X has said to his followers that he would not now have the papacy against him as he did under the pontificate of Leo, who was godfather of King Alfonso and has even gone so far as to say that he hoped the accession of the pope would help him to the throne.

Dr. Lappoin stated yesterday that Cardinal Herrero y Espinoza was under of danger.

HOOLEY'S WORK UNDER FIRE

Promoter of Peculiar Mines Will Be Investigated in London.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
London, Aug. 8.—Attorney-General Finlay has instructed the director of public prosecutions to investigate the transactions of Promoter E. T. Hooley in connection with the Sapphire Corundum mine of Canada.

Hooley's financial career and the heavy failure were the sensations of London a few years ago.

The bank president has since been operating in his wife's name and has been living in the luxury.

In the course of the hearing Thursday of a suit to recover money paid in connection with the deals Justice Darling characterized the whole transaction by Hooley and his colleagues as fraudulent and declared:

"It was a grave reflection on the courts of this country that such a thing could occur in the middle of London.

"Thimble-rigging on a racecourse is a simple chime compared with the transactions of these people with millions instead of peas."

SENATOR MANTLE TALKS OF THE FAIR

"I made several visits to the fair grounds at St. Louis while I was in the east," said former Senator Mantle to the Inter Mountain this morning.
"The grounds are beginning to take on just enough shape so one may grasp what a magnificent undertaking it is. The great feature of the situation is the nature of the land.
"The fair is being constructed on a sort of rolling plain, with occasional hills and knolls, which lend a picturesque character to the scenery, entirely lacking in the Chicago exposition.
Well in Hand.
"The management seems to have the thing well in hand in spite of its tremendous proportions. There is quite a bit of red tape about proceedings, but I presume that is necessary to keep things in perfect order.
"When a commission is dealing with so many different states and nations a certain amount of formality is indispensable. Nothing of any particular importance has developed regarding our building. When the fact was first announced that the site had been changed there was a tendency to become excited over it, but on investigation it was easy to see the change was very slight.
"It is so slight, indeed, it can hardly be said to have taken away any advantage which we may have possessed in our original location.
Looks Over Site.
"Mr. Link, the architect, was in St. Louis while I was there, looking over the site and fixing the plans and specifications to conform with the nature of the ground.
"There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the state commission Monday morning at 10 o'clock in my office to look over the revised plans and discuss the minor details.
"At that time we will deal with such other matters as may present themselves. It is expected the various committees having in charge the state exhibits will make a report as to the progress made in their departments.

Time to Be Allowed.
"After the plans have been gone over by the committee, time will be allowed in which to receive the proposals of contractors in all parts of the country.
"There are a number of them in St. Louis who have been right on the ground from the inception of the affair and have the whole management of the fair in their heads.
"They are conversant also with the rules and regulations regarding the construction of the buildings.
"There are certain iron-clad rules regarding the plumbing and so on which must be observed in the construction of all the buildings.
"There is no particular hurry about starting the construction work. These buildings are made of perishable material and will suffer from the ravages of the weather if erected too long a time before the opening of the fair.
Completed by Winter.
"A number of the larger buildings are to be completed in the early part of the winter, so a number of laborers will be available during the winter months.
"The winter is mild there, and there is little chance that the severity of the weather will interfere with the work to any considerable extent.
"The agricultural building is to be completed on December 1, according to the contract. This will remove the danger which we have been rather dreading—the scarcity of labor and consequent increase in the cost of construction."

SHOOTS WITH DEADLY EFFECT

Jealous Lover Slays One and Wounds Two in Half-breed Camp.
SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.
Havre, Aug. 8.—A. Arquette, a Mexican, shot and killed Cree Tom, probably fatally wounded Cree Tom's mother and shot the finger off a white man named Cash Johnson.

The trouble occurred over a half-breed woman whose name is Florence Mackey. Arquette fancied that she was about to leave for Canada with Cree Tom, and being unable to persuade her to return to her first love, he began shooting.

The jealous lover fired into Cree Tom's tent with the result that Cree Tom was killed, his mother probably fatally injured and Cash Johnson, a white man, lost a finger.

Arquette was captured six miles west of here and is now in jail.

MUST PUT UP BIG INDEMNITY BOND

STADLER AND KAUFMAN SEEK RESTRAINING ORDER AGAINST THE POWER COMPANY.
SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.
Helena, Aug. 8.—Judge Knowles of the federal court issued a restraining order today to prevent the Missouri River Power company from raising the water in the Missouri river at Canyon Ferry above a stipulated point.

The order is to become effective when the plaintiffs, Louis Stadler and Louis Kaufman, ranchers, who own property along the river, put up an indemnity bond of $50,000.

The plaintiffs seek to restrain the power company from raising the water in the river to such a stage that it will damage their land.

Last year the company put slash boards on the crest of the dam, and the water flooded certain land owned by the plaintiffs. It is the purpose of the company to use the slash boards again this year.

It is thought that the bond will not be put up and that nothing further will be done in the case.
