DIES OF A HURT HE RECEIVED IN GAME ON GRIDIRON

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—Frank Shanklin of Franklin, Ind., captain of the Hanover football team last year, died today from injuries received in a practice game.

HERFORD'S MODESTY

ALL HE WANTS FOR HIS PET GANS IS THE EARTH AND A FENCE AROUND IT.

Al Herford of Baltimore is a man of many parts, but his chief characteristic is modesty.

Every time Herford sees a dollar note he blushes. He is the sole lessee and manager of that best of lightweights, Joe Gans. Herford wants Gans to box Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia Jack.

"I will let Gans fight O'Brien," he says, "in a six-round bout, and feel sure that Joe will not be knocked out. O'Brien is a clever man, has the advantage in weight by about 35 pounds, but I intend to try and bring them together. We must have one concession, however, and that is that the club before which they box must guarantee 40 per cent as Gans' end."

Forty per cent of the gross, win, lose or draw. Of course O'Brien is to box for the exercise of the thing. The club would not give them more than 60 per cent and make any money out of the affair.

Then, too, O'Brien, who has a few cobwebs in his top hamper, knows full well that no man can knock out Gans in six rounds. If the bout were to be for 20 there might be a chance.

Herford believes in keeping his champion busy. He has even intimated that Gans would like to fight Young Corbett. A club in Boston made Herford an offer to have his man fight Joe Walcott.

Herford agreed with the conditions that Walcott make 140 pounds at the ringside and that Gans be given a purse with a guarantee or percentage privilege. Gans and Walcott were to meet on the Pacific coast some months ago at the same weight, but no club would offer them suitable inducements—suitable to the modest Herford.

If Gans is taking on welterweights, why not Eddie Connelly? And Connelly will make the lightweight limit for Gans, if necessary, something that the champion cannot do and keep his feet.

Johnny Mack's Tammany Athletic club in Boston would bid for such a match. The many hard and game battles that ring followers know Connelly has fought would make him an equal drawing card with Herford's meal ticket.

The Northern Pacific railway now offers a reward of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500.00) in place of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for information leading up to the arrest and conviction of parties implicated in the work of dynamiting bridge at Livingston. E. G. PIERSON, A. G. S.

SAY THE FIGHT WAS A FAKE

"Philadelphia Tommy" Ryan and Billy Rhodes Are in Jail.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Omaha, Neb., says: For participating in a palpable "fake" fight, "Philadelphia Tommy" Ryan and Billy Rhodes of Omaha were arrested as the going changed for the end of the sixth round of their to-round go last night. The attendance was large, the fighters standing to clear $200 a piece. An unsuccessful effort was made to secure the release of Ryan and Rhodes on bail.

They will be arraigned in police court on the charge of vagrancy.

GODFREY IS BADLY BEATEN

Cariboo Sinclair Hands It to Negro in Grueling Bout in Vancouver.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 7.—Godfrey, a colored heavyweight, quit in the ninth round of a fight last night with Cariboo Sinclair, for the heavyweight championship of British Columbia. Godfrey stood terrific punishment in the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Towards the end of the ninth he was so near out that his seconds threw up the sponge to avoid having their man knocked out.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE DAY'S SPORT NEWS

Now that Jack Munroe is to fight Peter Maher, those interested may have a chance to see whether the miner can fight or whether he is the joke Jim Jeffries considers him.

Whatever Peter's faults or misfortunes may be, he will fight. There is no joke about that.

If Munroe can fight—no one really knows whether he can or cannot—and proves it when he bumps into the much-knocked-out Peter, he will be entitled to a respectful ear when he rises to explain about the champion.

"I'll get Jeffries in the ring," said Munroe recently. "He will have to fight me before I get through. When I show the public that my decision over Jeffries—which, by the way, all his talk won't wash out—was not the fluke that he tries to make every one believe, the public will force him to meet me."

"He says that I crawled out of a meeting with him. Let him get an offer of a suitable purse and he will see who will be the first to sign articles."

"Make good with Maher, Jack, and then you will get a hearing."

Arthur P. Plant's object in taking the schooner Ingomar across to England is to fetch back, if he can, the Cape May cup. This cup was taken to England by Genesta after she had made an unsuccessful try for the America's cup. Genesta lost the cup and it finally came into the possession of the Prince of Wales' cutter Britannia.

While Vigilant was in British waters in 1894 she challenged Britannia for the cup. But the Yankee boat lost her centerboard and the race was not sailed. Britannia had also won the Brenton's Reef cup, but Royal Phelps Carroll's Navaho took it away from the prince's yacht in a race from Cowes to Cherbourg and back. This was sailed in a gale in 1891.

Both these sea trophies were originally given to James Gordon Bennett as perpetual challenge cups for races from Sandy Hook over the courses indicated by their titles.

Jack Johnson is willing to make any concessions to secure a match with Jeffries. He has said he is willing that the purse should be divided 90 and 10, or any other way that the champion prefers. All that Jeff has to do is to say the word and the match is made. In fact, the colored champion passes the whole thing up to Jeffries.

J. P. Losel of Wisdom is in Butte today getting supplies. He said that William Thompson and a companion were out hunting a day or two since and shot two big mountain sheep. The sheep were on the cliff just opposite Wisdom and could be seen from a long distance. The hunters patiently stalked their game until they got within rifle range. The two sheep were much larger than the average.

HAD TO HAVE THEM HUNTING IN ALASKA

BUTTE MAN SAYS BALD-FACED BEAR ARE FREQUENT AND THE SMALL GAME PLENTIFUL.

Perhaps everybody doesn't know it, but portions of Alaska is a veritable paradise for hunters. Game abounds in the far north, and it is good, big game, too. None of your little fry up that way. Big moose, giant caribou and mammoth bald-faced bears stalk about just waiting for some hunter to come along.

T. W. Bettels of Butte, who recently came back from Koyukuk river, which, by the way, is 1,400 miles northwest of St. Michaels, tells glowing stories of the sport up that way.

Koyukuk river, by some strange chance, is a little warmer than some portions of Alaska, although it is near the frozen Arctic ocean. When a man is hungry for meat up there he takes his trusty rifle and sallies forth. If he should happen to meet a bald-faced bear he doesn't rashly fill the bear full of lead and await general results, but proceeds with the utmost caution.

These Are Quite Sizeable. These bears sometimes attain the size and dimensions of a load of hay. Some of them weigh 1,000 pounds and it is no fool of a job to administer the finishing shot to Mr. Bruin. They tell stories of shooting one of these bears through the heart and having him come tearing toward his tormentors like a Kansas cyclone as if nothing had happened.

Of course the bear dies under those circumstances, but it is usually after he has done considerable damage. Often the Indian who goes bear hunting goes home without the bear. It is the old French saying: "When zee man hunt zee tigare, magnificent! When zee tigare hunt zee man, sacre!"

It is one of the wise provisions of nature this abundance of game in a country where little grows. It makes living there possible.

Plenty of Small Game. It must not be assumed that there is no small game there. Ducks and geese are found in great numbers, as well as Arctic hare, all of which are exceedingly tame and easily captured.

Mr. Bettels went into Koyukuk from Nome and found some good prairie ground. He says he will return there next spring.

CHARLEY BURNS GOES DOWN

Cincinnati Man Proves to Be No Match for Morgan Williams.

Pueblo, Colo., Nov. 7.—In the sixth round of what was to have been a 20-round bout between Morgan Williams of Pueblo and Charley Burns of Cincinnati, Burns was knocked out with a right over the heart. The fight was a tame affair from the start. Burns was no match for Williams.

Horseman's Narrow Escape.

Grass Valley, Cal., Nov. 7.—Charles Webber, a horseman en route to San Francisco from the East, in a fit of somnambulism near Lake View, jumped off a Southern Pacific passenger train while the train was passing through the snow shed. He afterward walked into the station at Lake View clad only in his night dress, suffering from the cold and a few bruises. The station agent provided him with clothes.

Webber said that in his sleep he thought he had reached his destination. The train was going quite fast and Webber's escape from serious injury is considered marvelous.

TOM MARKHAM IS TO BE LIGHTWEIGHT

Tommy Markham of Mammoth, Utah, is without doubt one of the coming lightweights of the West. He is a young fellow, not yet 20 years of age, and so far has shown a great deal of cleverness and speed.

Young Thomas, who was Jack Wade's trainer and sparring partner, has charge of TOMMY MARKHAM.

Markham. Thomas is in Butte now and is looking for a match for his man. Markham has fought eight battles so far and has won them all. Seven of these were knockouts. A match with Howard Opie or Jack Clifford is being talked of.

INSPECTION ORDER SIGNED BY JUDGE

BUTTE & BOSTON AUTHORIZED TO GO INTO THE MICHAEL CLAIM BY NEW WORKINGS.

M. O. P. RESISTS TO THE END

Will Take Several Months for the United States Court Inspectors to Finish Survey of the Claim.

Judge Knowles yesterday signed the order granting the Butte & Boston Mining Company the right to enter the Michael Devitt claim through new workings to be opened up by that company. The object of the work contemplated is to trace the disputed veins throughout the entire claim and enter the west portion of the claim where Heinze's men are said to have been extracting ore contrary to the order of the court.

When the order came up for hearing yesterday the M. O. P. company entered court prepared to resist it to the end, for the granting of the order meant the lifting of the curtain on a series of outrages and the laying bare of the flagrant, wanton violation of the injunction granted by Judge Knowles to protect the Butte & Boston against the encroachments of the Montana Ore Purchasing company.

Will Take Several Months. The work contemplated will require several months to complete, but will furnish an entrance to the property in which Heinze has been so anxious to keep his treasuries secret.

The order was granted on the affidavit of H. V. Winchell, employed as geologist by the Butte & Boston, Boston & Montana, Anaconda and other companies, who testified that the work was absolutely necessary in order that the Butte & Boston company might prepare its case for trial.

The time set to show cause was 10 a. m., but Judge McHatton, for the Heinze interests, desired to delay matters and interposed several excuses why he was not prepared to show cause. The court would not brook delay and ordered the parties to appear in court at 2 o'clock p. m. and take up the matter.

Winchell on Stand.

Mr. Winchell took the stand for the Butte & Boston and testified as to the necessity for the work and explained to the court its object and scope. He explained from a map that the Butte & Boston company desired to run certain levels and raises that they might trace the veins in the property and incidentally reach the west end line of the Michael Devitt, where the M. O. P. company had been extracting the ore in dispute.

He explained the reasons why it was necessary to enter from the east, owing to the dynamic outrages of the Heinze men in closing all entrances from the Rarus, Johnstown and Mountain View mines.

Mr. Winchell explained that he proposed to show that certain veins claimed by Heinze apexed in Butte & Boston ground, not in either the Johnstown or Rarus. He was asked by Judge McHatton why he did not sink winzes from the present workings, and explained that it was more economical to raise than sink.

It is a Habit of Theirs.

"Is it not a fact to your knowledge that the Montana Ore Purchasing company claims a large portion of the ground embraced in the Pennsylvania south of the Rarus?" asked Mr. McHatton.

"I know it claims pretty much all of the ground south of the Rarus; in fact, they have a habit of claiming everything in sight," replied the witness.

"We are not asking you what the newspapers say," remarked Judge McHatton. "They seem to be our best friends," replied Mr. Forbis, counsel for the Butte & Boston.

Judge McHatton: "When did you first discover workings in the ground you wish to explore?"

Mr. Winchell: "In 1899."

"Do you know of any work being done in the Michael Devitt?"

"I have good reasons to believe there is work going on there now."

"Have you seen any workings in under the surface of the Michael Devitt claim?"

Blood Diseases

Bad Blood Blood Poison

There is no human disease, hereditary or contracted, that requires prompt or more heroic treatment than specific or contagious poison in the blood.

Hot spring baths, specific remedies, potash, mercury and other mineral mixtures and poisons may either boil out or drive in the external symptoms for a time, but they can no more eradicate the mercies, killing, all-consuming taint than the fabled fountain of Ponce de Leon produced perpetual youth.

There is no better evidence of a bad condition of the blood and unhealthy state of the system than a sore that won't heal, or a festering, discharging ulcer or abscess. There are many ways by which the blood may become contaminated and poisoned. The excessive use of mercury in certain diseases, inactive kidneys and torpid liver, exposure and lack of nourishing food, weaken the constitution and cause the system to become congested with impurities which are taken up by the blood, and wherever the flesh is bruised or scratched a festering sore or discharging ulcer begins. A boil or blister, pimple or burn often develops into a frightful looking sore because of the unhealthy condition of the blood, and the place will continue to grow and spread, finally reaching the bones and causing them to decay unless the blood is purged and purified and the system thoroughly cleansed of all morbid and unhealthy accumulations. This cannot be done with washes, salves and soaps, which only afford temporary relief. The only way to get rid of these disgusting evidences of impure blood is to remove the cause.

Devitt and dug holes in the filling that blocked it.

"Is it necessary that the entire claim should be opened up to ascertain what you wish to know?"

"It is necessary that it should be pretty well opened up. We do not blast and blow up workings until we are through with them. Sometimes we have an order from the court to make inspections and then do not inspect."

Mr. McHatton realized that Mr. Winchell had reference to the dynamiting of the Rarus and other entrances to the Devitt by Heinze and dropped this line of questioning immediately.

In the questions that followed, Judge McHatton was evidently seeking information.

"What are you going to show?" he asked.

"I am not telling you what we are going to show. I have a theory, yes; but I am not revealing it to you," replied Mr. Winchell.

"I want to know what your theory is," demanded Mr. McHatton.

The question was objected to and the objection sustained by the court.

That is a Point. "I will ask you if the ore has been stopeled out along the west end line of the Michael Devitt?" continued McHatton.

"I fear it has," replied the witness. "That is just what we are afraid of. I do not know how many tons of ore would be extracted in doing the work. If any ore is removed we will arrange to store it. There is no possible way of making an estimate. In some places the vein is only a foot wide. No, it is not our object to get in there and take out ore. We want to find out how much ore you have taken out of the mine."

This concluded the testimony, and the judge said one of the clauses in the petition called for work in the Pennsylvania, but that Mr. Winchell could get permission from the Boston & Montana to do work there.

No Trouble There. Mr. Forbis said he would have no trouble in getting permission from the Boston & Montana, adding that the Butte & Boston company would guarantee the safety of the ore extracted in doing the work in the Michael Devitt. He expressed the belief that if the ore extracted became burdensome it could be treated in the Butte & Boston smelter and the Montana Ore Purchasing smelter, and the proceeds deposited with the court pending the final determination of the case.

"If an order permitting this work is made," said Mr. McHatton, "we ask that representatives of the M. O. P. company be permitted to inspect it from time to time and sample the ore."

Mr. Forbis assured him that he would receive better treatment in endeavoring to inspect the Butte & Boston's work than had been accorded the latter company under the order of the court, and stated that the M. O. P. company could have access to the workings of the Butte & Boston company mines any time they desire to pay them a visit.

The order granting the right to do the work required was signed today.
