THE STREET TODAY

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, Sept. 8.—Opening prices in the steck market were a little higher and business was in larger volume after the prolonged holiday.

The tendency upwards was helped by the higher prices for American in London and some larger local demand for the Pacific's. Atchison resumed its recent leadership of the market and was again bought in large blocks, liftling the price above 68. Other standard stocks joined in the upward movement to the extent of a point or more.

Business fell off at the higher range of prices and Amalgamated and Reading reacted a large fraction below last week's closing. Large realizing orders in Atchison practically cancelled its eather rise and the room traders hastened to let go their purchases of other stocks, causing a general wiping out of the morning rise.

Pronounced pressure against Reading, Tennessee Coal and Louisville contributed to the

Mr. McHatton was in arms again at

"I object," said he.
"Well, I don't think there can be two monopolies in the same business. We can monopolies in the same business. We can show the country is overrun with monopolies of this kind, with copper monopolies," said Mr. Shores, and the reason for the preceding questions about who produced the copper of this country and others and who followed the business, became apparent.

"How can the Amalgamated company be monopoly, if the United Copper company a monopoly?" he pertinently queried in

Mr. Heinze replied that silver has risen about four cents since 1901, and that it had been going up for a year. He knew the price of Amalgamated stock in 1901. It was $108 in June. It went to $129 afterward in August. It dropped from that point.

He admitted that the highest price B, & M, stock had reached was about the time of the consolidation with Amalgapersonae of the drama which underlies the charge of disturbance.

Mrs. O'Brien and the rooster provoked O'Malley to emphatic language, most of which was directed at the woman.

O'Brien told the official who issued the complaint that one of O'Malley's common fowls got into his yard Saturday after-noon, and was run down by Mrs. O'Brien.
